FRANCE CHEERS NEW ACCORD AS WAR ALLIANCE

Britain Guarantees Nation's Security.

The British cabinet last night approved a plan drawn up by representatives of the "Big Four" Locarno powers, which provides for a conference of world nations to draft economic, disarmament, and security plans. This plan also provides that Germany, in the meantime, would agree not to fortify the Rhineland and, pending a new agreement with Germany, Britain would guarantee France's security.

Foreign Minister Flandin of France at a secret session of the cabinet in Paris told his colleagues late last night the plan amounts to a military defensive alliance with Britain for an indefinite period.

Germany, Flandin said, is certain to reject the plan, which would insure lengthy negotiations during which Britain must guarantee France against attack.

AIM FOR NEW PEACE SETUP

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—The British government tonight formally accepted a plan designed to liquidate the Rhineland conflict and to put Europe on an entirely new peace basis. The result was telephoned immediately to Pierre-Etienne Flandin, French foreign minister, in Paris. The French cabinet, it is understood, reached a similar decision.

The governments of Belgium and Italy, the other two Locarno powers, were also considering ratification of the program tonight.

Tentative agreement on the plan was reached by the delegates of the four powers today as the league of nations council unanimously condemned Germany's march into the Rhineland as a violation of the Versailles and Locarno treaties. The censure vote followed a defense of the Nazi action by Joachim von Ribbentrop, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's special envoy here.

Calls for General Parley.

The plan worked out by the four powers calls for a general conference of European powers at the end of May. At this parley economic issues, limitation of armaments and general security proposals would be tackled as well as the cause of all the recent furore, the Nazi march into the Rhineland last March 7. Hitler's proposals would be among those discussed.

The objective of the conference, it is understood, would be to reach a new peace settlement which would replace the war-stained treaties of Versailles and Locarno and wipe out some of the menacing national hatreds generated by those pacts.

Under League Auspices.

The parley would be held under the auspices of the league of nations, and any new peace or security treaties would, presumably, rest on the framework of the league covenant. The place of assembly is yet to be selected.

The United States, Japan, and other nonleague states, it was indicated, may be invited to participate in the conference. They would be asked to send representatives to sit in during the stages involving economic and disarmament questions, but for specifically European problems there would be a purely European inner conference. This idea was incorporated in the program on the personal suggestion of Ramsey MacDonald, lord president of the council.

France to Drop Demand.

France, under the four power program, will abandon her demand for the withdrawal of German troops from the Rhineland on condition that Germany agrees to submit the Franco-Russian mutual aid pact to the Court for International Justice at The Hague for a decision as to whether that treaty constituted a breach of the Locarno pact, as Hitler charges.

Under terms of the agreement Germany is asked to guarantee that no troops will be stationed nearer than 12 miles east of the French frontier

FAINTS IN COURT AFTER TELLING NEW ROMANCE

Cross-Examination Exposes Marriage.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Miss Margaret Mann's fight for the custody of Sonny Boy, 3 years old, whom she claims as her own son, was dramatically interrupted yesterday when she was forced to admit from the witness stand in court that she has been secretly married. The admission was brought from Miss Mann during a clash between the lawyers in the case. Immediately afterward, she burst into tears and fainted.

The husband's name was revealed to the court as Ray Alfred Fletcher, 33 years old, of 4438 North Racine avenue, a chromium plater. The marriage was performed last Saturday in Valparaiso, Ind., by Justice of the Peace Clarence D. Kitchell.

On Stand in Own Behalf.

Miss Mann had taken the stand late in the day in the Superior court of Judge Rudolph Desort as the last of a long line of witnesses who have supported her claim to Sonny Boy against that of Dr. Gordon Mordoff, Wilmette physician. Dr. Mordoff asserts Sonny Boy is his son, Gordon Mordoff III.—born in Minneapolis in 1932 to his late wife, Mrs. Madge Mordoff. Miss Mann maintains the child is Reginald Arthur Mann, born to her at St. Vincent's orphanage here in 1932. She has refused to name the father.

The girl began her direct testimony yesterday afternoon by explaining that she had boarded Sonny Boy with Mrs. Mordoff at $5 a week because her own mother refused to harbor a child born out of wedlock. The child has been at the Mordoff home continuously since then. Later, Miss Mann testified, she told Mrs. Mordoff that she was to be married in May, 1936, and wanted the baby before he passed his fourth birthday.

Work to Pay Board Told.

She worked as a maid to pay the $5 weekly board during the time Sonny Boy was at the Mordoff home, she added. Having completed this testimony under questioning of her attorney, Edwin A. Robson, Miss Mann faced Attorney Harry X. Cole, Dr. Mordoff's counsel, for cross-examination.

"You have testified that you wanted the baby before his fourth birthday," Attorney Cole began. "How did you arrive at that age?"

Tensing herself for a battle of wits Miss Mann replied a bit defiant. "I never had had a chance to care for

WOMAN LOSES FIGHT AGAINST NUDE PICTURE ON BARROOM'S WALL

Paterson, N. J., March 19.—[Special.]—The crusade of Mrs. William Burd, wife of a Methodist minister, to save the customers of Fred Nessen's saloon from the temptations of nudity ended today in defeat.

D. Frederick Burnett, New Jersey alcoholic beverage control commissioner, rejected her demand for removal of a painting of a nude woman from behind Nessen's bar. "There is no reason why places for the consumption of liquor should not be made comfortable and decorative," he declared.

Mrs. Burd is not a patron of Nessen's saloon, but as her husband's church is only a block away she has passed it often and, glancing through the window, has seen the painting.

She wrote to Burnett last month demanding removal of the painting as "obscene" and not conducive to "the good morals of young people and children passing by, to say nothing of men and women who frequent the place."

Burnett sent five representatives to view the painting and then wrote Mrs. Burd that as long as saloonkeepers were "decent, self-respecting, and obey the law there will be no interference with individual initiative in furnishings or appointments."

KILLS HIMSELF WHEN PAROLED SON ROBS AGAIN

Joseph Spinka, 73 years old, a former tailor, shot and killed himself yesterday in the attic of his home at 1510 South Kolin avenue.

His wife, Mary, who discovered the body, told the police that Spinka had been despondent since he learned on Wednesday that his son Emil, 29 years old, had been arrested by the New City police and identified as the perpetrator of ten robberies. Emil, who resides at 2809 Highland avenue, Berwyn, was paroled from Pontiac reformatory in 1934 after serving a term for robbery with a gun.

"When my husband heard that our boy would have to go back to prison," said Mrs. Spinka, "he wept. Emil had promised him almost daily that he would go straight. He couldn't stand to think of his going wrong again."

Jimmy Walker Gives Up Plan to Adopt Baby

James J. Walker, ex-mayor of New York, and his wife, the former Betty Compton of the stage, who had taken preliminary action in the Cook county court to adopt a baby girl from the Cradle home in Evanston, declared last night in New York that the "adoption is off." Walker had made strenuous efforts to keep the intended adoption secret. He said he changed his mind about going through with it because of "premature unwanted publicity."

"If the infant is to have a limelight life, then the adoption is off," Walker said. "The proceedings have been dropped. There will be no adoption. My wife and I might have found a great deal of happiness and made some contribution to society that can't be done under the present circumstances. The whole thing has been a shock to us.

Won't Have Child Exploited.

"It was our intention at the proper time and under the proper circumstances to announce the adoption here, when the child could be properly protected from any undesirable publicity. But to find the child, or to think of the child, being exploited is to Betty and myself not only repugnant but vulgar."

Later it was learned that the Cradle society also had advised the Walkers, in view of the publicity that had been given the matter, to discontinue their effort to carry through the adoption.

The preliminary adoption hearing was before Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, Ill., sitting in the Cook county court, but there was considerable mystery as to when it was held. The baby girl was born on Feb. 6 to an unwed mother, 15 years old, according to the court records.

Judge Challenges Legality.

The records showed that the adoption proceeding was filed Wednesday afternoon. The Walkers were in Chicago last week, staying at the Congress hotel, and were reported to have left last Friday for New York.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki declared that the adoption would have been void if the hearing were held before the petition was filed. Judge Isley said at first that he had no recollection of having heard the case this week, but when he was called in by Judge Jarecki, he said the hearing "must have been one of the two conducted Wednesday of this week."

As a result of the secrecy attending the hearing, and complaints that similar procedure has been followed in cases where other prominent persons adopted children, Judge Jarecki announced that in the future he will not allow country judges to hear adoption cases but will hear them himself.

Child Still at Cradle.

Officials at the Cradle indicated that the child is still there. According to the procedure usually followed by the Cradle, a formal adoption decree is not entered until the expiration of a "trial" period. The County court records show that signing of a decree in the Walker case had been set for March 30.

Mrs. Walker's name appeared on the records as Mrs. Violet Halling Walker. Betty Compton is her stage name. She married the former mayor at Cannes, France, on April 18, 1933. Walker had been divorced a month before by his first wife, Mrs. Janet Allen Walker.

SWALLOWS RETURN OFF SCHEDULE FIRST TIME IN 69 YEARS

San Juan Capistrano, Cal., March 19.—(AP)—The swallows fluttered in from the western sky to their San Juan Capistrano mission home today—for this is March 19—but their 69 year old record for punctuality was broken by the early arrival of several hundred.

Never before has a leap year made any difference, but last night three swarms flew in and nested in a walnut grove before moving on to the adobe walls of the old Spanish mission.

It was the first time, said Don Juan Aguillar, a mission guide, that the birds had not flown directly to the mission eaves.

As long as the oldest inhabitant can remember the swallows have left the mission on San Juan day, October 23, and returned on St. Joseph day, March 19.

200,000 FORCED FROM HOMES; 150 MILLION DAMAGE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Down four great rivers—the Ohio, Potomac, Susquehanna, and Connecticut—boiling flood waters raged last night to ravage new areas.

Behind the sweep of this "big four," and of other rivers now receding slowly, great sections of a dozen states—the industrial heart of the nation—were swamped.

Known deaths numbered 150, many probably are yet to be counted. Property damage amounted to at least 150 millions. The homeless were more than 200,000, by Red Cross calculation.

Pillaging, disease, food and water shortages, crippled communication lines and disrupted trafic facilities were the aftermaths of the disaster.

Looting was a particularly serious problem at Vandergrift, Pa., and at Springfield, Mass.

Disease was rife in many areas where residents were without shelter and water supplies were contaminated. Johnstown and Sunbury, Pa., faced epidemics, and stringent disinfectant measures were taken in Binghamton, N. Y.

THE OHIO RIVER.

Beautiful no longer—a dangerous torrent instead—the Ohio carried its crest from the industrial upper valley into the agricultural regions below. The river's worst stage since 1884 was due in Marietta before dawn, in Cincinnati by Sunday, eight feet above flood level. Residents along the Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky borders waited apprehensively.

Flood waters invaded Kentucky at Catlettsburg when the stream swelled out of its banks. Only a small area was flooded, but residents watched the encroaching flood anxiously and alarm was general as the river rose steadily. At Ashland, a few miles northwest, the river stage was 53.3 feet and was rising two-tenths of a foot an hour with a crest of 58 to 60 feet expected.

The river was convulsed by the waters that overflowed Pittsburgh with a death toll of forty-five and a property loss of some 25 million dollars, that inundated Wheeling, W. Va., taking 17 lives there and four elsewhere in the state.

THE POTOMAC RIVER.

A yellow Potomac flood battered at dikes which relief workers hastily threw up to protect government buildings and famous avenues.

In the valley which the crest had swept, at least four were dead, seven towns inundated and practically isolated, nearly all bridges washed away. More than 1,000 were homeless in Cumberland alone, second largest Maryland city.

THE SUSQUEHANNA RIVER.

The Susquehanna surge continued its smashing sweep south through the center of Pennsylvania after devastating many cities in its northern valley — Williamsport, Lock Haven, and Sunbury were particularly hard hit. At least 19 were dead along its course, 50,000 homeless, and water, food, light, and heat supplies cut off. Williamsport was laid waste by fire and flood.

THE CONNECTICUT.

Hartford and other towns in Connecticut and southern Massachusetts began to feel the fury of the flooded Connecticut river, which had wreaked earlier devastation through Vermont and New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts.

The river was at 32 feet in Hartford and still was rising. The city was threatened with the worst deluge in its history. Utilities were crippled and parts of the city were in darkness. At least one man was drowned. Hundreds of families were homeless, and the damage was estimated unofficially in excess of 5 million dollars.

The Dead by States

New York, March 19.—(AP)—At least 150 persons were known to be dead today in 12 states and the District of Columbia as a result of floods and storms.

The dead by states late tonight:

Pennsylvania	104	New York	1

New Hampshire	1	Maine	2

Wheeling, W. Va., March 19.—(AP)—This flood beleaguered city tonight watched the raging Ohio river slowly recede from its destructive crest after taking a toll of 17 lives and causing great property damage.

Thousands marooned in office buildings and flooded homes hoped the end of the devastating inundation was near.

The river reached a peak of 55 feet—far above flood stage of 36 feet—at 8 o'clock tonight, and an hour later dropped to 54.5.

Six Persons Rescued.

Rescuers continued answering appeals to remove marooned families. Six persons were saved by a police squad after their rowboat overturned.

Relief headquarters in the courthouse was filled with bedraggled refugees, many of whom spent the night sleeping on the floors.

The flood crest moved rapidly toward the south. Rivermen expected cities on both the Ohio and West Virginia sides of the river to be flooded as it winds its turbulent way southward.

See Only Misery Below.

Below the hill tops, to which thousands fled for refuge from disaster, lay a spectacle of death, desolation, and misery.

Police Lieutenant J. E. Stanley, after a survey of the sections hurriedly evacuated, reported ten persons died trying to escape and four others were killed by an explosion in an inundated home.

Later, officers at nearby Wellsburg, famed West Virginia Gretna Green, reported three persons drowned there by a sudden surge of the water that flooded parts of the town.

Spreading devastation for miles in a score of communities on both the Ohio and Pennsylvania sides, the Ohio soared up Market street, Wheeling's main thoroughfare, and submerged it under 15 feet of water.

Water Up to Ceilings.

Business places were under water up to the first floor ceilings. Hundreds were marooned in the structures.

The most serious situation arose at the little island in the middle of the broad Ohio, where most of the 10,000 inhabitants were trapped in their homes by the water. Houses were ripped from their foundations, tumbling pell mell downstream. Observers reported two of them carried two men clinging to the roof tops.

Rescuers estimated at the emergency headquarters that approximately 6,000 persons had been taken from Wheeling Island, which is part of the city of Wheeling and situated about a half mile from each shore.

Have Food; Can't Cook.

Officials said there was no actual food shortage, but there was inability to cook it. Bread and other foodstuffs were being sent to the city from nearby Washington, Pa.

The vast sea of inundation spread to Bellaire, Martins Ferry, Bridgeport, and Shadyside, on the Ohio side of the river, which were in darkness.

At Wellsburg, in West Virginia, a 55 foot flood stage swept into the community, which is scarcely four blocks in width and lies along the bank of the Ohio.

Residents along the Ohio, West

Virginia, and Kentucky borders southwest from Marietta, O., to Portsmouth, O., fearfully watched rising waters that swept out of the western Alleghenies.

Marietta, all of its downtown business houses boarded up and protected by fence wire, looked for 46 to 48 feet of water, which would send 4 to 5 feet churning through the main streets.

Expect Nearly 68 Foot Stage.

Cincinnati, O., March 19. — (AP) — Rushing flood waters from the upper valley sent the Ohio river rising rapidly today until early tonight the stream was within six feet of flood stage of 52 feet. United States engineers predicted the river at Cincinnati would remain slightly below the 1933 stage of 63.6 feet.

EPIDEMICS RISE

Harrisburg, Pa., March 19.—(AP)—The danger of disease thrust its way into the desolate scene of flood smashed eastern central Pennsylvania tonight as medical resources were poured into stricken zones and the commonwealth asked federal aid to fight off sickness.

Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, state health secretary, officially pleaded with the United States public health service for immediate personnel and supplies to prevent the disease on the heels of waters which have taken at least 19 lives in the area.

The first refugees from hitherto-isolated Sunbury, brought to Shamokin by special train, told of several cases of scarlet fever and measles.

The Flood Picture.

Fifty thousand homeless.

Property damage in the millions.

Whole towns isolated.

Water, food, light, and heat supplies cut off in many areas.

While the flood waters receded in the Pittsburgh-Johnstown sector to the west, and along the northeastern run of the Delaware river, the Susquehanna and Juniata continued their smashing sweep.

Three Areas Hard Hit.

Three main areas were affected, including scores of cities, towns, and villages. Their general condition tonight was:

Wilkes-Barre and the northeast corner of the state, 12,000 homeless; food and water shortage threatened, no light in a large portion of the city, all gas shut off after poisonous fumes poured from broken mains, Wyoming valley anthracite region flooded to 11 or 12 feet in spots, appeals for more boats in fear some of marooned may be drowned before help can get to them.

North Central Pennsylvania—First word of a "terrible picture of desolation" at Williamsport, isolated completely from the outside world for more than 24 hours; fire burned down half a dozen buildings there; hunger and misery; streets all over city buried by water.

Military Take Over Town.

Fire at Lock Haven destroyed a century old church; military and police taking control of the town; 200 persons marooned in a schoolhouse in need of food; deep in water.

Renova—Broadcasts for food and medical supplies; airplanes to drop them from parachutes; landing impossible.

Water still rising in the Bloomsburg-Danville sector; two hundred families preparing to move into the second story of their homes and 100 others fled. Half of Danville reported flooded and Catawissa similarly affected.

Capital Under Water.

In south central Pennsylvania, the river on a mad rush in the capital city area. Residences along fashionable Front street, factories and workers' homes downtown, all inundated; National Guardsmen patroled the streets; city steam plant shut down and the water pumping station forced to cease operations; gas company preparing to shut off its supply. At Amity Hall, a few miles to the north, all but three homes for a stretch of two and a half miles were washed out and 60 families made homeless.

The Juniata caught three men at Lewistown, northwest of Harrisburg and carried them to their deaths.

In the Huntington area the same stream left 2,000 or more homeless.

The upper reaches of the Delaware river were receding after reaching their highest levels in years, but southward, in Philadelphia, a steady rain began falling at nightfall, and a foot rise was predicted.

BLAME STORM FOUR DAYS AGO FOR BIG FLOODS OVER EAST

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—The extremely heavy precipitation of rain and snow by a storm which formed over Alabama on March 16 and gradually proceeded northeast until its center was over New York City today, is the principal reason for the almost simultaneous outbreak of severe floods in a dozen states, Dr. James H. Kimball, chief of the weather bureau here, said today.

The situation also has been complicated by the long, hard winter, which froze the ground in many areas to a considerable depth, Dr. Kimball explained, with the result that it has failed to absorb as large a share of the precipitation as usual. Consequently the rain and melting snow have run off into the streams and rivers at a faster rate than normal.

Precipitation had almost ceased today in the flooded areas of Pennsylvania, the Ohio valley, and the southeast, he said, but it was still continuing in New England and probably would last through the night and possibly through tomorrow, thus aiding the Connecticut river valley.

The low pressure area which has caused the trouble has a diameter of more than 500 miles, Dr. Kimball said.

SHOOTS TAVERN OWNER; SEIZED AFTER A CHASE

Henry Mangrum, 40 years old, colored, an ex-convict, was arrested early today by a Pekin Inn police squad, which chased him as he fled from a tavern at 326 East 31st street after shooting and severely wounding the owner, Gus Vitogianes, 45 years old, 3115 South Michigan avenue. Witnesses told the police Mangrum made no effort to rob the tavern and fired at the proprietor of the place without any apparent reason. As he ran east on 31st street with a pistol in his hand Policemen James Micus, Raymond Lamb, and Robert Lambert ordered him to halt. In reply he fired several shots at them and the policemen returned the fire. They cornered him in an ally behind 3115 Giles avenue. At the police station Mangrum said he shot Vitogianes because he "didn't like his looks." The victim, wounded in the chest, was taken to Michael Reese hospital.

CANADIANS FLEE HOMES AS FLOOD SWEEPS INTO CITY

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., March 19.—(AP)—Rising waters of the Yamaska river today sent hundreds of St. Hyacinthe families from their homes seeking shelter as floods swept over the lower section of the city. Factories were closed when electricity was turned off and police patroled the city in rowboats.

Three miles of river above St. Hyacinthe were blocked by ice, and it was feared that bridges near here would be washed away if the blockade gave. The Hyacinthe-Montreal highway was closed to trafic due to flood conditions in the St. Damase region. Since last night 20 automobiles had been marooned near St. Damase. Their occupants were rescued in rowboats.

Train service from Montreal to the United States was disrupted because of flood waters.

Ontario City Flooded.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 19.—(AP)—Flood waters rushed through Belleville streets today in a repetition of the Moira river floods that caused $100,000 damage in this city of 14,000 persons last Thursday. The water was 2½ feet deep in the streets.

River Spans Collapse.

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 19.—(AP)—Seven spans of an eight span Canadian National Railways bridge across the St. John river between Fredericton and South Devon, N. B., collapsed tonight under the pressure of thousands of tons of ice hurled against the structure by the rapidly rising waters of the river.

CHICAGO GETS SNOW ON EVE OF SPRINGTIME

Spring, figured by the astronomical tables, will arrive in Chicago at 1:58 p. m. today. Temperatures, according to the official forecast, will be like those of yesterday, with a maximum in the neighborhood of 40. Tomorrow, it is expected, will be warmer. Snow fell in the city last evening, but the temperature remained just at the freezing point, and most of the flakes melted as they fell. It was indicated that skies today and tomorrow will be generally fair.

FLOOD MENACE IN NEW ENGLAND RAISED BY RAIN

Eight More Lives Lost; Food Is Scarce.

Boston, Mass., March 19.—(AP)—New England's greatest flood swept relentlessly seaward tonight leaving in its wake a constantly mounting toll of life and property damage.

There were 19 known dead, including 11 who perished at the onset of the disaster last week. At Hatfield, Mass., one of the hardest hit communities, belief was expressed that many more were missing.

Estimated property damage ranged as high as $50,000,000.

Thousands were homeless in the six states. Other thousands lived precariously in second stories of their water swept homes, with food supplies and milk becoming scarce.

Troops Patrol Streets.

National Guard companies patroled the streets of more than a score of communities.

A quick glance over the six states showed these focal points:

Hatfield, Mass., and nearby communities—Swamped by the still rising Connecticut river.

Hartford, Conn.—Hundreds homeless; trolley service gone and telephone service threatened; Connecticut river at a record level of more than 31 feet.

Springfield, Mass.—Five thousand estimated homeless; half of the city's industries operating.

Power and Gas Gone.

Concord, N. H.—Electric power gone; gas company reports only two hours' supply left and no immediate prospect of resumption; 15 feet of water going over the power dam at Sewell's falls in the Merrimack river.

Near Westmoreland, N. H., the raging Connecticut river isolated in the Cheshire county farm tonight 200 inmates, some dangerously insane. Other prisoners and poor persons also are housed there.

The Legionnaires who sped to the farm in trucks laden with boats decided to postpone temporarily evacuation of the inmates.

Maine—Numerous manufacturing plants along river fronts closed; thousands out of work; two major bridges over Androscoggin closed as huge field ice flows down stream; many western Maine towns isolated, nine without light or power; water supplies of Saco, Cornish and Pittsfield inoperative.

Lawrence-Lowell, Mass. area on the Merrimack river—Situation reported worse. The Lawrence dam was reported at a new all time high with a reading of 44.20 feet.

NEW YORK

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Four thousand were temporarily homeless today and many cities partly inundated as New York's swollen streams began slowly to recede. The state's death toll was two.

At Binghamton, where the situation was most serious, the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers had fallen slightly, but the city of 80,000 was faced with a drinking water shortage.

Many hotels and restaurants were serving milk and beer instead of water, and hospitals were using water from private wells.

Troy, Green Island, Watervliet, and other Hudson valley cities were partly inundated, but the river was receding.

Prepare for New Flood.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 19.—(AP)—Central New York prepared tonight for a rush of water and floods expected to sweep down through the Finger lakes watershed tomorrow.

The water reached a dangerous level tonight and was still rising.

Streets in the northern section of Syracuse became flooded from Onondaga lake today.

RULES SAY LET TRAFIC PASS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C.—Business as usual was the watchword of the bridge tender at the 14th street drawbridge leading to Alexandria, Va. It was his duty to see that trafic moved uninterrupted. According to amazed early risers, he performed his duty with a blind devotion. Two bungalows came floating down the river, and as they approached the bridge, the tender threw the switch and opened the draw. The bungalows moved without delay on down the river.

Port Jervis, N. Y.—Bill Marvin, hermit who lives on a knoll in the Delaware river, refused to move. Neither would his four dogs or two cows. A crew of firemen, a policeman, and a state trooper rowed to the island, shot his dogs, warded off the ax the hermit brandished, handcuffed him, rowed him ashore, and locked him in the city jail. The cows were coaxed to swim to safety.

Webster, Mass. — An embankment over which New Haven railroad trains ran was dynamited last week to release waters of the Maanexit river which threatened to inundate homes. The railroad rebuilt it. Now the embankment has been again dynamited for the same reason.

Oneonta, N. Y.—Two black bears were turned loose when the Susquehanna flooded the Oneonta zoo. Park officials said they believed the animals would reach shore safely and head for the woods. The river was carrying them rapidly downstream when they were last seen.

New York—The Broadway limited of the Pennsylvania railroad, bound for New York from Chicago, was switched to New York Central tracks at Cleveland because of washouts. The train, therefore, wound up in the wrong station here. Instead of ending its journey at Pennsylvania station, it arrived at Grand Central station.

Hatfield, Mass.—State police in motor boats, aided by giant flood lights, completed the rescue of 150 men, women, and children marooned for twenty-four hours in a town hall surrounded by the raging, flood-swollen Connecticut river. They had fled to the comparative safety of the town hall last night.

Warren, N. H. — Albert Busky, swept into Baker river with his father, spent the night in the crotch of a tree on a small island. The fate of his father was unknown.

East Harford, Conn.—Outraged because boat owners were charging excessive fees to transport marooned families from their homes the council chartered six large boats and moved the stranded people free of charge.

Blairsville, Pa.—The flood moved a wooded tract from a hillside to a highway. An avalanche, approximately an acre in area, with 20 or 30 trees remaining upright, blocked the Penn Run road near Clymer.

Burlington, N. J.—Seven hundred pupils were removed from the Junior High school by firemen after the building was suddenly surrounded by flood waters.

Pittsburgh, Pa. — An unplanned transfer of $39,000,000 in securities was made as a result of the flood. The securities were moved from the quarters of the Federal Home Loan bank to the Federal Reserve bank, which is on higher ground.

Washington, D. C.—Two rivermen in a 15 foot skiff rescued Mrs. Eva Dell Myers, 50, marooned all night atop a building in the Potomac flood after naval and coast guard crews had abandoned hope of saving her.

Harrisburg, Pa. — Eight persons were rescued from the roof of a house almost submerged in the Susquehanna river, where their frantic signaling with bed clothing attracted the attention of aviators.

HUNGER STALKS IN FLOOD'S WAKE AT PITTSBURGH

Battle Disease and Dark; Put Toll at 45.

BULLETIN.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 20 [Friday]. —Flood deaths in this steel metropolis mounted suddenly to 45 tonight as thousands of workers, worried by threats of disease and water shortage, began cleaning up debris laden streets and buildings.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 19.—[Special.]—A toll of 32 known dead and 43 missing and believed to have perished was counted in the metropolitan area of Pittsburgh tonight as the battered steel city fought new disasters of hunger and disease which followed in the wake of its worst flood in history.

Stories and evidence of tragedy greeted rescuers on every hand. Hospitals were filled with the injured, sick and dying. The Red Cross was caring for at least 50,000 persons.

No organized move was being made to search out and remove bodies, efforts rather being directed to the enormous task of rescuing, feeding, and clothing the living. Thousands were marooned in their homes without food or water.

Find Twelve More Dead.

Early in the evening officials of the county morgue said they had just received word that the bodies of 12 more dead had been found. Seven were discovered in the hard hit Sharpsburg and Etna district and the others in the "bottoms" of suburban McKees Rocks. Nine were reported drowned in the latter suburb during the horror filled hours of last night.

Eighty coast guardsmen started out in motorboats late this afternoon from the downtown district to search the north side section for marooned persons. It was said that many of these isolated were suffering from pneumonia, exposure, and injuries. The sailors and 1,000 National Guardsmen had charge of rescue work.

Grave fears were expressed for the safety of residents of New Kensington, a lowland town east of the city, from which no word has been heard since the flood waters began swirling over the district. Twenty thousand were reported driven from their homes at Tarentum in the same area.

Another Night of Darkness.

Another night of darkness was in prospect for most of the city's 700,000 dwellers.

Food supplies were dwindling rapidly and many sections were without drinking water, except that which had been stored in bathtubs and emergency containers.

Trainloads of foodstuffs were being rushed to the city from both east and west. One hundred carloads of produce waited outside the city to come in tomorrow but much more was needed.

Profiteers were reaping a harvest and in several sections near riots occurred over high prices. Many stores closed because their food supply was exhausted. Warehouses were emptied in many sections.

Special policemen were sworn in to augment the overworked force of regular officers and National Guardsmen who were on duty to halt reported looting and quell threatened food riots.

Vaccines and serums of many kinds were being brought here by plane to halt the spread of disease.

Water Slowly Dropping.

The sullen waters, which had risen to a depth of more than 20 feet in some parts of the downtown section, were slowly receding.

Reports of death and suffering, especially in the suburbs, poured in constantly. Seven persons were found burned to death in the blackened ruins of a row of eleven frame dwellings in Etna when receding waters permitted rescuers to enter the district tonight. Six of the victims were children.

Thousands of women and children spent a terrifying night in the north boroughs and Chartiers valley. A woman gave birth to a baby as she and 500 refugees huddled in St. Anne's church in Sharpsburg.

With the recession of waters tonight, a new source of trouble for authorities appeared. Thousands of refugees, driven from their homes by the flood, were trying to return to their own property for shelter, but officials said their buildings had been weakened and were too dangerous for occupancy.

National Guardsmen, aided by WPA workers and police, were compelled to use force to keep throngs of property owners back of the established flood lines.

5,000 Start Cleaning Up.

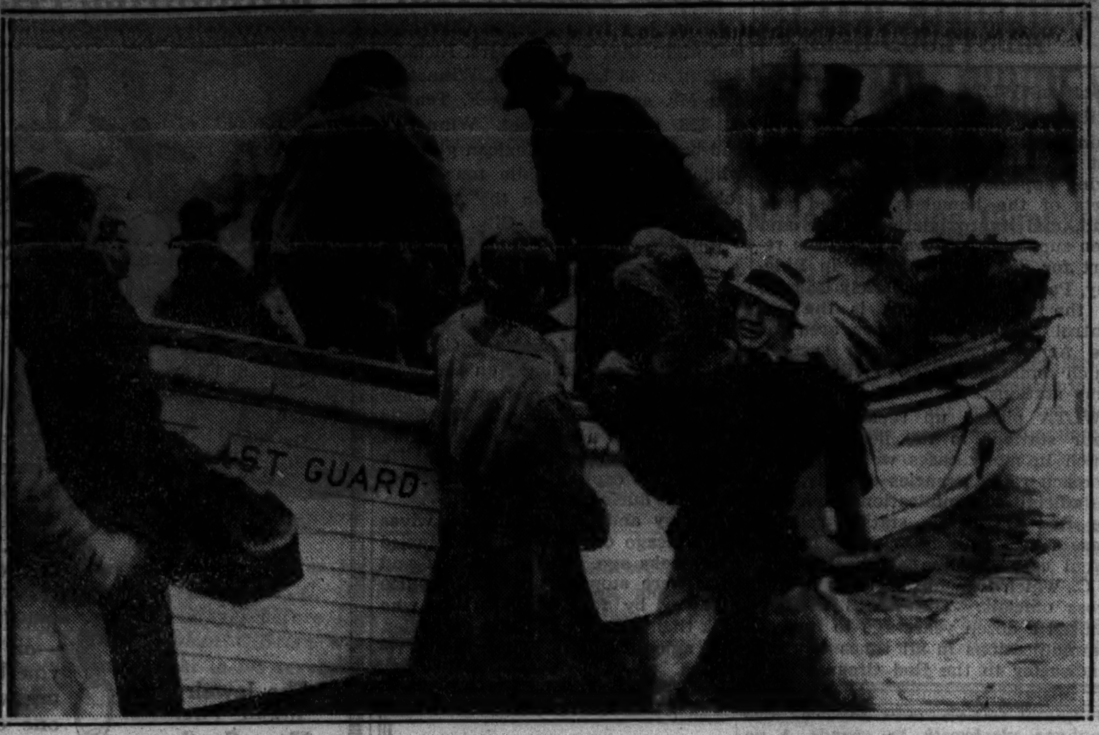
Five thousand workmen entered the downtown district shortly after 6 p.m. and began clearing away the débris and making preparations for the resumption of normal activities there. It was said that some of the stores and office buildings may reopen tomorrow.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park tonight ordered all liquor dispensers to cease the sale of intoxicants after 5:30 p. m. each day in the metropolitan area. However, liquor was being doled out by rescue workers in the flood area to the injured and those found cold or sick.

A stubborn and spectacular fire burned all night and this morning in lower West Carson street below the Liberty bridge. Starting in the tanks of the Richfield Gasoline company, it spread to a garage of the Yellow Cab company, licked the Panhandle bridge of the Pennsylvania railroad, and threatened the entire warehouse section along the Monongahela river.

Other fires of major proportions left a heavy smoke pall over the city that caused a premature darkness and gave terrified residents the impression they were sandwiched between disaster both above and below them.

RESCUED BY U. S. COAST GUARD DETACHMENT



Taken from her flooded home in Kingston, suburb of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., yesterday by the crew of a coast guard boat, this woman is being carried to safety during the flood. Similar scenes were enacted throughout the day in many parts of Pennsylvania as U. S. coast guardsmen went about their work.

STRICKEN JOHNSTOWN

Johnstown, Pa., March 19.—(AP)—Prostrated by the worst flood since the disaster of 1889, the city of Johnstown tonight was a scene of despair, hunger, and suffering as relief workers started clearing away débris and wreckage that filled streets and buildings.

As the bedraggled refugees struggled back to their flood wrecked homes after a sleepless night in emergency shelters, army officials estimated the death toll at from 7 to 16. There were five identified.

The suffering city, still without normal lighting service and with heating systems badly crippled, was cheered by the arrival of a few truckloads of food, but hundreds had nothing to eat but dry bread, and sickness was spreading rapidly.

Snowstorm Adds to Ills.

The heating situation became acute as a snowstorm struck the city, accompanied by falling temperatures.

National Guardsmen, state police, and local officers patroled the muddy streets to prevent looting and vandalism as the city continued under martial law.

The Conemaugh river, which poured 16 feet of water over a square mile of the city's business and residential area Tuesday night, was well back in its channel.

A dance pavilion high on Westmont hill above the city became a cheerless makeshift hospital for 653 sick and destitute refugees, including 253 children.

Three babies were born there.

BOGAN REPORTED RESTING QUIETLY; GAINS STRENGTH

William J. Bogan, superintendent of Chicago public schools, who has been ill since Jan. 30, was reported resting quietly yesterday in his home at 741 Gordon terrace. His daughter Katherine, who arrived home from Wellesley college on Wednesday, said he appeared to be "a little stronger." Mr. Bogan is ill from heart trouble which developed after a nine day siege of hiccoughs following an intestinal disorder.

CAPITAL FIGHTS TO STEM FLOOD FROM POTOMAC

Workers Construct Dikes Against River.

BULLETIN.

Richmond, Va., March 19.—(AP)—The steel Westham bridge, an important span over the James river just above Richmond, was carried away by flood waters tonight.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—Potomac river flood waters slowly ebbed away from the national capital tonight, after touching the foot of an emergency dike erected to protect government buildings.

The crest of the flood which rolled down from the highlands to the west brought an 18.5 foot stage where the Potomac reaches tidewater level in the southwestern part of the capital.

Officials reported no damage to important government buildings. River front buildings, however, were subjected to a soaking and a battering by débris.

Spectators Watch River.

Hundreds of Washingtonians, including many government employés permitted to go to their cross-river homes while bridges remained open, tarried to watch the raging river and the protective operations.

The water swept in a silt filled tide over the tidal basin, washing at the roots of the Japanese cherry trees, whose blossoms attract thousands each spring. Park officials feared if the water reached the branches, this year's blossom crop would be ruined.

The long dike of 100,000 sandbags piled from the Washington monument grounds, between the river and the Navy and Munitions buildings, to the low area near Constitution avenue and 21st street, barred the water from encroaching on government structures.

Airport Under Water.

As a second line of defense, sandbags also were piled around low entrances to the new Archives building and other government structures to save stored documents from damage.

Washington airport was under water and all plane trafic was transferred to Baltimore. The naval flying field at Anacostia and Bolling field, the army airport adjoining it, also were flooded. All planes were removed yesterday.

At least four were dead as the swollen river swept through the narrow, mountain lined valley of Maryland-Virginia-West Virginia toward the capital.

At Keyser, W. Va., an elderly man was swept to his death by a landslide. Two bodies were sighted near Washington. A previous death occurred at Cumberland.

Flood Perils Richmond.

Richmond, Va., March 19.—(AP)—The state capital moved hurriedly tonight to protect itself from the swirling waters of the James river, rising toward the highest mark in decades.

Many riverside plants in Richmond were closed, or had suspended operations early today as the crest of the flood moved seaward, leaving damaged highways and flooded towns and cities in its wake.

Winter contributed to the havoc. Snow drifts reaching depths of 10 feet in the western sections, which were melting today under a warm sun, added new threats of high waters.

Army Speeds Relief.

Baltimore, Md, March 19.—(AP)—All available third corps area resources were marshaled today by the army to carry relief to flood stricken regions in Pennsylvania.

Maj. Gen. A. J. Bowley, corps commander, acted in response to a request from Gov. George H. Earle for cots, blankets, and other supplies for flood victims in the Wilkes-Barre, Johnstown, and Pittsburgh areas.

All available army supplies and equipment, Bowley informed the army chief of staf in Washington, were placed at the disposal of local authorities for establishment of a hospital station at Johnstown.

Depots were set up at Chambersburg, Williamsport, Jersey Shore, Loch Haven, Dubois, Renovo, Westport, Johnstown, and Sunbury to aid the distressed in these districts.

WHERE FLOODS ARE AND WHERE THEY'LL BE IN FEW HOURS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

OHIO VALLEY—Crest of worst flood since 1884 passes Wheeling, W. Va.; due at Marietta, O., by dawn and Cincinnati by Sunday. Flood waters are periling residents in Kentucky.

VIRGINIA—James river rises to highest mark in decades; Richmond takes precautions. Potomac river crest at Washington.

NEW YORK—Rush of water expected to sweep down Finger lakes watershed Friday; central New York prepares.

NEW ENGLAND—Floods from Green and White mountains and Berkshires flow down to tidal sections in Connecticut and Rhode Island; Maine similarly affected.

ROOSEVELT ASKS 3 MILLION FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Calls on Nation to Give Red Cross Funds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today called on the nation to dig 3 million dollars out of its pocket for the American Red Cross to aid victims of the disastrous flood devastation in eastern states.

The appeal was made in a proclamation released as Mr. Roosevelt at a White House meeting mobilized federal agencies to give relief in the stricken area. The President postponed his departure on his annual fishing cruise to hold the meeting and give his attention to the flood disaster. He may depart tomorrow for his Florida cruise.

After the meeting he drove along the swollen banks of the Potomac and watched the construction of dikes to stem the flood.

Asks 3 Million Dollars.

In his proclamation Mr. Roosevelt said: "Flood waters raging in eleven states have driven 200,000 people from their homes, with every indication that this number may be materially increased within the next 24 hours. In this grave emergency the homeless are turning to our great national relief agency, the American Red Cross, for food, clothing, shelter, and medical care.

"To enable the Red Cross to meet this immediate obligation and to continue to carry the burden of caring for these unfortunate men, women, and children until their homes are restored and they can return to normal living conditions, it is necessary that a minimum relief fund of 3 million dollars be raised as promptly as possible.

"As President of the United States and as president of the American Red Cross, I am therefore urging our people to contribute promptly and most generously so that sufficient funds may be available for the relief of these thousands of your homeless fellow citizens.

Guffey Seeks 10 Millions.

"I am confident that in the face of this great need your response will be as immediate and generous as has always been the case when the Red Cross has acted as your agent in the relief of human suffering."

Soon after the proclamation was issued Senator Joseph F. Guffey [Dem., Pa.] introduced a resolution authorizing the President to transfer 10 million dollars from relief funds to aid flood sufferers in Pennsylvania. A similar resolution by Senator James J. Davis [Rep., Pa.] asked 5 million dollars. The Red Cross would administer the funds.

The senate commerce committee at a special meeting discussed revival of last session's 600 million dollar flood control authorization bill which Senator Tydings [Dem., Md.] blocked by a filibuster.

Decide to Halve Fund.

The committee decided this fund should be cut in half, and called upon the war department to help work out a bill with a view to getting action at this session.

On the issuance of the proclamation Mr. Roosevelt called a special press conference which was attended by members of his special flood committee. Secretary of War Dern, acting Secretary of the Navy Rear Admiral Andrews, secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, WPA Director Hopkins, CCC Director Fechner, and Rear Admiral Grayson, Red Cross head.

Reads Flood Reports.

At the conference the President read the latest reports from the flood area to Maj. Edward M. Markham, chief of army engineers. At the same time he said the need for clothing, food, housing, medicine, and other relief of sufferers is mounting.

The President defined the tasks of the coöperating agencies. The Red Cross is to provide relief, the CCC is to do rescue and patrol work pending the arrival of militia, relief workers are restoring light, water, and gas, and clearing débris, as well as building dikes, and other agencies, including the army, navy, and health service, are coöperating.

As the Red Cross mobilized to relieve victims in the flood areas, Admiral Grayson added his voice to the President's appeal for 3 million dollars.

"The Red Cross must provide the 200,000 sufferers with food, shelter, and medicine," Grayson said. "In this great emergency we are appealing to the people of America to give generously to the relief fund."

Warn Settlers to Leave N. Dakota Bottom Lands

Mandan, N. D., March 19.—(AP)—Settlers in the bottom lands of the Missouri river valley north and south of here were warned by the federal weather bureau to move to higher ground as the stream, jammed by an ice gorge near Bismarck, began rising today.

ROOSEVELT CHARTERS SCHOONER; HOLIDAY AT SEA IS INDICATED

Fair Haven, N. J., March 19.—[Special.—Evidence that President Roosevelt intends to take a New England yachting holiday this summer was seen today when it was learned he has chartered the schooner Sewanna stored at the Casey boatbuilding yards in Fair Haven. His three sons, James, Franklin Jr., and John inspected the boat here on Washington's birthday.

George Brodeur of the Casey company received orders to fit the yacht for launching before June 1. The Sewanna is owned by Harrison Tweed of New York. Built five years ago in Maine, she is a husky yacht of 57 feet with broad decks and a spacious steering cockpit. Below decks she is roomy, with a large double stateroom.

Three years ago President Roosevelt sailed from Marion, Mass., on the schooner Amberjack for a New England holiday.

USE FOUR LINES TO TAKE TRAIN INTO NEW YORK

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—The Rainbow, fast Pennsylvania railroad train from Chicago, arrived at the Pennsylvania station today nearly twenty-four hours late.

Because of flood waters it had to use tracks of four other railroads from Crestline, O., to Jersey City. From Jersey City into New York it traveled Pennsylvania rails again.

The thirty-five passengers, wan and bedraggled, told of spending fourteen hours traveling a few miles near Sayre, Pa. First the train was ordered to proceed. Then it was ordered to back up. The train remained overnight and passengers who remained aboard awoke to find water starting to flow in the corridors.

Mrs. Robert Crueginton, a sprightly middle aged woman from Morris, Ill., found herself in New York instead of Harrisburg, Pa., where she was bound. Ordinarily the Rainbow would have landed her in Harrisburg in short order.

"When is the next train to Harrisburg?" she asked officials of the Pennsylvania station.

"There is none, madam," a uniformed agent told her.

"Well, this is a fine to-do," said the passenger. "Here I am in New York City and I want to be in Harrisburg. We've been everywhere but Harrisburg."

TARDY ARRIVALS FROM FLOOD ZONE DELAY EUROPA

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—After waiting for passengers coming to New York through the flooded areas of Pennsylvania, the North German Lloyd liner Europa steamed out to sea early today in a heavy fog that had delayed the departure of the Cunard-White Star liner Berengaria for hours past her sailing time.

Officials of the North German Lloyd received 26 telegrams asking that the ship be held until the arrival of trains delayed by the floods in Pennsylvania.

One message, from a man on board the Pennsylvania railroad's Pittsburgher, re-routed through Utica, asked that the Europa be held until 3 a. m. At 2 a. m., two hours past sailing time, the liner pulled away from her pier and started down the harbor. Also scheduled to sail at midnight, the Berengaria was held four hours.

MOBILIZE RESCUE FORCES HERE FOR FLOOD ZONE DUTY

Red Cross Asks City for $225,000 Fund.

The Red Cross asked Chicago for $225,000 yesterday as the city's share of a $3,000,000 relief fund. James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter of the organization, said the money would be used to aid 38,000 families now under the care of the Red Cross.

The contributions should be in money rather than materials, Nicholson urged, since demoralized transportation facilities hinder effective distribution of relief goods.

Coast Guardsmen on Way.

Meanwhile, Capt. LeRoy Reinburg, coat guard commander in the Chicago area, dispatched two squadrons of men and motor powered lifeboats to the Ohio valley. One detachment of ten boats and forty men was drawn from the coast guard stations on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, and a second squadron of five boats and twenty men was assembled from Chicago stations.

Chicago aided the flooded region in another fashion as the Commonwealth Edison company released 40,000 kilowatts of its power demand on the State Line Generating company's plants at the Illinois-Indiana border. This action permitted the forwarding of power eastward to the area where many generating plants have been disabled.

Increase Plane Service.

Major airlines pressed extra planes into service to carry passengers and supplies to the east. The United Air-lines reported that one of their planes, carrying 1,400 pounds of rubber boots, reached Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon. Another plane was rushed out of Cleveland carrying 1,000 pounds of supplies, including serum, and six Cleveland physicians.

Transcontinental Western Air officials reported that spare equipment from Kansas City and the west coast is now being used to provide a shuttle service between New York and Pittsburgh. At the latter city a temporary radio station was set up after power failure caused the breakdown of the regular Pittsburgh port radio.

Trains Arrive Late.

With passenger trains from the east arriving many hours late, and all communication lines crippled, THE TRIBUNE office was besieged yesterday with telephone calls from relatives and friends of persons in the flood areas.

Among the Chicagoans stranded in Pittsburgh were seven young women, members of a dancing troupe, who have not been heard from since Wednesday morning. Members of the troupe are Ruth Dunham, La Verne Johnson, Eleanor Morgan, Babe Manus, Laura Hirschauer, Mildred Hockert, and Carmel Navigato.

NATIONAL GUARD RADIO STATION HERE AIDS FLOOD RELIEF

Station WLTA of the 124th field artillery, Illinois National Guard, remained on the air again throughout last night handling flood trafic—relaying appeals for food and help, reports of the homeless, injured and dead, and approximate damage and even supplying a news association report for a daily newspaper in Ridgway, Pa., which is completely isolated by the waters. WLTA is the net control in the sixth corps area for the Army Amateur Radio system, which embraces 2,000 civilian and army stations.

WLTA picked up reports of amateur stations in the flood regions, which in many cases were not able to reach relief agencies directly. As an official communications link for the Red Cross the station relayed these calls for aid to WLM, the army signal corpe station at Washington, D. C., which transmitted them to Red Cross officials. The AARS was organized a dozen years ago to furnish communications in all times of need or disaster to the Red Cross.

MEXICAN BANDITS ROB 2 WINNETKA COUPLES ON TRIP

Dispatches from Mexico City said last night that Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Bull of 43 Locust road, Winnetka, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Tenney of 193 Chestnut street, Winnetka, had been robbed by Mexican gunmen while on an automobile tour. The robbery took place on the Acapulco highway near Mexico City.

Bull is president of Bradner Smith & Co., paper concern at 333 South Des Plaines street. He served as a major during the war and in 1916 was a member of Battery C, First Field artillery, stationed on the Mexican border. Tenney is an attorney with offices at 120 South La Salle street. He is a former president of the Winnetka village board. He served as a captain in the 332d Field artillery during the war.

Tenney and Bull and their wives left Chicago on their trip to Mexico two weeks ago. The dispatches said they were stopped on the Acapulco highway by four armed men, who took their money and other valuables. The amount of the loot was not reported.

MR. EGAN BREAKS SILENCE TO BARE HIS FAMILY WOES

Wife Bald, but He'll Be with His Fighter.

The policy of "silence is golden" was adopted by Al J. Egan, 34 years old, when he was arrested Tuesday after federal agents and police received a rumor he was combining a line of machine guns with his regular business of managing prize fighters.

Yesterday it was disclosed that Egan's reticence was not based on a feeling of guilt about the machine guns. It was due to the odd coincidence that all the hair is off the head of Mrs. Al J. Egan.

He confessed as much, and the explanation was so satisfactory that Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan ordered his release so he could fly to Duluth, Minn., and wave a towel over Jack Kranz, the only fighter in his stable, during Kranz's battle tonight with another ham and egger heavy, John Erjavec.

Decides He'll Keep Silent.

When first seized Egan declared—and it now seems he was truthful—that he didn't know what he was in for. But he resolutely declined to tell anything about his affairs or even to give the police his home address.

Chief Sullivan, after letting him cool off for 24 hours, called him into conference Wednesday evening.

"We have information," the chief said, "that you bought two machine guns for $600. We're going to keep you in until we find your house and search it."

"Who told you I was dealing in machine guns?" demanded the prisoner.

"Somebody called the department of justice anonymously and reported you," replied the chief.

Fears for His Fighter.

"It is a plot to ruin me," cried Manager Egan. "Somebody is trying to steal my boy Kranz away from me. If I don't get to Duluth to handle him he'll think I am a double crosser and get another manager. I'll tell you, chief, I live at 856 Sheridan road, with my wife and two kids."

Two policemen took him, manacled, to the house. There they met Billy Egan, 11 years old, and John Egan, 7. No machine guns were found.

"Tell the nice policemen," commanded the father, "what happened to your mother."

Trouble in the Family.

Billy Egan took the center of the floor.

"Mamma," he said, "went away with $65 of daddy's money. That made him mad, so he went out and found her—he said she was in a tavern—and brought her home. He was so mad that he blacked her eye and then he got a pair of scissors and cut off all her hair, right down to the bone."

"There," said Manager Egan. "It's all explained. "I didn't want to tell where I lived because I was afraid I'd be kept in jail for making her baldheaded."

The manager was scheduled to be at the ringside tonight in Duluth. Mrs. Egan was at home. She is now the reticent one.

"We ain't living together any more," was her only comment.

So saying, she dived into a closet and put a close fitting turban over her extremely short hair.

15 OZ. BABY BORN IN STREET LOSES BATTLE FOR LIFE

East St. Louis, Ill., March 19.—A 15 ounce baby girl, born three months prematurely as its mother lay injured in the street after being hit by a truck, lost its brief battle for life tonight.

The tiny infant, cotton-swathed in a hospital incubator, died less than 24 hours after the mother, Mrs. May Womack, 39, was injured.

Oxygen was administered by hospital physicians in a futile attempt to keep the baby alive. It was fed every hour with water, its only nourishment, from a medicine dropper.

FOUR IN ROBBER GANG TO PRISON; GIRL GETS STAY

Four holdup men, one of whom had been on probation as an automobile thief since Nov. 20, were sentenced to the penitentiary yesterday by Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle in Criminal court.

The four were charged, with Miss Irene Urias, their alleged lure, with holding up several taxicab drivers. Joseph Smith, 27 years old, and Walter Hefferman, 21 years old, got one to twenty years for robbery; John Urias, brother of Irene, and Edward Hartley, both 21 years old, got one to ten years for larceny. Charges against the girl were continued until April 2.

John Urias won probation from Judge Normoyle on the automobile theft charge last November by declaring he had never been involved in any other crimes. When he was implicated in the holdups by his captured companions Judge Normoyle revoked his probation and sentenced him.

FINED $200 ON GIRLS' CHARGE.

Lawrence Calossi, 17 years old, 4045 West 14th street, Cicero, charged with annoying a 12 year old girl in a theater, was fined $200 yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude of the Boys court.

SUE'S 'A GREAT HELP TO JIMMY—AND THE POLICE!

Mrs. Sue Smith, 33 years old, called the Irving Park police from a tavern at 4958 West North avenue yesterday and announced that she wanted to make a confession as soon as a policeman could get around to the place. Sergt. Joseph Mueller called at the tavern.

"My conscience is hurting me," said Mrs. Smith. "There is a man named James Sowitch under arrest downtown for beating a hotel bill. I am just as guilty as Jimmy. He is my sweetheart and I have been living with him in hotels ever since I ran away from my husband in Des Moines, Ia. We never paid our board bill after we spent the money—about $1,500—that I took away from home. I can't bear to see Jimmy taking all the punishment."

Sergt. Mueller arrested Mrs. Smith, who said she was a professional piano player when she could work. It was discovered that Sowitch is held at the detective bureau. Until Mrs. Smith made her confession the police had only one complaint of board jumping, made by the Hotel Sherman, against him. Now there are several.

IT'S ONE FIGHT AFTER ANOTHER FOR MR. O'BRIEN

Nose Punching Climaxes Hearing on Brawl.

Lawrence C. O'Brien, former state representative from the Twenty-ninth district and aspirant again for the same place, has certain pet aversions. Among these are Ald. Dorsey Crowe of the Forty-second ward, State Senator William J. Connors, the Forty-second ward Democratic committeeman [once the Hon. O'Brien called them a pair of "fat balonies"], and policemen who arrest him.

Mr. O'Brien let it be known yesterday that he was irritated with all of them again—or yet. He gave vent to some of his anger in the Chicago avenue court, where he was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct after Lieut. Walter McGloon arrested him in a tavern at 820 North Clark street. This tavern is known as the Kentucky club and O'Brien is said to have an interest in it.

Broken Leg, Too.

The police pushed into the place and began arresting right and left early Wednesday morning, after there had been a fight during which somebody broke the leg of Charles Bowman, 30 years old, 1666 South Honore street. It was not alleged that former Representative O'Brien had a hand in the leg breaking—a couple of other fellows had attended to that—but just the same he had to endure six hours in a cell at the Chicago avenue station.

"There's the man who did that to me," shouted the candidate in court, pointing to Lieut. McGloon. "Look at him."

Everybody, including Judge Jay Schiller, gazed at the lieutenant, who looked normal, with a "Bundesen for governor" button in his lapel.

"He didn't even know how to book me," continued O'Brien. "He was drunk when he arrested me. He wouldn't even let me call my wife."

Bas Chimes In.

At this point Attorney Marvin J. Bas, the defendant politician's counsel, entered the fray.

"This is terrible," he said. "Everybody knows the police can't take decent citizens and hold them incommunicado all night."

The evidence that they not only could but did seemed indisputable, regardless of Mr. Bas, and O'Brien continued:

"McGloon admitted he didn't know what he could arrest me for. He said he'd find a charge all right. He said he'd put me in the basement and let me rot."

Judge Schiller called for order and asked how it was that Bowman suffered his broken leg.

"The police department broke his leg," screamed O'Brien.

Maybe He'll Tell.

In view of this charge it was decided to continue the hearing until April 7, in the hope that Bowman will be ready then to tell the true story of how it happened.

Candidate O'Brien, leaving the courtroom, which is in the police station, met a man whom he recognizer as an enemy. This person was unofficially identified as John Lydon, a lieutenant of Ward Committeeman Connors.

"You stay out of my joint," commanded the voluble O'Brien, "or I'll poke your nose."

There are two versions of what happened after that. One is that Lydon poked the O'Brien nose at once. The other is that Lydon poked the O'Brien nose. Any way you look at it, a nose was poked.

Lieut. McGloon asserted after the court hearing that he arrested O'Brien because the latter objected to his questioning of witnesses to the fight in the Kentucky club.

"He said I wasn't going to talk to anybody," McGloon said, "and that if I'd take off my star and gun he would heave me out the door. That's why I took him in."

Emperor Haile Selassie Leads Troops in Battle

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, March 19.—(AP)—A desperate battle was reported in progress today near Amba Alaji, on the northern front. Emperor Haile Selassie, it was said, was personally directing a series of Ethiopian counter attacks against Italian columns whose objective was Lake Ashangi. The losses on both sides were said to be heavy.

BERNARD LETS HIS CONSCIENCE BE HIS GUIDE

Bernard Wilson, 19 years old, 1131 Ainslie street, turned robber yesterday because he needed $4 to pay his room rent.

Carrying a toy pistol, he went into a candy store at 4554 North Clark street and compelled the clerk, Miss Callie Borah of 711 Waveland avenue, to hand over the cash in the register.

Reaching home, Wilson discovered Miss Borah had given up $8. It hurt his conscience when he realized he had taken twice as much as he needed, and he decided to give the store a 50 per cent rebate. So he went back and gave the clerk the extra $4.

"I'm the man who held you up," he remarked.

Miss Borah said he looked somewhat different.

"That's because I am doing a good deed," declared Wilson.

While they were talking about the robbery and the Wilson conscience, two policemen entered and took Wilson into custody.

SECRET WEDDING OF SONNY BOY'S MOTHER BARED

Miss Mann Faints After Expose in Court.

the child, and I wanted to while he was still a baby."

Q.—Your mother is willing for you to have the baby now? A.—Yes.

Q.—Are you working? A.—No.

Q.—Where are you living? A.—With my brother in Highland Park.

Q.—Do you visit friends and stay away from home occasionally? A.—Yes.

She was asked who they were, and appealingly asked the court if she must answer. On hearing that she must she said they were a Mr. and Mrs. Missing. She said she spent "about five nights" there.

"And whom do you sleep with when there?" asked Attorney Cole in a loud voice.

"Mrs. Missing," said Miss Mann, scornfully.

Clashes with Questioner.

Q.—And where does Mr. Missing sleep? A.—With a man who lives these.

At this, Attorney Cole quivered with excitement, and he asked with apparent satisfaction: "And what is his name?"

"I object to that," Miss Mann said excitedly, borrowing a legal phrase she had heard the lawyers use frequently.

"You object to it?" Attorney Cole repeated, nettled.

Attorney Robson here stepped forward, flushing.

"The man there is the man she is going to marry," he declared. "He's willing to come into court. I know detectives have been trailing him, and I know Attorney Cole has a subpena out for him."

Produces Marriage License.

Attorney Cole [dramatically]: Your honor will be interested in knowing the life this lady has been leading.

Attorney Robson [shouting indignantly at the implication]: Why, she's married to this man right now.

Attorney Cole: Yet five minutes ago she said she was single.

Attorney Robson: Why throw mud?

Attorney Cole: [to the witness] Are you married?

Miss Mann—Yes.

Judge Desort: Where is the license?

Robson triumphantly flipped it from his brief case, handed it to Miss Mann, who handed it to Judge Desort. Then, asked her husband's name, she fainted.

Call Adopted Daughter Today.

"I move we adjourn," shouted Attorney Cole, flushed with his success in cornering the witness. Judge Desort immediately ordered adjournment until 11 o'clock this morning.

An important witness in today's session is expected to be Mary Margaret Mordoff, 17 year old adopted daughter of Dr. Mordoff, who sat behind her foster father weeping bitterly through much of the hearing yesterday. Back of her sat Gordon Jr., 21 years old. Attorney Benjamin Davis of Socrates & Davis, who is acting as friend of the court in the hearing, said he would call the girl as a court's witness today.

Attorney Davis had been retained by the late Mrs. Mordoff, whose separate maintenance action against the doctor was pending in Judge Desort's court at the time, several weeks ago, when Miss Mann caused Dr. Mordoff's arrest on a charge of kidnaping. A short time later [Feb. 10] Mrs. Mordoff died. The kidnaping charge enabled Judge Desort to declare Sonny Boy a ward of the court.

During most of yesterday's hearing, the child, a brown haired, violet eyed boy, sat on the doctor's lap and played happily.

Marriage of Miss Mann Revealed at "Sonny Boy" Hearing

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

That Miss Mann's previous romance did not involve her present husband was indicated earlier yesterday afternoon by another witness, Mrs. Mortimer Chambers, 605 Hinman avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Chambers, testifying for Miss Mann, said that she worked for her as a maid for $6 or $7 a week from September, 1932, until May, 1933, during which time Mrs. Mordoff and the baby frequently visited her in the Evanston address, Mrs. Mordoff alluding to the baby as "Margaret's."

Under cross-examination Mrs. Chambers revealed that Margaret quit work in May, 1933, expecting to be married and live in Florida. Attorney Cole's questions and her answers follow:

Q.—Did she go to Florida? A.—No.

Q.—Do you know the name of the man to whom she was engaged? A.—Yes; a Mr. Brown. I do not know his first name.

Mrs. Chambers was followed to the stand by Sergt. John of the Wilmette police department, who testified that on the morning of Jan. 29, 1933, he had heard Mrs. Mordoff tell her husband that "the baby" was not his, but was Margaret's.

He was called to the Mordoff home that morning, the policeman said, and found the physician and his wife in an altercation over a sick baby.

"Mrs. Mordoff told the doctor the nurse was going to take the baby to the hospital," he said under questioning by Miss Mann's attorney, Edwin A. Robson. "The doctor said, 'she can't. That's my baby and I won't allow it.' Then Mrs. Mordoff said: 'You can't stop her. The baby doesn't belong to you, he belongs to Margaret. Our baby is down home.'"

Q.—Did she explain what she meant by 'down home?' A.—No, sir.

Q.—Continue to tell what happened.

A.—Then a young woman came in, and Mrs. Mordoff said, "O, Margaret, the baby's sick." And she, Margaret, said, "O, my baby." I said, "Is that your baby?" and she said, "Yes, he's my baby."

The policeman then testified that Mrs. Mordoff went upstairs, and the doctor followed her. Before he had reached the top, Mrs. Mordoff called that she "wanted protection," Schafgen testified. He bounded up after the doctor, whom he found "twisting Mrs. Mordoff's arm."

The "LAMBS CLUB" $35

In famous "RAMBLER" CLOTH

Raglan topcoats, in general, are style favorites this Spring—and this one is outstanding for its popularity. It's a 3-button coat with an all-'round belt that ties. It has knife pleats down the back that give a smart swagger full-skirted effect. You'll like it—especially in 'Rambler' cloth. For this famous cloth will take the toughest kind of treatment and still come up smiling. You can roll up this topcoat, sit on it, stuff it into the rumble seat of your car and it will still step out with all the smartness Robert Surrey gave it originally. It gives amazing wear and is a record holder for value—$35

Other Spring Topcoats and Suits $30 to $65

This new DOBBS HAT is also a "top" style favorite for Spring

"RAINBOW MIXTURES" $7.50

These light shadow-soft blends of grey, green and brown are the smartest new note in hats you've seen in many a day. Another new Dobbs feature here is a light weight crown with a heavier brim—insuring complete comfort and lasting style. Fine quality and expert workmanship also help make this hat a front-rank value—$7.50

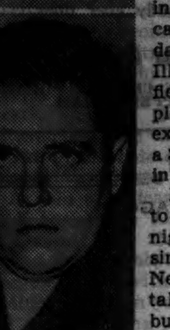
BANK EMBEZZLER CAPTURED AFTER FLIGHT BY PLANE

Wife, Unaware of Crime, Helps Police.

Kenneth Nelson, 25 years old, 8225 Ellis avenue, a teller at the Pullman Trust and Savings bank, was captured yesterday in Danville, Ill., where he had fled in an airplane after bank examiners found a $13,000 shortage in his accounts.



KENNETH NELSON.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Brought back to Chicago last night by the Kensington police, Nelson admitted taking the money, but declined to tell how he spent it. He denied betting on horse races or expenditures on liquor or women. In his pockets police found only $17.

Leaves on Plea of Illness.

The accused teller left the bank at noon Wednesday, pleading illness, and went to the Ashburn airport at 83d street and Cicero avenue, where an aviation club of which he is a member keeps its plane. Nelson owns a $200 share in the plane and four friends own the rest.

He flew to Danville, telling his wife, Bernice, that he would visit friends. Yesterday he sent her a telegram saying he had been delayed there by engine trouble. Mrs. Nelson, unaware of the charge against her husband, showed police his telegram when they questioned her, and the police asked Danville authorities to place him under arrest.

With Bank for Ten Years.

Paul E. Pearson, 11612 Parnell avenue, vice president of the bank, who signed a warrant against the teller, said Nelson had been employed at the bank for ten years, starting as an errand boy.

Today he will be arraigned in Felony court on a charge of embezzlement.

PROSECUTOR AIDS YANK JAILED AS LABATT KIDNAPER

LONDON, Ont., March 19.—(AP)—David Meisner today heard a man who prosecuted him at his first trial declare he is convinced the Covington, Ky., bookmaker is innocent of the kidnaping and robbing of John Labatt, London brewer.

A surprise defense witness on the fourth day of Meisner's second trial, Norman F. Newton, London crown attorney, testified he believed Meisner was convicted because he was mistaken for Michael McCardell, who later confessed the crime.

Newton acted as assistant prosecutor in Neisner's first trial and then crown counsel in the trials of John Bannon and Russell Knowles, both sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for their parts in the kidnaping of Labatt.

Newton said McCardell voluntarily waived extradition to return to Canada and stand trial for the crime. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 12 years imprisonment. The crown closed its case against Meisner.

DETROIT BANKER HELD AS AID IN $349,000 THEFT

$135,000 of Embezzled Funds Returned.

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—(AP)—City officials added $27,700 of street railway funds tonight to a shortage in city accounts already estimated at $349,000.

JAMES J. O'SHEA.

Charles N. Williams, assistant city treasurer, announced the new shortage after an audit of transportation department accounts. He said these accounts also were handled by Harry M. Tyler, assistant budget director, who shot himself a few hours after the first shortage involving trust accounts was uncovered.

Banker Is Arrested.

Announcement of the missing funds came while James J. O'Shea, vice president of the National bank of Detroit, and linked in a federal warant with Tyler in misapplication of the funds, was being taken to the federal detention farm at Milan to be held until his examination before a United States commissioner April 4. O'Shea was arrested by department of justice investigators today.

The formal charge against O'Shea is "misapplication of money, funds, and credits of the bank." He approved Tyler's forged checks.

O'Shea was fingerprinted and arraigned. He pleaded innocent. Bond was fixed at $40,000.

Returns $135,000.

O'Shea's arrest followed the surrender through his attorney of $135,000 in cash, stocks, and bonds taken from a safe deposit box which agents said "had been rented for O'Shea, but which was not held in his name."

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, in a statement at Washington cited that O'Shea had received a two year probationary term in a Michigan state court in 1923 on a plea of guilty to larceny by conversion, and a one year probationary sentence in the Federal court at Detroit in 1924 on his plea of guilty to using the mails to defraud.

DIVORCE GRANTED WIFE IN DISPUTED PATERNITY CASE

Mrs. Ada Wagner, 22 years old, 4716 Clarendon avenue, was granted a divorce on a charge of desertion yesterday from Hans Wagner, 26 years old, of Joplin, Mo., by Judge Roman E. Posanski of Calumet City, sitting in Circuit court here.

Dismissing Wagner's cross bill in which he charged his wife with infidelity and alleged he was not the father of her son, Robert, 6 months old, Judge Posanski held tacitly that Wagner was the father and he was ordered to pay $10 a week for support of his wife and the boy.

Blood tests taken at the city board of health to determine the boy's paternity were inconclusive, but the court said other tests made by private physicians showed Wagner might be the father.

KILLS SELF WITH SCISSORS.

Mrs. Gertrude Edbrooke, 55 years old, wife of William Edbrooke, a poultry farmer in Bensonville, died yesterday in the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park after she had slashed her wrists with a pair of scissors. She had been ill.

MRS. TEGTMEYER REFUSES TO AID LAWYER'S MOVE

Mrs. Daisy Tegtmeyer, 50 years old, who has spent the last two years in the county jail for contempt of court, said yesterday she would take no part in any move to release her by a subterfuge. She is being held by order of Judge Hugo Friend, who was sitting in Circuit court when she was sentenced because she refused to answer questions regarding an accounting suit over the estate of her father-in-law, Henry Tegtmeye of Des Moines, Ia.

Attorney William C. McGah, who several weeks ago unsuccessfully sought to free Mrs. Tegtmeyer on a writ of habeas corpus, no longer represents her, she said. He never was privileged, she added, to suggest that she be given a mental test by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman of the Criminal court behavior clinic.

"I am perfectly sane," Mrs. Tegtmeyer said. "I never authorized any person to suggest such an examination and I will not submit to it. I will not be a party to a release by a trick or methods not strictly in accord with the law. If necessary I will stay here until death."

Two Hurt as Plane Falls 30 Feet Near Mount Vernon

Mount Vernon, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Claude Roche, 36, and J. D. Racener, 25, of Evansville, Ind., were returning from St. Louis to Evansville late today when their plane crashed from a height of 30 feet near here. Roche's left leg was broken and Racener was slightly injured.

KICKS PACKAGE AT TAVERN DOOR, FINDS BIG BOMB

George Howell, 1128 North Leclaire avenue, an iceman, kicked a package he noticed yesterday in front of a tavern operated by Aaron Kessner at 1023 Madison street. Then, deciding it looked suspicious, he called police.

Detectives Frank Grady and Edward Winkels of the bomb squad took the package to headquarters and found it weighed 40 pounds and contained enough dynamite and gelatin to blow up several buildings. They said it had not exploded because it was poorly constructed.

Kessner told them he had had no trouble, but Capt. Patrick Collins of the Des Plaines street police said the tavernkeeper recently reduced the price of his whisky.

Widow and Sister Left $202,000 by A. R. Camp

The $202,000 estate of Arthur Royce Camp, executive of Farr & Co., real estate brokers, is to be divided equally between his widow, Mrs. Annie T. Camp, and his sister, Mrs. Grace E. Day, according to terms of his will filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of Probate court. Mr. Camp died on March 12 at his home, 1765 East 55th street. He was 62 years old.

DROPPED CARD TRAPS PAROLED CONVICT GANG

Notorious Robber Heads Holdup Band.

Because they dropped an automobile identification card while holding up a grocery, three members of a robber gang—two of them paroled convicts—were under arrest last night. The third prisoner, though he has no police record, has been identified in several of the numerous robberies attributed to the three.

Ben Straka, 43 years old, 5248 South Albany avenue, regarded as the leader of the gang, has a police record dating to 1907. His parole from a Pontiac cell in 1921, while serving a sentence for armed robbery, brought down a storm of criticism upon Gov. Len Small and Small's parole board. Straka's latest parole was on Nov. 28, 1934. It was granted by Gov. Horner's board while Straka was serving a sentence for assault to kill.

Second Parolee an Auto Thief.

The second paroled convict is Edward Dopkowski, 28 years old, 6113 South Lincoln street, who was released from the Joliet penitentiary on June 25, 1935. Sentenced March 18, 1932, he was serving a term of one to ten years for automobile theft. He has been sought for parole violation since last January.

William Straka, 34 years old, 1944 South Racine avenue, a step-brother of Ben, was identified as a third member of the band. His brother, Mike, 36 years old, employed as a chauffeur and who lives with Ben at the Albany avenue address, was being held for investigation.

The events of Wednesday night, when the three bandits started out in William Straka's car for a round of holdups, were told to the Austin police after the gang had been arrested early yesterday. Their first stop was at the grocery store of Bernard Brusin at 2604 Division street. They took $40 from the cash drawer.

The Fatal Bungle.

The robbers then entered the grocery of Otto C. Rahn at 5126 Division street and seized $110 in currency and several checks. It was here that their fatal bungle occurred, when Rahn asked that the checks be returned, as they were valuable to no one but himself.

All agreed under questioning that it was Dopkowski who returned the checks and in doing so dropped the automobile card which he was carrying. Leaving Rahn's store, the three robbed Mrs. Helen Binder in her grocery at 4504 Fullerton avenue, taking $18.

By this time Rahn had summoned the Austin police and had given the identification card to Detectives Robert Rinearson, Edward Campion, John Daly, Irwin Hayden, and Thomas Kenealy. They hurried to the Albany avenue address, listed on the card, and arrested Dopkowski and Ben Straka when they drove up. The police then went to William Straka's apartment and seized him. Four revolvers were found in the place.

Identified by Victims.

The three confessed and were identified by their victims of the night. Other victims of recent robberies will view them at a showup today. Detective bureau files revealed the records of Straka and Dopkowski.

Ben Straka's first arrest was in 1907 when he was sent to the John Worthy school for vagrancy. In 1911 he was arrested three times for burglary and each time was sentenced to 30 days in the Bridewell. In 1912 he was sent to the Bridewell again for larceny, this time for a year.

On Oct. 30, 1915, he was sent to Pontiac reformatory for burglary and was released in 1917. On April 29, 1918, he was again sent to Pontiac to serve a term of one to fourteen years for robbery with a gun. He was paroled by Gov. Small on April 25, 1921.

Straka was arrested the following July when he and two companions held up Alex Domurat and Miss Helen Goodnow at 57th street and Sacramento avenue and shot Domurat when he resisted. He was sentenced to serve a term of one year to life for his latest crime. The records show that he remained in Pontiac until he was paroled by Gov. Horner to Joseph Coppoletta, 5204 Wentworth avenue.

Dopkowski was sent to the Bridewell on three occasions, beginning in 1929, for automobile thefts. He was paroled to Joseph Nowicki, 205 West Wacker drive.

RICH RANCH OWNER ONE OF 46 INDICTED ON ALCOHOL CHARGES

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—[Special.]—Carl Sooner, millionaire operator of a 9,000 acre ranch which fronts the Pacific near San Luis Obispo, was arrested by federal men today. Another millionaire, Sherwood Johnston of San Francisco, was hunted on charges of conspiring to smuggle illegal alcohol in vast quantities into this country from Mexico. Sooner was one of eleven members of the so-called "ring" arrested today. The indictments names 46 persons.

In connection with the roundup the Mexican motorship Molokai was taken over by federal men at San Pedro harbor. Revenue men claim the smuggled alcohol was distilled in Los Mochis, near Mazatlan, Mex., and that more than a million gollons has been smuggled into United States, defrauding the government of more than $500,000.

MRS. M'CARTER ON DANGER LIST, PHYSICIANS SAY

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter was on the danger list at the medical center in Jersey City today, her condition very grave. Mrs. McCarter, who is wanted in California on a mayhem charge as the result of a sterilization operation performed on her daughter, took a turn for the worse late yesterday.

Dr. William M. Doody, her physician, said she was suffering from "general toxemia" and had a temperature of 104 degrees. Her condition remained unchanged through the night.

Mrs. McCarter has been in the hospital since last month, when she was admitted after taking an overdose of a sleeping preparation in a local hotel.

Hewitt Declares I. C. Must Move Gaming Boat Wreck

Oscar Hewitt, city commissioner of public works, said yesterday that the Illinois Central railroad must bear the responsibility and cost of removing the Showboat Sam, former gambling boat which burned and sank Feb. 19 at the railroad's dock east of the Michigan avenue bridge. Hewitt said that neither the city nor the war department is responsible for removing the wreck, because it was tied to a private dock and is no obstruction to river navigation.

STRICKEN ON WPA PROJECT.

Charles Goldberg, 49 years old, 7637 Balmoral avenue, died of a heart attack yesterday while he was working on a Works Priogress administration project at La Follette park, 1332 North Laramie avenue.

COURT UPHOLDS ORDER TO DEPORT 'WOMAN IN RED'

Dillinger Nemesis to Be Arrested Again.

The fight of Mrs. Anna Sage, the "woman in red" of the Dillinger case, to escape deportation as an undesirable alien suffered a major setback yesterday.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals handed down a decision upholding the dismissal by Federal Judge John P. Barnes of a writ of habeas corpus Mrs. Sage had sought as a means of preventing her return to her native Rumania, and affirmed the deportation order.

Claims Agreement with Purvis.

Throughout the proceedings Mrs. Sage, who was twice convicted in Indiana of operating disorderly houses, claimed that she had made agreements with Melvin Purvis, former head of the department of justice agents in Chicago, under which she was to be immune from deportation as a reward for her work in the Dillinger case. She lured the notorious outlaw on July 22, 1934, to the Biograph theater, 2435 Lincoln avenue, and he was slain by federal agents as he left the movie house.

Judge Barnes had held that this was not an issue and the appeal was based partly on that fact. An additional argument advanced before the Circuit Court of Appeals was that Mrs. Sage is the wife of an American citizen and therefore nondeportable.

In their opinion the three judges sitting in the case, Evan A. Evans, Charles G. Briggle and William H. Holly, squarely met the issue of the alleged promises of Purvis and his assistants.

"Nowhere is there any authority given to a public official to grant a favor to an alien who seeks privileges in the face of the statutes," they stated.

Especially was there no authority, the judges added, for granting immunity to the alien after an order based on the proved commission of a crime involving moral turpitude had been issued.

Mrs. Sage will be taken into custody again, it was said, and turned over to the federal authorities for deportation. At present she is at liberty on bonds. She may still carry an appeal to the United States Supreme court, however. Her attorney, Thomas J. Johnson Jr., said that it had not been determined whether this would be done.

GOV. HOFFMAN BACKS LANDON; WILL FILE FOR G. O. P. DELEGATE

Trenton, N. J., March 19.—(AP)—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman said today he would support Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas when he files as a candidate for delegate at large to the Republican national convention.

The governor said he understood there was an agreement among the four candidates for delegates at large, who were urged by the Republican state committee yesterday to enter the primary campaign, to file for Landon.

Praising the Kansan's fiscal policies, the governor said that what had been done in Kansas is evidence of what could be done in New Jersey through the broadening of the tax base. The governor has long advocated new taxes to relieve real estate, but has been balked by the legislature.

MAKES $83,000 IN 15 DAYS PLACING STRIKEBREAKERS

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—A net profit of $83,000 was made in fifteen days by the American Confidential Bureau, Incorporated, 605 Fifth avenue, furnishing men to break the building service strike, Leo G. Groom testified today in a suit for part of the profit. He demanded $6,300 on his own account, $12,450 on an assignment by John B. Barron and $1,400 on an assignment by Alexander Cohen. He was granted an attachment against the bureau's property.

During the strike the police seized eighteen men with police records in a loft run by the bureau. Charles W. Hansen, the president, said his business had been virtually taken over by gangsters. The men named in today's suit were not involved in those moves.

Groom said that before the strike he met with Mr. Hansen, Mr. Barron and Mr. Cohen and planned operations.

The bureau furnished 6,000 men, he said, receiving $4.50 for each strikebreaker, a total of $27,000, and provided 2,000 guards, receiving $2 a day each for fifteen days, a total of $60,000. The office expense was $4,000, Groom said, leaving the net profit at $83,000.

4 Suburbs Score in Move for Exchange of Transfers

A motion of the Chicago Surface Lines to dismiss the petition of four western suburbs for a system of interchangeable transfers was denied yesterday by the Illinois commerce commission. The petition was filed by the towns of Maywood, Cicero, Oak Park, and Berwyn and asked for interchange of transfers between the elevated and surface lines by passengers boarding the elevated outside the city limits of Chicago. The surface lines contended that the commission lacked jurisdiction in the case.

LOBBY WITNESS SPEAKS MIND ON BLACK QUIZZING

Defines Sucker List for "Polecat" Group.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—Senator Hugo L. Black, the terrifying inquisitor general of the senate lobby committee, today failed to terrify a witness who spoke his mind about lobbying and senators, games and rackets, suckers and Democrats. Instead, Senator Black himself was startled when the witness stood up and described his inquisitors as "a polecat committee."

J. A. Arnold of Chicago and Washington, head of the American Taxpayers' league, gave the senators a new definition of lobbying: "When you don't agree with a senator, you're lobbying; when you agree with him you are exercising your constitutional right of petition." Arnold otherwise entertained the spectators by defining a first class sucker list as "contributors to the Democratic campaign fund."

Demand Press Dispatches.

While the Black committee was thus engaged, his agents served two more subpenas upon the Western Union company, this time not only calling for the personal and private messages of publishers but press dispatches as well. The telegraph company is called upon to produce all telegrams and press dispatches of the Times Publishing company of Wichita Falls, Tex., and the Cowles Publishing company of Spokane, Wash.

The first subpena specifically names Edward Howard, president and manager of the Wichita Falls newspaper; B. D. Donnell, vice president and editor; Rhea Howard, secretary and treasurer, and J. H. Ellison, vice president. The second subpena seeks all the personal telegrams of W. H. Cowles, whose company publishes the Spokesman-Review and the Spokane Chronicle, as well as three farm journals.

City Power Plant Opposed.

The purpose of subpenaing the Cowles Publishing company's telegrams was not apparent, but it was learned that the Wichita Falls newspaper vigorously and successfully opposed a proposed PWA municipal power project. A referendum was held in February and the citizens rejected the proposal. Secretary Ickes sent his investigators down to the Texas city with a view of seeking a recount, but apparently nothing came of this effort.

Black made further attempts today to insinuate that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Jouett Shouse, president of the American Liberty league; Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson; Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury; the du Ponts, John J. Raskob, W. R. Hearst, and other opponents of the New Deal, all had sinister connections and were operating in a subversive way.

He showed a purported copy of a TRIBUNE editorial to Arnold, stating that it commended the objectives of the American Taxpayers' league and informed the readers where they could apply for membership. Arnold was asked whether he "arranged to have that printed."

Tells of $500 Contribution.

"I never heard of it," the witness replied. Later, when the witness said that Judson Stone of the "McCormick Estates" had contributed $500 to the league, Senator Sherman Minton [Dem., Ind.] asked whether that wasn't the same as THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

"There is no connection that I know of," Arnold said. When the witness said he obtained most of his names of prospective contributors from Poor's Manual, Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach [Dem., Wash.] asked whether that wasn't "just a sucker list."

Arnold leaped up, shaking his fist at the senators on the dais above him.

"This is a polecat committee," he declared.

Senator Black Flares Up.

Senator Black flared up, admonishing the witness to sit down and be calm.

"We won't have any more talk like that," he said. "If necessary we'll take you over before the senate."

Senator Ernest W. Gibson [Rep., Vt.] read an abstract from the report of the Caraway lobby investigating committee of 1930, saying that half a dozen organizations, including the American Taxpayer's league, were all "aliases" for J. A. Arnold, according to the report and collected $1,000,000 in four years.

"The fact is, you are back at your old game, aren't you?" asked Senator Gibson.

"It's no more of a game than running for the senate," Arnold shot back.

"You're collecting money from rich people and using it for lobbying," Senator Gibson remarked.

Schwellenbach Chimes In.

"In other words," Senator Schwellenbach put in, "the rich people are just as stupid as they were in 1929." Arnold stood up again at this point, adjusted his tortoise shell glasses, and declared:

"Now if you want stupidity, get somebody who contributes to the Democratic campaign fund."

When Senator Black asked whether a list of contributors found in Arnold's filing cabinet wasn't made up exclusively of New York Republicans, the witness replied: "I suppose so, but Democratic campaign contributors make the best sucker list."

"Mr. Mellon and Col. McCormick are not on the Democratic sucker list, are they?" sneered Senator Black.

"I have heard they were Republicans," Arnold said. "I believe Mr. Mellon was secretary of the treasury."

Women are Circularized.

It developed that a list of "wealthy women" had been circularized for funds by the league.

"Didn't you instruct your office force to go ahead and circularize these wealthy women," Black asked.

"Probably so. That's what they are there for."

"Who, the wealthy women?"

"Of course."

It was brought out that Arnold had wired a discouraged solicitor for the league in Florida who was downcast over his inability to obtain contributions at West Palm Beach:

"Keep digging; bound to reach pay dirt."

Hard Job, He Admits.

"It's a hard job," Arnold said. "A man gets discouraged and quits."

"There's been a lot of discouragement for your organization lately, hasn't there?" inquired Senator Minton.

"Oh, it's always that way."

"Enough discouragement to reduce your revenues from $200,000 to $45,000 a year?"

For once Arnold agreed with the committee. On the question of the league's results, however, he gave a glowing account, introduced with a statement that the government has "broke everybody."

"Have you stopped asking for money then?"

"We take money any time. You can join if you want to."

Senator Black did not appear to be interested in joining.

"Why did you stop your series of broadcasts? You went off the air because you couldn't get any more free time, didn't you?"

"Oh, no."

"Well, why, then?"

Makes U. S. "Tax Conscious."

"We were through. We had made the nation tax conscious."

However even with this objective reached, it appeared that Arnold was still in the market for contributions.

"Now we're organizing a stop-spending campaign," he said.

Black produced a telegram sent Thomas Cody, manager of Arnold's Chicago office, in which it was suggested an attempt be made to consolidate several Illinois groups "into a gigantic lobby for state and national purposes."

"Now that's just the sort of a telegram a new man would write," said Arnold. "You get a new man like that in there and he goes wild like a senate committee. No experienced man would write a telegram like that."

Denies Organization Lobbying.

Arnold denied that his organization engaged in lobbying, or ever approached a single member of congress. It conducted its campaign for economy in government and reduction of taxation, he said, by radio and printed material. He said the league sponsored 77 weekly radio broadcasts, concluding the campaign in July, 1933."

Black attempted to show a connection between the taxpayers' league and the Sentinels of the Republic, the Crusaders, the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution, the Liberty league, and other anti-New Deal organizations. Arnold, however, said the only time he ever met any representatives of these organizations was at a Constitution day celebration in Philadelphia in 1934.

"The American Legion wasn't represented, was it?" Black asked.

"Yes," Arnold replied. "The national commander—I believe his name was Hayes—was the chief speaker."

When the witness said the convention was held in the Racquet club Black made him repeat the name of the place, then laughed uproariously.

Black sought to make very much of the fact that Arnold said he called Bainbridge Colby on the telephone last night after he had received his summons. The witness said the call was of no importance, that he merely wanted to tell Mr. Colby: "I suppose they are going after you and Hearst and all of us."

"What did he say?" Black asked.

"He said, 'That's fine,'" Arnold replied.

1½ BILLION FOR RELIEF WOULD LAST TO MARCH IS HOPKINS' ESTIMATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins this afternoon estimated that the 1 billion 500 million dollar recommendation for continuance of relief in 1936-'37 in the President's relief message will last no longer than March, 1937, unless there is a sharp pickup in industrial employment.

If the government's present relief load of 3½ million persons is lightened by industrial reëmployment and the message request is augmented by 1 billion 600 million dollars of other funds, Hopkins said, the WPA will be carried safely through the next fiscal year. He declined to fix the number of persons who should be given private employment to carry the program through the next year.

Hopkins announced that on March 1 a total of 3,861,586 persons were at work under the 4 billion dollar fund. Of these 3,034,729 were in WPA, 455,650 in CCC, and 371,207 in other federal agencies. He has ordered a reduction in WPA rolls to 2 million 300 thousand by July 1. He revealed that WPA has obligated all of its funds and will need another 200 million dollars to keep financing its projects until July 1.

Former Law Student Here Jailed as Indiana Robber

John Kenney, 22 years old, of Joliet, was arrested yesterday at Frankfort, Ind., on a charge of holding up a gasoline filling station near Lafayette, Ind. Kenney was alleged to have taken $10 in the robbery. Kenney's home is at 519 West Marion street, Joliet. He is a graduate and former president of the alumni association of De La Salle High school in Joliet. He had attended classes at De Paul law school and Northwestern university.

PRESIDENT ASKS GEN. HAGOOD TO BOARD HIS TRAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will confer informally aboard his special train as he heads for his annual fishing cruise in Florida waters tomorrow with Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood on the latter's removal from command for criticism of the WPA before a congressional subcommittee.

The White House announced late this afternoon that the conference was arranged by Mr. Roosevelt as a result of "indirect expressions" to the President that such a conference would lead to a satisfactory solution of the incident which has embarrassed the administration.

The White House has been flooded with protests against the disciplinary action taken against Hagood describing his removal as a rank injustice.

Mr. Roosevelt was revealed as having instructed the war department to notify Maj. Gen. Hagood that he would be granted an interview. The war department notified Hagood during the week at his home in Charleston, S. C., to proceed to Atlanta to meet the President as he paused at Warm Springs, Ga., for a day on his way to Florida.

In postponing his departure for a day to mobilize federal agencies for flood relief Mr. Roosevelt cut the Warm Springs visit from his schedule and will go direct to Winter Park, Fla., where he is to receive an honorary degree at Rollins college Saturday. The change made a meeting with Hagood at Atlanta impossible. The war department instructed Hagood to meet the presidential special somewhere south of Richmond, Va., tomorrow.

4 POWERS AIM FOR NEW PEACE BASIS IN EUROPE

Plan Parley in May to End Present Setup.

and that no fortifications will be built in the rest of the Rhineland.

France also would receive new guarantees that the British, Italian, and Belgian general stafs would cooperate in giving military aid in the event of German aggression.

The plan is reported to provide for international policing of the Rhineland—probably by British and Italian troops—during the period of negotiations.

Two League Resolutions Included.

In addition the scheme includes two resolutions for submission to the league council, which will remain in session here next week.

The first resolution would place on record the reference of the Franco-soviet pact to The Hague tribunal. The second would be a strong reaffirmation by the council of its conviction of the sanctity of treaties.

Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, announced that a statement on the proposed plan would be made to the house of commons tomorrow. The text of the agreement, it is reported, was communicated to Von Ribbentrop late tonight and will be submitted to the league council Saturday if it is approved all around.

The document in question covers 12 pages with several addenda covering complete plans of all four powers.

The league council session to condemn Germany was a spectacular show with many of the leading personages of Europe's drama of the last two weeks on the stage. Crowds outside St. James's palace craned necks with most curiosity about the German delegates. Many jammed the rooms inside the palace and the openings to Queen Anne's drawing room where the meeting was held.

Germans present gave Von Ribbentrop the Nazi salute as he drove up with Ambassador Leopold von Hoesch and Hans-Heinrich Dieckhoff, Nazi foreign office expert.

First Appearance Since 1933.

It was Germany's first appearance before the league since she bolted that assembly in October, 1933, demanding equality.

Stanley Bruce, Australia's delegate and president of the council, welcomed Von Ribbentrop.

When Hitler's envoy, tall, pale, and handsome, entered the drawing room, he walked straight to Flandin and shook hands. He also greeted Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Londo, then went to his place. Maxim Litvinov, foreign commissar of soviet Russia, who was slouching in his chair slightly to the left of Eden, did not look around.

Von Ribbentrop's Speech.

Von Ribbentrop echoed Hitler's thesis that France, by allying herself with Russia, violated the Locarno pact first.

The Nazi delegate declared that Germany had been "forced to do what we did March 7" because of the threat offered by the Franco-soviet alliance, which aligned 275 million people against the reich.

"I am sure that every statesman here who loves his people like Hitler loves his would have done exactly the same," Von Ribbentrop said. "If a mighty power like France assumes the right to do as she pleases, it is only right that Germany can do the same in the interests of her people.

Desires Only Peace.

"We have only one wish—that is to walk in peace and friendship with all countries. We shall do all in our power toward that goal."

The envoy declared that if Germany had "known the true facts, she would not have signed the Locarno pact."

The German speech lasted 25 minutes. Afterward the session recessed until the afternoon to take a vote on the condemnation resolution.

After the members of the council had voted unanimously to condemn the Rhineland occupation, Von Ribbentrop said:

"If the council had had more time to consider my observations it doubtless would not have passed the resolution."

WORKERS OF FIFTEEN NATIONS CONDEMN GERMAN RHINE MARCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19. — Delegates from 15 countries representing 30,000,000 organized workers met in London simultaneously with the league of nations council today and unanimously condemned Germany's violation of the Locarno treaty by military occupation of the Rhineland.

The International Federation of Trade Unions and the Socialist [second] International and trade union secretariats of Europe were represented at the conference.

Sir Walter Citrine, president of the I. F. T. U., declared that world labor and trade unionism is united on such basic principles as collective peace and dislike of Fascist aggression. He urged organization of "the forces of peace" to "face the menace."

FRANCE CHEERS NEW ACCORD AS WAR ALLIANCE

British Guarantee to Aid Nation if Attacked.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 19.—Surrounded by the deepest secrecy, the French cabinet tonight devoted an extraordinary two and a half hour meeting to the four power Locarno plan designed to adjust the situation caused by Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland. The proposals adopted tentatively by representives of Great Britain, France, Belgium, and Italy were explained by Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin, who returned from London by airplane.

At the end of the meeting a laconic communique said the cabinet unanimously approved the stand taken by Flandin and Minister of State Joseph Paul-Boncour at London and congratulated them for their energetic defense of "the interests of France and peace."

Called Defensive Alliance.

It was learned that Flandin told the council of ministers that the agreement realizes the French hopes for a defensive military alliance to replace the treaty scrapped by Adolf Hitler.

On the other hand, it is now apparent that the application of sanctions against Germany is out of the question. Abandonment of the French demand for sanctions against Germany, Flandin explained, was a condition on which the British entered the new agreement. The value of the new accord for France lies precisely in the fact that Germany is virtually certain to reject it, the foreign secretary said. When that rejection happens, the British have no excuse for withholding full support, according to Flandin's argument.

A reliable semi-official source said the strengthened military alliance provided by the accord is in principle in force only during negotiations with Germany for a new peace setup. If there are no negotiations the alliance will last until the Locarno treaty shall have been overhauled into new form.

Sure of British Aid.

Hence, until a new Rhineland treaty is signed with France's full consent France is sure of British aid if she or Belgium is attacked by Germany. In other words, the military guarantee by the British continues indefinitly so long as France chooses not to agree to Germany's peace pact offers. It is further interpreted that it would leave France at full liberty to march to the aid of her eastern allies if they are attacked.

A reliable source also said that Flandin has won over Italy to participate in a military defense of France on condition that Paris would use her good offices to wipe out sanctions against Italy. The Rome government also was urged to adopt a more favorable attitude toward peace negotiations.

At the same time France is reconciled to the remilitarization of the Rhineland, since the Germans are sure to turn down the Locarno agreement and the league council is not capable of compelling Hitler to withdraw his troops.

GERMANS REJECT PLAN TO ADJUST TREATY BREAKING

Attack Scheme Adopted by Locarno Powers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 19.—"We reject today's statements of the league of nations council and of the other Locarno powers in London most emphatically, but we shall do everything in our power to continue the discussions and start negotiations on the peace proposals of Adolf Hitler," spokesmen of the reichsfuehrer and the foreign office said tonight.

Members of the German cabinet who were busy in the reichstag "election" campaign were summoned to return to Berlin at once.

The Germans declare they plan to formally reject the Locarno powers' proposal to submit the Franco-soviet military pact to The Hague court because it is a "political question," and not a judicial one. Hitler's spokesmen brand the proposal for a demilitarized zone as an "impossibility because it eternalizes discrimination against Germany."

The suggestion that the British general staf should guarantee French security is regarded as "knocking the last props out of the British rôle of guarantor of peace in Europe, especially as guarantor of peace between France and Germany."

Cries "We Stand by Hitler."

TRIER, Germany, March 19.—(AP)—Rudolf Hess, minister without portfolio, told 50,000 persons gathered in this Rhineland city today that neither threats nor promises from abroad could separate the German people from Adolf Hitler.

"For Hitler's way is Germany's way," Hess declared to the huge crowd, gathered in an immense tent.

As for the league of nations council's decision, calling Germany a violator of the Locarno and Versailles treaties, the minister declared "History will judge."

Germans are convinced, Hess said, that the French people want peace, but history shows that internal difficulties sometimes have tempted statesmen into foreign adventures, and in such cases the thrust comes against the border with the weakest defenses.

Praises Hitler's Action.

Protection for Germany's western frontier therefore is a vital necessity, Hitler's deputy asserted, and "it not only was Hitler's right but it was his duty" to send troops into the demilitarized Rhineland.

He declared Germany's will to defend herself "is the backbone of European peace," and sharply rejected accusations of violations of the Locarno treaty by Germany.

He asked of France, "Do you forget that even America characterized the Ruhr invasion as a violation of a treaty?"

[French troops entered the Ruhr section of Germany when Germany failed to meet her reparations payments. Reparations since have been dropped.]

SCHOOL SAFETY COUNCILS HEAR PLEA BY MAYOR

Mayor Kelly yesterday addressed 600 pupils, comprising the safety councils of six high schools, in a meeting of the Keep Chicago Safe committee in the city hall.

The mayor stressed the need of teamwork among young people interested in helping to build up the morale of the city. He said their cooperation in the drive to cut down the automobile accident toll was bound to bring results. The Lane, Lucy Flower, Roosevelt, Tilden, Steinmetz and Fenger High schools were represented.

At the meeting the mayor announced that Boy Patrol week will start on March 29. It will end April 7 in an evening program at the Chicago Stadium, where 15,000 patrol boys who safeguard intersections for school children, will be special guests.

AUTO INSURANCE FIRMS AGREE TO THEFT RATE CUT

State's Attorney Courtney announced yesterday that automobile insurance companies doing business in Cook county had agreed to a 15 per cent reduction in automobile theft insurance rates. Courtney's announcement followed his conference on Wednesday with a committee representing the insurance companies, in which the prosecutor pointed out the results of the vigorous campaign of his office and the police against auto thieves.

Hold Preview of 'Golgotha' at Opera House Today

Sponsors of the forthcoming exhibition of "Golgotha," the world's largest painting, will hold a preview this morning on the stage of the Civic Opera house. The picture will be unveiled for public view Sunday evening. The painting depicts the scene of the Crucifixion. The canvas measures 195x45 feet and is the work of the artist Jan Styka. It will be exhibited during the Easter season for the benefit of the child welfare fund of the Polish Welfare association.

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

STUDENT GUILTY OF TIPSY DRIVING; WINS PROBATION

Freed on Other Counts in Cab Escapade.

Edward Gans, 26 years old, a senior in the Loyola university medical school, whose theft of a taxicab on Feb. 23 after a drinking bout, resulted in injuries to himself and four others, was placed on probation yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Automobile court.

Gans appeared on four charges of reckless driving, one of driving while intoxicated, and one of larceny.

Admits Drinking Before Crash.

He admitted that on the evening of Feb. 23 he had been drinking at the Phi Chi fraternity house at 3525 Monroe street, where he lives. When he left the house, he said, he stole the cab in front of 734 Madison street and drove to the loop. There, posing as a cab chauffeur, he picked up four passengers. The ride ended when Gans crashed into a parked truck in Adams street near Western avenue, injuring himself and the passengers.

Judge Graber found him guilty of driving while intoxicated, but dismissed the other charges after it was indicated Gans had made an out of court settlement. The court was informed that neither the cab company nor the passengers wished to prosecute.

Escapade Costs $3,100.

"While the court cannot condone this young man's conduct," Judge Graber said, "I believe this is a case where justice can be tempered with mercy. I have had this young man investigated and find he has a fine record. I understand he has been under great stress lately and that his escapade has cost his father $3,100."

The court said it would vacate the finding of guilty against Gans on the intoxication charge on June 5 if Gans conducted himself in exemplary manner. Gans is scheduled to be graduated on June 10. He is the son of a physician at Harlowtown, Mont.

More Than 600 Autoists Without Licenses Fined

More than 500 motorists, arrested for failure to purchase 1936 state or city licenses for their cars, were fined $3 each yesterday in the license court. An additional 113, also held for the same offense, were fined $2 each when they convinced the court they had had the automobiles only a short time. Warants were issued for the arrest of 60 violators who failed to obey summonses to come to court.

GIRL HURT WHEN CAR LEAVES ROAD IN TWO MISHAPS

2d Accident Occurs on Way to Hospital.

Miss Anna Becker, 22 years old, 4312 Hampden road, Western Springs, was learning to drive early yesterday when she turned the car so sharply at Archer avenue and 79th street that it went into a ditch and overturned.

The car was righted and it was found that Miss Becker had a broken arm. Three other passengers were uninjured. William Scott, 22 years old, of Hinsdale, who had been teaching the young woman to drive, then took the wheel and started for the Hinsdale sanitarium. At 79th street and Willow Springs road the car again went off the road into a ditch and rolled over three times.

Scott and the two other passengers, Harold Eggert, 23 years old, and Miss Ethel Shankle, 22 years old, both of Hinsdale, managed to crawl out of the overturned machine, but Miss Becker was caught inside the car. Willow Springs police arrived and extricated her after cutting away the top of the car. She was taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium. The others suffered only minor injuries.

Mrs. Bessie Florian, 44 years old, 1412 South Lombard avenue, Berwyn, died yesterday in the West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, of injuries suffered Monday night when she was knocked to the pavement by a laundry truck which was backing up in front of her home.

Martin Murphy, 64 years old, 811 West Washington boulevard, a WPA foreman, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile at Madison street and Damen avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 204 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In the same period this year 170 were killed and 3,049 injured within the Chicago city limits.

London Navy Parley Gets Complete Draft of Treaty

LONDON, March 19.—(AP)—The naval treaty drafting committee reported tonight that it had completed its work and submitted a completed draft of the pact to the international naval conference. The conference will meet tomorrow for the first time in two weeks and authoritative quarters said the treaty itself would be signed by the United States, Great Britain, and France March 24.

MR. ROOSEVELT ON RELIEF.

The President has asked congress for another billion and a half for boondoggling. If congress gives it to him the relief bill in the year ending June 30, 1937, will be as big as in the year ending June 30, 1936. Mr. Roosevelt wishes the country to believe that he is leading it steadily out of the depression, but when he expresses his own private opinion in figures his optimism vanishes.

Mr. Roosevelt's message passes lightly over the criticisms, in and out of congress, of his relief administration. He does not deny that more help could be given at less cost. He does not deny that he has created a legion of misery, thousands of whose members are forced day after day to perform silly, degrading and useless tasks. In the face of revelations already authenticated he could not deny that the relief organization was being used to build up a political machine of unprecedented size. He pretends not to know that the excessive cost of relief is itself a most important element in retarding recovery. By implication he says the fault lies with industry. He says industrial employers must solve the problem by hiring more men and he favors a revival of NRA to the extent that they may be encouraged to do so.

The uninformed reader of the message might conclude three things from Mr. Roosevelt's remarks. He might be led to believe that NRA had been greatly successful in expanding industrial employment and pay rolls; that the invalidating of NRA had cost many men their jobs; and that the heart of the unemployment problem is in manufacturing industry generally. In all of these conclusions the uninformed reader would be wrong, and no one should know this better than does Mr. Roosevelt.

When NRA was thrown out, Mr. Roosevelt predicted wholesale discharges and wage cutting. Here are the facts: NRA was invalidated at the end of May, 1935. Between June and December, 1935, the number of men and women employed in manufacturing industries increased by 410,000 and pay rolls were increased by $20,750,000 a week, or at the rate of a billion dollars a year. By way of contrast, in the corresponding six months of 1934, under NRA, employment from June to December declined by 250,000 and pay rolls declined by $3,400,000 a week, or at the rate of $175,000,000 a year.

In the face of these facts, taken from the government's own records, Mr. Roosevelt insinuates that industry is not doing its part as best it can and ventures to prescribe another dose of the quack remedy which before served only to make the patient worse.

The center of the unemployment problem, as he well knows, is in heavy industry. If the construction industries were again active the problem would all but disappear. They are not active because of uncertainty regarding the future and most of that uncertainty has been manufactured in Washington. Excessive relief costs have unbalanced the budget and brought fears of currency depreciation. Excessive borrowing has led to the same result. The certainty of much heavier taxation and uncertainty about where it will fall has made matters worse. Money is not flowing into construction because the people who might lend it fear they wouldn't get it back if they did. If that fear were removed—as it can be next November—the principal beneficiaries would be the members of the legion of misery who, as matters stand, are condemned to unending humiliation and poverty.

TRUCKS ON THE RAILS.

The Keeshin Motor Express company dispatches two or more trucks over state highways from Chicago to St. Paul-Minneapolis every night. The Chicago Great Western railroad operates a freight train between the same cities on an identical schedule. The managements resolved upon coördinated effort and an agreement was reached whereby the trucks would be loaded on flat cars of the railway. Certain competitors and organizations of shippers complained to the interstate commerce commission, which has suspended the consummation of the proposal for a period of seven months.

The truck offers many advantages over the box car—as outstanding examples, the elimination of much boxing and crating as well as the ability of the vehicle to move directly from manufacturer's warehouse to the consumer's or retailer's door. It also offers a smaller and more convenient unit for the distribution of such articles as clothing, hardware, notions or stationery, which are not ordinarily distributed in carload quantities. If the railroads can participate in these advantages, bolster their own revenues, clear the highways of what is rapidly becoming both a nuisance and a menace, what reasonable excuse can there be for the obstruction of such progress?

There is nothing new involved. Trucks, trailers, and semi-trailers have been handled on railway freight cars from Chicago to various points for a year or more. It is merely a variation of railway experiments with container and compartment cars, to save transfer and damage en route. Such attempts to improve distribution should not be discouraged by unprofitable and meaningless delays, and proponents of the old order should not have available this method of tying the hands of a competitor. Progress in an industry so bound in red tape may no more be expected than the flowering of genius in a chain gang.

PUNISH THE BLACK LARCENIES.

Mr. Black, the senatorial Peeping Tom, has been balked by the District of Columbia Supreme court in his unconstitutional invasion of the rights of citizens. The court, however, has merely prohibited his larceny of private telegrams in a single case. It can provide no punishment for the offense unless the senator disobeys its injunction and makes himself liable to punishment for contempt.

But there are other means by which his thefts can be punished, and it is socially desirable that such punishment should be inflicted as a warning against future subversion of the constitution. By their conduct Senator Black and his colleagues of the committee of inquisition have demonstrated their unfitness to sit in congress. If the other members of the senate have any pride in the character of their associates they will expel Black and his fellows for being what they are.

There is another means by which Senator Black can and should be punished immediately for his disregard of the law. John Wilkes and John Entinck charted the course more than a century and a half ago. They were authors of pamphlets assailing the corrupt and oppressive ministers of George III. They wrote before the fight for freedom of the press had been won, and the law of that day would have authorized their arrest had its course been followed. But by the use of illegal search warrants the king's minister, Halifax, caused the indiscriminate seizure of their personal papers.

Both Wilkes and Entinck filed suit for trespass against Halifax and his messengers. Both recovered substantial damages. The monumental decisions in those cases were recognized and quoted by the courts of the United States. The opinions supply substantial grounds for action against Senator Black, the other members of his committee and the pliant members of the federal communications commission who have misused and exceeded their powers to serve the New Deal cheka.

The seizure of private correspondence without due process of law, which Senator Black is attempting, is theft. The victims of such thefts should demand damages which the law provides for any one so injured.

A HARD LIFE.

A hard life this Kinsley leads. He comes down to work towards noon and finds a letter as follows:

> Dear Phil: Get on a bus and go places where it is spring. Stay away as long as you like. When the scenery looks good get out and honor it with your appraising eye. If you don't feel like walking a piece down the road just sit and appraise until the next bus or the one after that comes along. Talk to the folks if you feel like it; if you don't just sit in the sun and interview yourself. Drop us a line now and then so we'll know where to send the expense money. Love and kisses from THE BOSS.

From the time we ceased wanting to be a fireman we have wanted to be Bob Becker. Getting paid for going fishing still looks pretty good, but it seems to call for a lot of activity. From now on our wagon is hitched to the star reporter, loafing down a hill road in the Ozarks yellow in the sun.

Editorial of the Day

CHASING FIGURES OF SPEECH.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The hopeful citizens of Alberta who voted for social credit and a $25 bonus per month per adult have been disillusioned. They not only have not received the dividends promised by Premier Aberhart before the election, but they see the stage set for higher taxes. Still worse, Aberhart now has declared that the $25 item mentioned in the campaign was merely "a figure of speech"; nothing concrete at all, just a rough idea of what social credit could do if and when it got started.

The Montreal Star has looked into the matter and finds that Aberhart is right, in a manner of speaking. It was a figure—$25—and it was a speech, several speeches, in fact, says the Star. More specifically, it cites an extract from Aberhart's campaign manual: "Each citizen will receive a passbook in which, at the beginning of each month, will be entered the basic dividend for that month, say $25. Will the dividends always remain at $25 a month? No. We believe that the dividends will increase as the standard of living rises."

In this episode there should be a text for warning the followers of Dr. Townsend that his promise of $200 a month may also turn out to be "a figure of speech." Unfortunately, it comes too late. The celebrated $200 per already has entered the land of hyperbole, and probably unknown to most of the Townsend faithful. The McGroarty bill, now being pushed in congress by the Townsend cohorts, provides merely for a 2 per cent transaction tax whose proceeds "shall be distributed and paid monthly, pro rata . . . to all qualified annuitants . . . in such amount not exceeding $200 per month." That might mean anywhere from 30 cents to $200 a month, and certainly a figure nearer the former than the latter. The "figure of speech" has carried the day among the will-o'-the-wisp chasers on this side of the border as well as on the other side.

REAL ROMANCE.

He was finding it hard to propose, and Maggie, his fiancée, was too reticent to help him along.

"Maggie, I have been calling on ye for three years now."

"Aye, Jock," she answered.

"I have taken ye oot every Sunday, Maggie."

"Aye, Jock."

"I have taken ye to the pictures every Saturday, Maggie."

"Aye, Jock."

"And I have sat wi' ye every Thursday nicht."

"Aye, Jock."

"And I'm here the noo."

"Aye, Jock."

Then, in desperation: "Maggie, d'ye no' smell a rat?"—Exchange.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THE FIRST ROBIN has had an awful time this spring. Zero weather held him back and then nice days came and the First Robin appeared. The zero weather swooped down on him and froze his tail feathers off. He escaped to the south and waited and waited until finally he thought that spring was a settled thing and back he came. He narrowly escaped drowning in the floods only to land in the snowdrifts in Ohio. He managed to dig his way out and walk and hitch-hike to Chicago. Now he's in the psychopathic ward in a padded cage. In his lucid moments he shouts, "Cut out that First Robin stuff; from now on us robins aren't coming north until after the Fourth of July." Whereupon he starts raving again and insists he is a catfish.

"CRISIS Greatest Since Lincoln's Time, Says Knox."—Headline. Which shows that the campaign is just getting a fairly good start. For it won't be long before the candidates, Democrats and G. O. P.s both, will proclaim the present crisis the greatest in the history of the country. By June the country will be trembling on the edge of a fearful chasm and by August the corner stone of the republic will be cracking to hellengone.

I DON'T SEE how the Japs have time to shoot at their prime minister and generals and high officials generally. From the amount of goods some of our senators and congressmen are insisting the Japs are sending into this country I should think it would take every Japanese worker twenty-five hours a day making and shipping the things.

MONODY.

(No. 3.)

Who are you, Stephen, to wish me well
On the eve of my vast delirious plunge!
Do you imagine the words you spell
In calm politeness will now expunge
The row of phrases, so bleached and white,
That I see yet in the blackened night?

Do you forgive, and shall I forget?
Or is it the other way around—
And which of the two shall hug regret
To a life that whimpers without a sound?
A martyr's rôle is a gesture tossed
To the futile depths of forever-lost!

Gaze, O Stephen! and let there be Engraved upon your quivering mind
The sight of my bridal finery
And all the sorrow it leaves behind;
Drink with your eyes, for that is all
The potion you shall savor but gall . . .

What! would you have me a swaying reed
Left upright on an empty waste,
Finding a pitiful puny need
In dogs and kittens, so that the chaste
And timid vows have a room
Encased in an earthly living tomb?

I have so little of years to place,
Each one a volume sealed and done,
Within my memories' filing case
That I am chary of wasting one;
I shall inscribe each page myself
And glory to see the well-filled shelf!

So when the ditty has been sung,
And far behind is the ribboned roll
Of years, where once a tocsin rung
The splendid call of soul to soul,
Years will be all of life you've had—
But I shall have lived, be it good or bad!

JESSUP.

MAN, being much smarter than old Dame Nature, decides he will put all the lazy rivers to work. So he builds great dams, costing colossal sums of money, puts in elaborate machinery, and draws off electrical power to use in his mills and factories. Old Dame Nature stands it as long as she feels like it and then she turns around, kicks down the dams, sends great floods from the pent up waters down on cities and towns, and wipes away the last vestige of the harness that man had buckled on her. It's the fight that began since man lost his tail, came down out of the trees, and began to live in caves. And Dame Nature isn't conquered yet.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

WHAT IS A DEFICIENCY DISEASE?

MOST of us are inclined to look upon ill health as the result of some injury or infection—the piling up of toxins which overwhelm the system with bacterial poisons. This is true for the most part. On the other hand we recognize that the body works in perfect balance. On one side of the scales is the thing called life and on the other are the materials which maintain it—calcium, phosphorus, oxygen, nitrogen, carbon, etc. Of course, we understand that the body is not nourished by any one single element acting alone. Carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen are combined to form a great group of foodstuffs called carbohydrates, while proteins contain the needed nitrogen.

If any one of the vital elements is missing the power to carry on will drop and the body will find itself unable to function. This has led to the conception that some diseases are due to the lack of certain substances, most of which are probably derived from food. These are called deficiency diseases and are just as real and as health destroying as pneumonia, heart disease, or diphtheria. As a rule they develop slowly and are much longer in exhibiting their effects than are acute infections of bacterial origin.

One of the early and most striking examples of a food deficiency was that observed by Eijkmann, a Dutch investigator, who was medical officer to a prison in Java. Both among the natives and the civil population beriberi, a form of neuritis followed by paralysis, was common. On one occasion he noted that the fowls raised on the prison farm showed many of the paralytic symptoms which he had observed in his patients.

The fact that these birds were fed largely on refuse rice suggested the possibility that there might be a dietetic failure at the bottom of the human disease, inasmuch as the feeding of unpolished, whole grain rice was promptly followed by recovery of ailing members of the prison flock.

It was not until some years later, however, that it was generally conceded by medical science that polyneuritis in fowls was the same as beriberi in man and that the cause was the same. It was found that some component that was essential to health had been removed from the rice in the process of husking and milling.

We now recognize among the many deficiency diseases rickets, scurvy, certain disorders of the eyes, pellagra, arthritis, possibly dental decay, and various skin conditions. All of these and perhaps more may be laid at the door of insufficient or poorly absorbed food elements [vitamins]. Some authorities go so far as to indicate that pernicious anemia or other disorders of the blood may be ascribed to improper digestion of protein or poor functioning of the liver due in turn to the lack of some activating compound.

We do not need to be told that life cannot be sustained without food. This applies to all living things. However, few of us need give much concern to what we eat. Instinct, appetite, and hunger guide most of us wisely. We may desire greatly some particular article, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred it is because we need it.

Intelligence and the advance of medical science go hand in hand. The more we know about deficiency diseases the better are we able to prevent illness. While scurvy in severe form is rarely seen anywhere in the world today, yet there are no doubt tens of thousands of cases of mild types of this disease. Even so slight a symptom as a sore tongue or a sore mouth that may exist for only a day may point the way to a minor food deficiency.

Why should we be alert to deficiency diseases? Because each in its own way lowers body resistance. With a slightly weakened constitution, infections may gain a foothold and inaugurate a severe illness, a situation that could not have occurred had not some food failure preceded it.

HAVE FREQUENT TESTS.

G. H. writes: About 1894 I contracted syphilis and was treated accordingly. I was under the impression that I had been cured until in 1909 I had a Wassermann test which was positive. After that I took the usual treatments regularly, and with a few exceptions the tests continued to be positive. About two years ago I had two different laboratories make a test a few days apart; one reported positive reaction and the other negative. Since then I have had three Wassermanns, including one spinal, and all have been negative. Do you think this is conclusive proof that I no longer have this disease, or would you advise that I continue indefinitly with the Wassermann tests?

REPLY.

As you contracted syphilis over 40 years ago and have had repeated positive reactions to the various tests over that period, it would not be safe for you to consider yourself cured. Have a Wassermann test at regular intervals, and whenever it is positive be treated. Have the test made frequently, as one negative test is not absolute proof that you are safe.

PERSPIRING PALMS.

P. A. B. writes: Is there any chemical solution, salve, or soap that will remedy profuse perspiring of the palms of the hands? Would abstention from heavy protein food correct it? Is an acid condition responsible, or is it due to being very nervous? I suffer with this embarrassing condition even in winter.

REPLY.

Some persons have the peculiarity of sweating copiously over a localized area. This peculiarity is generally due to some nervous condition. Food and so-called "acidity" are not factors.

A good plan would be to have a careful physical checkup, as the thyroid gland is sometimes at fault.

RHEUMATISM.

P. G. writes: 1. Would you advise a special diet for muscular rheumatism?

2. Would you suggest rest or exercise in such a case?

REPLY.

1. Let your diet consist of good, nourishing foods, and avoid anything known to disagree with you.

2. Rest is essential. Massage rather than exercise is better for muscular rheumatism. Use neither as long as there is pain.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I.—Resident Commissioner Quintin Paredes of the Philippines, who is just beginning to find his way in Washington, was definitly feeling more discouraged than the average native when, upon reaching America for the first time, and addressing himself to the American people, he pleaded, "We are sure that in your sense of generosity and responsibility you will not cut us loose."

The Filipinos are far from being ready to beg to be taken back by the United States! But it is true that the Philippine commonwealth has suffered a lot in lost optimism, and it is probably Paredes' job to echo it in America. It had counted on much from Washington, but little has developed.

Before the inauguration of the commonwealth the United States congress had passed a law authorizing the payment to the Philippines of over $23,000,000. This was to be the islands' share of the so-called gold profit realized through the devaluation of the dollar. At the time of the devaluation—and now, for that matter—the Philippine government had on deposit in the federal treasury and in various American banks funds worth $100,000,000. The law granting the Philippines devaluation profit did not appropriate the necessary amount. And the present congress has under consideration the Adams bill repealing the former law. The main contention is that, since the United States has not printed new money, the Philippines has suffered nothing but book loss.

Then there is some $26,000,000 in coconut oil excise tax which the Philippines was to collect in 1935 but which the AAA invalidation and other pending litigations have tied up. This sum was collected on Philippine coconut oil entering America at the rate of $.03 a pound for refund to the Philippine government. The legality of the tax is, however, being challenged in nearly a score of test cases pending in American courts.

The stoppage of the payment of sugar benefits as a result of the chucking of the AAA has not mattered much—the payments were being made to individual sugar men.

High officials in the department of finance had outlined grandiose plans for the expenditure of the expected refunds—double the annual budget. Part of the money was to go for the development of Mindanao, part for general industrial development, a highway system, and building up a new army.

Optimism has also considerably suffered from the apparently indefinite postponement of the conference President Roosevelt was to call in March to recommend ways and means of making the economic terms of the independence law less stiff. When in 1934 the President urged the reënactment of the independence law, he promised subsequent correction of its "inequalities," but the tentative plans had been made at a time when the presidential election was still out of mind. The administration, so it is believed here, feels that the promise to the Filipinos can wait.

The international situation, too, furnishes disappointments. Even before the inauguration of the commonwealth the Filipinos had looked forward to eventual membership in the league of nations. They had noted, to be sure, the generally belated and ineffective efforts of the league, yet they had also derived some measure of optimism in its grandiloquent denunciation of Japan's Manchukuo grab. The league's vigilance, they believed, might help to keep away Japan from the islands. Of this illusion Filipinos were destined soon to be dispossessed. For, in spite of all the solemn warnings of the league, Mussolini overran Ethiopia. Japan, thus finding itself released from the world's indignation and observation, did not lose the opportunity to make new conquests in China. Indeed, the entire east is profoundly astir due to a genuine fear of Japan.

Thus the four month old Philippine commonwealth is far from developing the right state of mind. Though the Filipinos have lost in optimism, they are far from being discouraged. The distribution of jobs in the new government has just commenced, and when there are jobs to distribute optimism could not be at rock bottom. No new taxes have yet been devised or levied, and that is about all the natives want to know.

COLLECTION OF DEBT.

Elgin, Ill, March 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend has a judgment against a member of the board of trade where he is an active trader. 1. Is it possible to attach said membership inasmuch as it is worth about $6,000 and which he uses to earn a living? Also, if one files for divorce [2] appearance of defendant filed—then can plaintif have case dismissed and [3] establish residence elsewhere for purpose of divorce? 4. I was told after answer or appearance filed it couldn't be dismissed. J. W.

1. Section 58 of the article on executions in corpus juris is as follows: "It has been held in some jurisdictions that a seat on a stock exchange is not property in the eye of the law, and cannot be seized in execution for the debts of the members; that it is the mere creation of the board, and to be held and enjoyed with all the limitations and restrictions which the constitution of the board chooses to put upon it. But by the weight of authority a seat or membership upon a stock exchange is property, and subject to execution in the sense that it may be reached by appropriate proceedings and applied, as other property of a debtor, to the payment of his just debts such as by creditor's suits or supplementary proceedings."

2. Yes.

3. In general a divorce based on fictitious "residence" is void.

4. This would be true if a cross bill had been filed. If you employ an attorney he would be in a better position to advise you than we are.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RECEIVERSHIP.

Chicago, March 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it always necessary to have a receiver on a foreclosure of a home if only one rents? If not, under what conditions don't you need one?

L. A. C.

The appointment of a receiver is largely discretionary with the judge hearing the foreclosure case. As the experience of the depression has demonstrated the expensiveness of receiverships, the courts have inclined to permit the defendant to act as his own receiver in cases where this seemed practicable. We cannot give absolute rules.

ANNUAL DEPRESSIONS.

Chicago, March 17.—Being concerned about the new proposed income taxes on corporations, which as I understand are taxes on undistributed earnings, I would like to call the seriousness of this tax to the attention of the general public.

There is practically no corporation which at any time has its earnings or profits in cash; this profit is usually in increased inventory, machinery, or accounts receivable. To pay out these earnings would mean a liquidation each year of one or all of the above items to obtain cash; every year around March 15, if everybody has to partially liquidate his business to obtain cash, there is going to be a very depressed market condition.

In the past six or seven months, since Mr. Roosevelt has told business that there would be no new taxes and that they would have a breathing spell, business has gone ahead very rapidly. If let alone I feel certain we will go a long way toward solving our real problem, which is unemployment. This new tax will completely upset the whole business world and should not even be contemplated.

H. S. ADLER.

THE JUVENILE DETENTION HOME.

Chicago, March 16.—The night the boys attempted to break out of the juvenile detention home I was an eyewitness to the scene, and it was due only to the high esteem in which the boys hold the able superintendant, Dr. Alfred Barry, that they were quieted.

If you are not familiar with conditions at the juvenile detention home, I want to acquaint you in part, for a serious state of affairs exists in this institution. One of the sections has been taken from the girls to furnish room for the boys. The facilities for caring for the girls were inadequate, but now it is even worse, crowding all types, diseased and well, normal and abnormal, of all ages together in two sections. You will find the diphtheria carriers quartered in one room, which serves as living room, sleeping room, dining room and play room. I have seen at least forty diphtheria carriers housed in this one room at one time. Proper classification cannot be made for lack of space.

Is it not high time an addition is built to relieve these conditions? Moreover, how can boys become fine citizens, and girls worthwhile women, living under such conditions? If you want further information visit the home and you may be convinced of the desperate need, and then present the crying need to the board of Cook county commissioners.

JENNIE BEARDSLEY,
Protestant Representative of the Juvenile Detention Home.

THEY ARE NOW BEING WRITTEN.

River Forest, Ill., March 16.—I read with a great deal of interest the editorial "A Tale of Horror" in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of March 15.

It was this that impelled me to read the full version in the graphic section on the trial of the three Mississippi Negroes. But for the editorial I would have missed the writeup in the graphic section.

This suggests the hope that you may find it worth while, as I am sure it will also be productive, to take some other instances showing how the constitution protects the individual. My own observation would be that the mass of the public is not interested in how the constitution protects business [although it should be on the basis that when business flourishes the masses flourish], but I do believe that a "constitutional morality" can be developed if there are a whole series of articles showing how the constitution protects the individual in protecting his liberty, his freedom, a fair trial and getting justice.

FREIGHT TRUCKS IN THE HOME STREET.

Chicago, March 16.—A recent letter in this column from Mr. Gosline, replying to your editorial "Freight Trucks in the Home Street," fails to consider the main features of house bill No. 110.

An amendment to the bill was printed but never presented, which provided for the consent of the municipality only when the common carrier operates over a route through a residential district. In the first place, the amendment was never made, and if it had been made it would still fail to give municipalities any authority over other than residential districts and also would leave open the question as to what constitutes a residential district.

The main difficulty with the bill, however, is this: The law has provided that the Illinois commerce commission, in the same way as a court, shall hear evidence and determine whether new forms of transportation are needed. The motor carrier has developed into a major business like a railroad. It is, of course, entitled to just treatment, but the whole spirit of the commerce commission act is that public convenience and necessity should determine the routes of the carriers and whether they should operate at all in certain communities.

The commission has been hearing evidence on this very point, but under the Sinnett bill it would now have to make a decision one way—granting the certificates. The bill would make it useless to present further evidence and all the expense various communities and organizations have invested in opposing such petitions for certificates would now become futile.

Because of the inconveniences, hazards and other objections to having freight trucks use the same roads that primarily were intended for passenger car travel, the commission should continue to determine the extent to which freight trucking is allowed on these streets. After all, the welfare of the residents in the residential communities deserves prime consideration. Freight trucking requires a different type of highway from that for ordinary trafic. We have zoning laws to protect various communities; why shouldn't the courts or a commission determine whether or not freight truck operations are in keeping with these laws?

In many communities the increase of motor freight truck trafic is seriously menacing the home and the desirability of residental property. Surely, a measure as important as house bill No. 110, which would allocate hundreds of miles of residential streets to freight truck operations on a certificate basis, should not be passed without reference to a committee and an opportunity for a public hearing. This should be allowed in the interests of fairness to every one.

CITY COLLEGES.

Chicago, March 17.—Now if your correspondent, Harold Leonard, is really interested in a city college for Chicago, how come he is unfamiliar with the fact that the city already is operating three junior colleges? These are accredited colleges, with the finest instructors available. One must admit that the school system is trying to keep up with other big cities where free college educations can be had by all. Here's hoping that, before another year passes, the colleges will be offering four year courses instead of two. We thank you, Mr. Bogan.

BORAH LAUNCHES OHIO CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENCY

Hits New Deal Policies in Youngstown Talk.

Youngstown, O., March 19.—(AP)—Opening his Ohio presidential campaign here tonight in the center of the nation's steel industry, United States Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] declared himself in favor of a "stable dollar" and "complete and effective neutrality."

In making a bid for Buckeye state delegates to the national convention the Idaho senator also declared in favor of retaining "the American market for the American farmer."

He approved the coöperative system of farm marketing and said he favored speedy enactment of the commodities exchange bill now before congress.

Lashes Crop Curtailment.

Striking at the New Deal policy of curtailing production as a means of relieving agriculture, Senator Borah said he did not "believe in the philosophy of scarcity."

"So long as millions are hungry I would not curtail production," he said. "I would rather pay the farmer to produce than to destroy."

Among the national policies enunciated by Senator Borah were the following:

"I favor a policy of complete and effective neutrality on the part of this government as to all political controversies and war in Europe.

"I believe in living up to and obeying the constitution as it exists at any time. People may amend it, but as it is amended or as it exists it should be strictly observed by both the people and officials.

Favors Independent Judiciary.

"I favor complete independence of the federal judiciary.

"I am opposed to monopoly in all its forms.

"The destruction of monopoly is the first step in the restoration of the purchasing power of the masses.

"I favor the coöperative system in agriculture thoroughly established to enable the American farmer to control distribution of his products until they reach the markets of the world. In this connection, I favor speedy enactment of a commodities exchange bill now before congress.

"I believe the American market belongs to the American farmer to the full extent of his ability to supply. I am opposed to any policy opening our markets to any foreign competition so long as our markets are able to supply.

Opposes Politics in Relief.

"I would like to see burocratic government reduced to a minimum with the elimination of all unnecessary bureaus and commisions which are placing unbearable tax burdens on our people.

"We should make every effort in administering relief to eliminate all party politics. Money appropriated for the needy should go to the needy with as little cost as possible in administration.

"I favor removing government from private business. Of course, under present circumstances, there are field into which government must enter, but ultimately government must retire from all private business.

"I favor an adequate old age pension.

"I am not in favor of inflation and neither do I favor deflation. I should like to see a stable dollar."

POLITICALLY MINDED FARMERS AIM OF NEW G. O. P. WOMEN'S DRIVE

A campaign to make politics as important as corn on the farms of the central west will be pressed by Miss Daisy V. Williams, new director of farm women's activities for the western division of the Republican national committee.

Miss Williams, who has been in farm organization work in Iowa for the last ten years, opened her new headquarters yesterday at the Palmer house, where she will assist Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown of Dayton, O., new head of women's activities for the G. O. P. western division.

"There isn't any business in the world where a woman knows as much about her husband's business as farming," Miss Williams said, "consequently, she knows that the heaviest tax burden, if the present Roosevelt spending program continues, will fall eventually on the farmer.

"Agriculture, our basic industry, is more important than any party, but the Republican party always has been the party of the common people, and it will yet save agriculture. Practically nothing of any lasting benefit has been done for agriculture to date under this administration."

Burglar Breaks Into Shop with a Jail Fence Picket

Thirty-three dresses valued at $700 were taken early yesterday by a burglar who broke into the Agay-Gibbs Shoppe, 637 North Michigan avenue. Police said the intruder used an iron picket taken from the fence of the old county jail to break a glass panel in the front door of the shop.

STATE CONTEST FOR NOMINATION OPENED BY KNOX

Borah Next Candidate to Speak in Illinois.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—The opening of Republican presidential campaigning in Illinois was emphasized today as Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, became the first aspirant for nomination at Cleveland to appear in the state and speak for delegate support.

Mr. Knox will take the stump in at least eight of the fifteen downstate congressional districts before the advisory preferential primary is held on April 14. Close on his heels will come his opponent, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, who makes his campaign debut in Chicago Saturday night and also plans a downstate tour, beginning next week or early in April. It will probably close at Fairfield, his birthplace.

Host to 200 Leaders.

Today Mr. Knox was host to about 200 Republican leaders and precinct captains of the Twenty-first district at a luncheon presided over by C. J. [Tip] Doyle, former secretary of state and a Knox candidate for delegate from the Springfield territory.

The party then left for Lincoln, in the Seventeenth district; thence Decatur, in the Nineteenth district, which is the home of Knox's campaign manager, Edward A. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion. Tomorrow's itinerary takes the candidate to Jacksonville and Quincy, in the Twentieth and Fifteenth districts, respectively. Next week he will appear in Mt. Vernon—the Twenty-third district—on Thursday, and Alton, the Twenty-second, on Friday. Beyond that, his plans are not completed.

Knox delegates are running in every district, a fact which Hayes declared, quite cheerfully, has not yet been accomplished by the Borah camp. "And in every district we have followed the recommendations of the Republican organization," the campaign manager added.

New Deal Taxing Assailed.

Unstinting criticism of President Roosevelt and his New Deal was given by candidate Knox to his guests at the luncheon. Yesterday's presidential appeal for new taxes which would bring in another billion and one-half dollars, caused the speaker to call Mr. Roosevelt "the greatest spender and waster of federal funds who ever sat in the White House."

"He already has at hand unexpended appropriations exceeding five billions," Mr. Knox shouted. "I ask, why does he want more? The answer is, to insure his own reëlection."

Democratic solicitation of relief votes throughout the country brought the accusation from the candidate that in the recent general registration in California, Democratic workers warned the people on relief that the registration records were public property, with the result that recipients of the dole registered as Democrats.

Stealing by Stealth.

"Isn't that stealing the government by stealth?" cried Mr. Knox.

"And in Illinois," he continued, "we also see this miserable use of relief funds for a political purpose. I can prove that by the Democrats themselves.

"The time of testing is coming. This is the choice: Whether we retain the power supposed to reside in the men and women of the country or yield it to a group who seek to perpetuate themselves with your money."

Mr. Knox concluded by calling attention to the lack of freedom in the dictatorship ruled countries now engaged in or courting war. He also praised the constitution and the Supreme court for upholding it. Of himself he said: "As for me, I'm happy in the job I have. I've been trying to arouse my fellow citizens to the dangers which confront them. I don't care what happens to me; I do care what happens to my country."

In both the Knox speech and the introduction given him by his manager, Mr. Hayes, there were proud references to the "unanimous endorsement" of the publisher by the Republican state central committee, given late last summer at a meeting in Peoria. This was a harmony gathering designed to iron out ill feelings engendered by the ousting of Justus L. Johnson of Aurora as chairman, in favor of John H. Searing of Carbondale.

Those who arrived the evening prior to the meeting were told by Chairman Searing and others that the state committee had no precedent for endorsing a candidate before the convention and that no such action was planned. That attitude appeared still to be the consensus on the following morning—until the arrival of Mr. Knox.

But, following his appearance at the hotel in which the committee was meeting, a great deal of activity became apparent and shortly it was announced that the committee, in executive session, had "unanimously" adopted a Knox resolution, introduced by Committeeman John F. Tyrrell of Chicago. Mr. Tyrrell, it had previously been understood, was one of the leaders of the group which had opposed endorsement. The incident closed on that note.

GOV. HORNER ASSAILS CHARGE THAT HE LETS STATE FUNDS BE IDLE

La Salle, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner, speaking tonight at La Salle after meetings at Minonk, Wenona, Streater, and Ottawa, struck back at opposition charges that he was allowing 15 million dollars to lie idle in the state treasury.

"Those who make those statements do not tell you that 7¼ million dollars was appropriated a few weeks ago to carry on relief for the next few months," he said. "They do not tell you how that surplus in the state treasury has taken care of old age pensions and other necessary state expenses."

Gov. Horner also charged that he is being misrepresented on the veto of the bill setting up machinery to administer the old age pension fund.

At Streator this afternoon Gov. Horner turned the first spade of dirt as construction of a new bridge was begun on State Highway 17 over the Vermilion river.

BROOKS FORCES OFFER DEMPSEY AND BIDWILL AID

Indorsement by County Leaders Unanimous.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Unanimous indorsement of Arthur J. Bidwill for state auditor and John T. Dempsey for congressman at large by the Cook county Republican organization supporting Wayland Brooks for governor was announced yesterday by the Brooks headquarters in the Hotel La Salle.

ARTHUR J. BIDWILL.

JOHN T. DEMPSEY.

This was a modification of the original plan of running Brooks without any alliances with other state candidates. of running Brooks without any alliances with other state candidates. It was explained that in these two instances the Brooks ward and country district committeemen were so agreed upon giving their individual support to the two candidates that they determined to back Bidwill and Dempsey unitedly.

Downstaters to be Helped.

So far as there are any indications now, there will be no further steps toward making up a Brooks state ticket. The general belief among the Brooks leaders is that with three Cook county candidates now agreed upon, their support must be thrown to downstaters for most of the other offices to be filled by the state as a whole.

Both Dempsey and Bidwill have been active in the Brooks movement since its inception. Dempsey has been particularly active as the leader of the Young Republican organization and has been at work every day at the Brooks headquarters. There are no candidates for other state offices who have had this association.

Bidwill Has Ouster Issue.

Bidwill also has the advantage of an issue against the Democratic organization which is believed to be an asset for the Republican cause next fall. It was he who was ousted summarily from the state senate last year in favor of a Democrat, Charles F. Baumrucker.

That episode was described in the recent report of the Legislative Voters' league as follows:

"By a wanton use of power the Democratic majority in the senate on May 16 [1935] unseated Arthur J. Bidwill, who had a plurality of 149 votes over Charles F. Baumrucker on the face of the returns at the November]1934] election, and received a certificate of election.

"This was done under cover of juggling with tally sheets by a senate subcommittee, which thereby evolved a supposed gain for Baumrucker to overcome Bidwill's plurality.

"A minority report by Senator Richard J. Barr, pointing out that a recount was the only fair way of deciding an election contest, was ignored. A motion by Senator Searcy to order a recount was defeated on a roll call by at vote of 29 to 14. The seat was awarded to Baumrucker by a vote of 31 to 13.

Ward Committeeman at 29.

"During his four months of service Senator Bidwill was carefully attentive to the business of the senate, made many friends and gave indications of possessing legislative capacity."

Dempsey was 29 years old when he was elected ward committeeman for the first time in 1930. That was from the Thirty-eighth ward. When redistricting put him into the Thirty-third ward, he was elected committeeman there in 1932 by a much bigger vote than he received in 1930.

Since his graduation from Notre Dame university and from Northwestern university law school, Dempsey has coached both football and basketball at Chicago high schools.

Dempsey served as an assistant state's attorney from 1924 to 1929, and as an assistant attorney general of Illinois from 1929 to 1932. He resigned in 1932 to run for clerk of the Appellate court. He won the nomination easily, but was defeated in the Democratic landslide of that year.

RETURN OR BE FIRED, ENGINEER WARNS WPA STRIKERS IN MICHIGAN

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 19.—[Special.]—Field Engineer U. S. McCarty today ordered WPA strikers at Niles and Dowagiac to return tomorrow or be discharged.

Thirty Workers' Alliance members walked out to halt two projects at Dowagiac today, thus joining 72 already idle at Niles. Forty other employed on a third project at Dowagiac refused to join the walkout.

Workers' Alliance leaders today were centering their efforts toward a walkout at Buchanan. They are demanding a 30 hour week and 60 cents an hour.

BUNDESEN RAPS HORNER FOR HIS PRISON PROGRAM

Addressing an audience of 700 in the Tivoli ballroom at Aurora last night, Dr. Herman Bundesen, organization candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, asserted that if elected he would be "a Democratic governor in fact."

Dr. Bundesen defended Mayor Kelly, whose alleged bossism has been made a campaign issue by Gov. Horner in his race for renomination. The mayor was described by Dr. Bundesen as "an honest, Christian gentleman and the No. 1 mayor of the United States." The organization, the candidate added, had exacted no promises of him other than that he be a real governor and loyal to his party.

Dr. Bundesen said that Gov. Horner was promising to spend $15,000,000 for new prisons.

"I would not spend any such amount for prisons," he asserted. "I'd expend it for recreational purposes and improve the quality of our youth so that fewer of them would become criminals. And I would not have a prison administration that would grant special privileges to the sons of millionaires who happened to be locked up."

Several other candidates on the organization slate also spoke.

BROOKS STRIKES AT HANDLING OF FEDERAL RELIEF

Hits Socialistic Planning of New Dealers.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Murphysboro, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Wayland Brooks, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, invaded Egyptian territory today and loosed two withering attacks on Democratic relief administration and socialistic planning. He addressed 5,000 persons at Vienna, Benton, Carbondale, and Murphysboro.

Mr. Brooks pointed to charges that WPA workers have been required to make political campaign contributions as "a new record in political perfidy and greed established by the Democratic party." He charged that the TVA and similar socialistic projects would eventually wreck the Illinois mine country "through the stupidity of governmental competition with private initiative."

Speaks in Mining City.

In Benton, one of the nation's greatest coal centers, Mr. Brooks demanded the right of the mine operator to work without governmental interference and the right of labor to organize and demand its fair and proper return.

"Government must get out of competitive business and stay out if it expects the wage earner to maintain his family and the employer to make sufficient income to operate his business and pay taxes," he said.

"Employers and employés will suffer or prosper together. Coöperation and understanding between labor and capital are absolutely essential. One of the foremost needs today is a statewide program for the reëmployment of labor in natural channels. It's the only way. We can't go on trying to buy our way out of debt."

Assails Fund Solicitation.

At Murphysboro, in the Illinois orchard country, Mr. Brooks rapped relief and WPA administration. "Foremen, timekeepers and supervisors on WPA projects throughout southern Illinois have been told to pay fixed percentages to the political machine and to attend political meetings," he said. "Men in desperate need of food for their families have been told to contribute 'or else.' In this brazen and shocking move, people suffering from want must take of their governmental allowance to fatten the Democratic campaign fund. It is a move that arouses the people to the realization that the Republican party must rescue Illinois from Democratic control."

Judge Thomas J. Leyman, Franklin county committee, declared that the entire Twenty-fifth congressional district will support Brooks. "Mr. Brooks is gaining strength daily," he said. "He will carry the county and the district. He is our hope for a Republican victory in the fall."

R. O. T. C. Instructor's Gas Death Declared Accident

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday at an inquest over the body of Sergt. John J. Dignan, an instructor in the R. O. T. C. unit at the Morgan Park High school, who was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning Wednesday. Dignan's body was found on the running board of his automobile in a garage at the rear of 11701 Hale avenue. He lived at 11741 Hale avenue.

GLENN PREDICTS SWEEPING G. O. P. VICTORY IN FALL

Canton, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Former United States Senator Otis F. Glenn declared today in a speech at the Lincoln club of Fulton county that the political pendulum was swinging back from radicalism and that there will be a sweeping Republican victory at the polls next November.

"The people everywhere sense the need for the Republican party in these times," declared Glenn, who is seeking the Republican nomination for United States senator at the April primary.

"The Republican party has not been demoralized by panic or swayed by the demagogs," he said. "The millions of Republicans in our nation must not strive to outshout the radicals or try to outdo the New Dealers in their madness. The party must and will continue on its way as the party of the constitution, the defender of the judiciary, the upholder of the independence of the Supreme court of the United States.

"The Republican party will continue its stand for sound money and the sanctity of contracts and against exploitation, destruction, socialism, fascism, and religious persecution. It will always be opposed to dictatorships of any kind and against communism. But the Republican party will always stand for human rights, including the right to earn, to save, to have and hold property honestly gained by industry and thrift."

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM

Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits

Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation.* This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.

ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Studies on normal men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DISTILLED DIRECTLY FROM GRAIN...

the Time-Honored Method

Fleischmann assures you a smooth-mixing gin by controlling every step from grain to bottle...

IF you were to visit the great Fleischmann distillery at Peekskill, N. Y., you could actually watch every step in the making of Fleischmann's Gin—from the unloading of the grain—to the filling and the sealing of the bottles.

You could see the huge "cookers," the fermenting tanks, the giant columns 3 stories high where the distillation takes place.

All of this equipment, costing millions of dollars, has been installed by Fleischmann in order that 100% control can be maintained through every manufacturing process.

No spirits are bought. Since 1870, it has been Fleischmann's belief that without this unbroken control—a distillery cannot consistently produce a well-balanced gin—free from impurities. The Fleischmann Distilling Corporation, Peekskill, N. Y.

RULE OUT FIVE HORNER ENTRIES IN WARD RACES

Board Clears Way for Caldwell Manager.

The board of election commissioners at three minutes before midnight last night—the deadline was at midnight—said that they had certified to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn the bona fide candidates for ward committeeman in the fifty wards. It was not until some time later, however, that the board released its certifications for publication.

Five of the 34 Horner candidates for ward committeeman were eliminated from the running by the board. They were Albert F. Haney [13th], Frank J. Kruppa [31st], John F. Higgins [37th], Joseph C. Meier [42d], and Joseph F. O'Keefe [44th]. This action by the board left three of the regular Democratic candidates for committeeman without opposition—County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl, and William J. Connors. The board also left Edward J. Upton without opposition for Democratic committeeman of the 30th ward.

Objections to the petition of State Senator Francis J. Loughran, candidate for Democratic committeeman against James W. Ryan, who has the regular organization backing, were sustained. This ended the battle in the Seventh ward—the South Shore district—that was attracting city-wide attention.

Caldwell Forces Fare Well.

The forces supporting H. Wallace Caldwell for governor also fared well under the board's decision. In the 36th ward, for instance, Eden T. Brekke, Republican committeeman and Cook county manager for Caldwell, found that the board had cast out the petition of Leonard C. M. Johnson, Brooks' leader in the ward, who had given Brekke much worry in the ward fight.

In other places the Caldwell forces, some of whom have been shown by public records to be on Democratic pay rolls, fared as well. James W. Breen, committeeman of the 14th ward, had his opposition sloughed away and three candidates were denied the privilege of having their names on the ballot to let William Lass, committeeman in the 23d ward, who has been on Attorney General Otto Kerner's pay roll, run alone.

Roberts and Vignola Unopposed.

A clear field was given also to the Caldwell committeeman in the 31st ward, Daniel A. Roberts, and in the 26th Caldwell Committeeman James Vignola now has no opposition.

The board gave good tidings also to some other committeemen. Robert C. Rohn, Brooks Republican, has no opposition in the 19th ward, as the board eliminated former Ald. O. E. Northrup. Committeeman William H. Reid, a Brooks follower, has no opposition now in the 16th ward, and the most formidable candidate against Committeeman Charles E. Peace was taken out of the running in the 42d ward.

The board left on William A. Kipper in the 9th ward, although his opponents had produced evidence that at least one dead man's name had been placed on his petition.

The election board ended its hearings on 141 objections to nominating petitions for ward committeeman on Wednesday. It then began its sessions on the evidence produced there.

Cases Decided Privately.

The two sessions of the board were entirely different in character. The hearings, a semi-judicial function of the board, were held in the city council chambers. Hangers-on with their hats on crowded around the board, with their private conversations in competition with the hearings seldom interrupted by the gavel of Alexander J. McKay, board chairman.

Then the board went into private and secret sessions to determine what its decisions should be. No telephone calls or visitors were permitted through to the inner room where the board with its lawyers and aids held forth.

"It's a Chinese puzzle," said John F. Tyrrell, attorney for some of the candidates, as he surveyed the board's findings.

NEW WATERWAY SEASON OPENS AS STEAMER DOCKS

The federal barge lines formally inaugurated their 1936 shipping season on the Illinois waterway yesterday with arrival in Chicago of the steamer Montgomery with two barges of general commodities and merchandise from New Orleans.

The Montgomery has collapsible smokestacks and a pilot house which can be lowered to permit passage on the Chicago river without raising bridges.

The barges brought in yesterday carried 1,200 tons of sugar and 300 tons of general commodities, including coffee and canned goods. The Montgomery is scheduled to leave Chicago tomorrow with two barges.

The boat will operate as a shuttle between Lockport and Chicago, connecting at Lockport with two other steamers plying between that point and St. Louis. The Montgomery, a 900 horsepower twin-screw steamer of 267 tons, is scheduled to make two round trips weekly, leaving Chicago on Mondays and Thursdays.

COMPLETE JURY FOR WEITZMAN'S 2D MURDER TRIAL

A jury qualified to inflict the death penalty was completed yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge John J. Lupe for the second trial of Irving Weitzman, south side bakery owner, who is charged with the murder of Eli Daiches, advertising executive. Presentation of evidence will start this morning. Daiches was shot and killed March 3, 1934, in his automobile in the outer drive near 53d street. Weitzman's previous conviction and sentence to life in prison were reversed recently by the Illinois Supreme court.

U. OF C. PAPER FORMS GROUP TO GIVE FUTURE VETS A 'SQUARE DEAL'

A post of "veterans of future wars" was formed at the University of Chicago yesterday by proclamation of the Daily Maroon, student newspaper. Establishment of the Betsy Ross Sewing circle for the "Gold Star Future Mothers' auxiliary" also was announced.

"We members of Fort Dearborn post, No. 1, of the Veterans of Future Wars want to see that the loyal soldiers of the future get a square deal after they sacrifice themselves for their country," said Raymond M. Lahr, managing editor of the Maroon.

He suggested that a $1,000 bonus be paid now to each future veteran and that "the compound interest to be figured back from 1968 should be raised by a tax on the income that these veterans would be getting after they returned from the hostilities." The parent chapter of the new organization is at Princeton university.

A $20 MARBLE ENDS TREASURE HUNT IN JOLIET

Boys Learn Finders Are Not Keepers.

Bobby McIntosh, 4 years old, found a $5 bill on Wednesday in the back yard next door to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McIntosh, 411 Richmond street, Joliet. Bobby wasn't quite certain what it was, but he knew that similar pieces of green paper were treasured by his parents, so he told his friends of his discovery.

One of the friends, Joe Uedelhofer, 10 years old, returned home in the evening and displayed a $10 bill to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Uedelhofer, 206 Williams street.

"Where on earth," his mother asked, "did you get that?"

Big Marble Dealer.

Joe didn't answer. Instead he exhibited a marble and asked her if she didn't think it was "a peach." She agreed. She also wanted to know where he got that. Joe explained he'd bought it from Dickie Martin for $20.

Mrs. Uedelhofer said she thought that was a little high for marbles and bundled Joe right over to the home of Dickie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Martin, 411 John street. Dickie returned the $20 bill, and got the marble back.

By this time the news had spread and there was a treasure hunt on the west side of Joliet.

Yesterday parents of the young treasure hunters began to make inquiries. They learned that Walter Anderson, a contractor living at 212 Williams street, had lost $245 in bills from his pocket about a week ago. He recovered $70 shortly after he lost the money, but apparently the remainder had been blown away by the wind.

Still $140 Short.

So the Uedelhofers gave Mr. Anderson the $30 and little Bobby's $5 was added to the fund, leaving Mr. Anderson still $140 short.

Joe Uedelhofer's greatest disappointment was in losing the nice marble that had cost him $20. His mother promised him a brand new 25 cent one if he got a grade of 100 in spelling yesterday. Joe missed two words, one of which was "pleasant."

94 IERC Workers Engaged to Scan Age Pension Pleas

Clayton F. Smith, president of the Cook county board, late yesterday announced the appointment of 94 case workers from the Illinois Emergency Relief commission staf to serve as temporary investigators of old age pension applications until permanent employés may be chosen through civil service examinations. Cook county now has 160 pension employés, the maximum allowed by state pension officials.

LAMSON MURDER CASE TO BE GIVEN TO JURY TODAY

San José, Cal., March 19.—(AP)—The third trial of David A. Lamson, former Stanford university publicity director who is accused of murdering his wife, will be placed in the hands of the jury tomorrow. Arguments were closed today.

The body of pretty Mrs. Allene Thorpe Lamson was found in the bathroom of her campus cottage May 30, 1933. The state charges Lamson killed her with an iron pipe and placed the body in the tub. The defense contends she was killed accidentally in the tub.

Lamson was convicted at his first trial and sentenced to die, but the state Supreme court granted him another hearing. The jury in the second trial disagreed.

ROOSEVELT ASKS FARMERS TO JOIN IN SOIL PROGRAM

Pleads for Co-operation to Prevent Excess Crops.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt this afternoon urged farmers to coöperate in the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, successor to the unconstitutional AAA, as a means of maintaining agricultural gains.

The President's plea was made in a formal statement. He expressed the belief that farmers will find the new program to the nation's interest and to their individual interest.

"If farmers should for any reason fail to take advantage of the new act," Mr. Roosevelt said, "and especially if they should carry out their intentions as indicated in the department of agriculture reports, the consequent excessive production of such cash crops as cotton, wheat, and tobacco might result once more in the wrecking of their prices.

Act Signed Three Weeks Ago.

"But if the farmers, in coöperating with the soil conservation program, display the same energy and coöperative spirit which they showed in making the production control programs work, they will go far to protect both their soil and their income. This is an appeal to all farmers to coöperate for their own and the national good to help in preventing excessive production."

The President recalled that he signed the act three weeks ago. At the time, he said, he pointed out that the administration had not and would not abandon the goal of equity for agriculture. Today, as the act is being launched by the department of agriculture, the President said, the need for protecting not only the soil but farm prices and income appears to be greater than at the time the act was passed.

19 Pct. More Wheat Indicated.

This fact, Mr. Roosevelt said, was evidenced by department reports of farmers' intentions to plant, which show farmers are planning a 19 per cent increase in wheat acreage, 6 per cent in corn, 11 per cent in rice, 9 per cent in tobacco, and 9 per cent in peanuts.

"Although production control programs have been stopped, farmers are not entirely at the mercy of unbridled competition with their fellow producers," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"The new farm act provides for financial assistance by the government to those farmers who, heeding the warning contained in the intention to plant reports, wish to shift from the production of unneeded surpluses of soil depleting crops to the production of needed soil building crops."

FIVE GET BRIDEWELL TERMS FOR FRAUDS IN ACCEPTING RELIEF

Five men were found guilty yesterday of obtaining money under false pretenses from the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. They were sentenced to terms in the Bridewell and fined by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the South State street court. The defendants are Marko Cornogorac, 60 years old, 10215 Avenue L, and George Harris, 44, colored, 4210 Calumet avenue, each sentenced to six months and fined $100; Emil Bohl, 42 years old, 2106 Fletcher street, and Gill Hoster, 49, of 1751 West 14th place, each sentenced to four months and fined $25, and John Wenchus, 48 years old, 3406 Union avenue, three months and $1 fine. The men were also ordered to make restitution of relief funds they received while actually employed.

DUCE'S IMPERIAL HOPE HELD CAUSE OF AFRICAN WAR

Hans Kohn, professor of history at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., author of two books on near eastern affairs, addressed the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations yesterday at a luncheon meeting in the Palmer house.

He discussed the Italo-Ethiopian conflict in its relationship to the age old dream of empire centering in control of Egypt and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Prof. Kohn traced the history of Egypt through Cæsar and Napoleon and into modern times to demonstrate its importance in the scheme of any nation planning for empire.

"The power which controls Ethiopia and the headwaters of the Blue Nile," he said, "is in control of Egypt because Egypt is created entirely by the Nile. Mussolini is in Ethiopia because he dreams of a recreated Roman empire and because Ethiopia was the easiest place for him to begin."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Flowers Unveiled.

March 19, 1936.

GARDENERS have started their outdoor work in the private garden at the Tribune Wheaton Experimental farm. Almost every day this week they have spent several hours in the garden. Frost still is in the ground, and it will be at least another week before the soil is dry enough to spade or plow.

Although the ground is not yet dry enough to be worked, the gardeners are finding plenty to do in cleaning the garden and lawn of all dead vegetable and mulch material that has accumulated over the winter. Yesterday they started removing straw, leaves and other mulching material from the perennials.

Time to Remove Mulch.

The head gardener has found it best to remove at this time of the year the mulch material from such plants as tulips, narcissi, hyacinths, peonies, delphiniums, columbine, phlox, anemones and other similar flowers that remain in the open garden over winter. If the mulch is left on it causes soft growth which is easily injured by freezes in the spring.

Last fall all of these flowers were mulched with well rotted manure. In removing the mulch this week only a part of the material was taken away. The remainder will be gently worked into the soil. The gardeners at the farm use forks and take every precaution not to injure the tender roots. They usually stir the mulch material into the surface to a depth of about two inches. Where the lateral roots are near the surface the ground is scratched lightly.

Roses Out of Hiding.

This week the gardeners also uncovered the hybrid tea roses. Last fall they were covered with soil and leaves to protect the plants during winter. The plants were first banked with one foot of soil, then covered with a six inch layer of leaves raked from the lawn nearby. Coarse manure and straw also are used for mulching. The soil will be left around the plants for at least another two weeks. The wood is alive below the surface of the soil and dead above it. If dirt is removed too early the rose bushes are exposed to injury from late freezes. After the leaves were removed the dead wood above the surface of the soil was cut off.

Many gardeners in this region lose their hybrid tea roses because they fail to protect them. The plan of protecting the roses with dirt and leaves has been successfully followed for several winters in the Wheaton farm garden. Where the rose bushes die back each winter, a fresh start must be made in the spring, and the blossoms are not as satisfactory as where they are produced by well established plants that are protected and kept in the same place year after year.

Perpetual Roses Pruned.

Hybrid perpetual roses are hardy and are brought through the winter safely under a mulching of leaves and no soil above the surface. Yesterday the four inch layer of leaves was raked away from the bushes and the dead wood pruned out to give them a chance to make an early start.

The head gardener finds spring the best time to thin delphinium plants. He has some to thin this spring as soon as the frost goes out of the ground.

WILENTZ HOLDS N. Y. CONFERENCE WITH DR. CONDON

Visits Home for Hour; Both Silent on Talk.

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Affecting an air of deep mystery, David T. Wilentz, New Jersey attorney general who convicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann of the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby, today paid an unexpected visit to the home of Dr. John F. Condon, ransom negotiator.

The two conferred for about an hour and afterward declined to reveal what had taken place. Wilentz waved questions aside with the statement: "I don't want to talk about it."

Condon Parries Question.

Dr. Condon parried questions by affecting good natured interest in the state of health of the reporters and photographers who flocked to the scene when told of the conference.

Meanwhile in Trenton, N. J., Gov. Harold G. Hoffman revealed he had been trying "indirectly" to arrange a conference with Dr. Condon in New York City regarding the latter's testimony, which aided in the conviction of Hauptmann.

"It would not be a social visit and I want a stenographic transcript made, if I can see Dr. Condon," the governor said.

Hoffman Insists on Record.

The governor said that if Wilentz and Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck of Hunterdon county saw Dr. Condon he would like to be present also, but insisted that "a chat would be of no value unless a record is taken."

A piece of wood assertedly trimmed off a ladder made for Hauptmann by Abraham Samuelson, Bronx cabinet maker, was in the governor's hands today.

"Samuelson told me," Gov. Hoffman said, "that the state police brought him to New Jersey and showed him the ladder. But he said there were two pieces in it that never came from his shop. When he said that, he added, they sent him back to New York and told him to keep his mouth shut.

Cites Carpenter's Story.

"If Samuelson's story is true, one of the things I wonder about is why he was not called as a witness. It would upset the state's theory that the wood came from the Hauptmann attic and that it was a one man job.

"Dr. Condon denied on the stand that he knew Samuelson, yet Samuelson says Condon has known him for years."

The governor related that Samuelson told him Hauptmann ordered the ladder made, but that the other men came for it, examined it and directed that certain changes be made on it. When his additional work was done the two men took the ladder away, he said.

UNOCCUPIED CAR WRECKED WHEN IT STRIKES TRAIN

A group of Hinsdale residents stood at the Washington street crossing of the Burlington railroad last night, waiting for a fast westbound passenger train to pass. As the train roared by they saw an automobile roll down the incline at the crossing. It struck one of the last cars in the train and was thrown onto the eastbound tracks.

The spectators rushed to the wreckage and found the car unoccupied. A garage owner was notified, and Harold Ulrich, 22 years old, hooked his tow truck to the demolished car at the moment that the headlight of another train came into view from the west. The spectators gasped, but Ulrich tugged the wreck off the track as the eastbound passenger train sped by.

The automobile had a La Grange Park vehicle license, issued to John Brill, who lives at St. Joseph's college, Ogden avenue and Gilbert street, in the suburb.

CROSS TORTURE FAKE, OFFICERS SAY AFTER QUIZ

Ocala, Fla., March 19.—[Special.]—Police today said that George Timmerman, 39, found yesterday nailed to a wooden cross near here, had faked the torture.

James H. White, an acquaintance who found Timmerman nailed to the cross with his lips sewed shut, was held in jail for further questioning.

Timmerman, unemployed bricklayer who worked until recently on the cross-Florida ship canal, said a gang of men overpowered him yesterday and nailed him to the cross.

He held to that story during questioning in a hospital today, although Police Chief J. H. Spencer said he was seeking either notoriety or sympathy.

Take Pluto Water For CONSTIPATION LIVER AND GALL BLADDER TROUBLES

Constipation, liver, gall bladder troubles do come together—often when you're constipated, biliary drainage is not normal either. So ordinary laxatives temporarily relieving constipation still leave you feeling terrible. But Pluto Water (with amazing double action) helps all these troubles at same time. Gives a sure, gentle flush in an hour or less. Stimulates gall bladder, liver to normal, "free flowing" action. So relief is quick, thorough. For years, over 50,000 doctors have used or recommended Pluto. So do as doctors do when dull, listless from constipation, liver or gall bladder troubles. Take the tasteless non-habit-forming dose—1/5 Pluto, 4/5 glass hot water. Two hundred million bottles of Pluto have been used. The safest, most economical relief. 25c and 50c at all drug stores.

HUSBAND HELD WITH YOUTH IN WIFE'S SLAYING

Accused of Plotting Fake Holdup.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—(AP)—The story of a faked holdup, during which Mrs. Ethel Whittaker, 44, was slain, caused her 60 year old husband and a young Kentucky transient to be booked today on suspicion of murder.

Detective Lieutenant Thad Brown said three insurance policies on Mrs. Whittaker's life, paying $18,000 double indemnity in case of violent death, named her husband, Samuel Whittaker, retired organist, as the chief beneficiary.

Youth Tells of $100 Offer.

James Fagan Culver, 23, transient from Henderson, Ky., testified at an inquest that Whittaker offered him $100 to fake the holdup at the Whittaker apartment early Tuesday morning.

During it, Culver said, Whittaker shot him three times in the arm, causing him to fire involuntarily at Mrs. Whittaker with a pistol her husband allegedly bought for Culver.

Whittaker denied Culver's story of a faked holdup, but admitted firing six times at Culver. Four bullet wounds were found in Mrs. Whittaker's body. Police said Culver's pistol had been fired only three times.

Indictments to Be Sought.

The coroner's jury found Mrs. Whittaker's wounds were inflicted either by Culver or Whittaker or by both. Deputy District Attorney O. R. Emerson said the grand jury will be asked next Tuesday to indict both men for murder.

Culver testified Whittaker arranged for him to hide in the Whittaker apartment while they were out and to stage the "holdup" on their return.

Whittaker admitted having given Culver "$35 or $40" for food and room rent, saying he "felt sorry" for the youth.

Two Tell of Meeting.

Both testified they first met in January when Culver "bummed" Whittaker for the price of a meal.

Culver testified Whittaker provided him with a room in a building next door to the Whittaker apartment building and later told him how to get across the roof.

Whittaker was taken into technical custody early today after Culver changed his original story and implicated Whittaker. In his first story Culver said he was shot by a man who fled from the scene of the killing.

Rioters in Spain Attack Prison; Kill Two Guards

MADRID, March 19.—(AP)—Extremists using machine guns attacked a prison at Lora Del Rio, province of Sevile, today and killed two prison officers in an attempt to liberate prisoners. One extremist was arrested and the others fled. Leftists wounded a rightist youth in a clash at San Lucar de Barrameda. In Osuna two professors and 15 students were arrested at an institute, charged with rioting and attacking guards.

EX-AID ACCUSES TOUHY AT MAIL ROBBERY TRIAL

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—[Special.]—Tommy Touhy helped plan the $78,000 Milwaukee station mail robbery here in 1933 and furnished one car used in the getaway, Leon Epmeier, former member of the Touhy gang, testified today in Touhy's trial in federal court.

Epmeier was brought to Minneapolis from McNeil Island prison as a government witness. He has pleaded guilty to a part in the holdup.

Under questioning by United States Attorney George F. Sullivan, Epmeier said he was directed by Touhy, his former chief, to take a plane to Minneapolis from Chicago in December, 1932, and meet Gus Schaeffer here.

The witness said Touhy came to Minneapolis Dec. 31, 1932, with James Ryan, Willie Sharkey, and Albert Kator. They talked about plans for the robbery at their hideout in a house rented by Mrs. Schaeffer, Frank McKee, and Schaeffer, Epmeier testified.

One of the robbers was identified as "Silent Jim" Ryan, a member of the gang.

Mrs. Jessie Touhy, blonde wife of the defendant, fainted as she left the courtroom yesterday and was absent from court today.

INJURIES FATAL TO MEAT DEALER.

SECOND 'TURNING TO STONE' CASE REPORTED HERE

The Mayo clinic case of a young woman whose skin is slowly hardening, or "turning to stone," yesterday brought to light a similar case at the Cook County hospital. Physicians there revealed that Miss Iona Swinnerton, 33 years old, of Elkhart, Ind., who has been a patient in the institution for the last six years, is now recovering from a malady described as hardening of the muscles due to calcium deposits.

Miss Swinnerton, who has been bedridden since becoming afflicted with the disease, has been able to get about the ward in a wheel chair for the last several months. Dr. Karl A. Meyer, medical superintendent of the county hospital, reported that each day shows improvement in the woman's condition.

The case of Miss Nona Cloyes, 21 years old, of Roy, Wash., who is suffering from hardening of the skin, was reported Monday at the Mayo Brothers' clinic in Rochester, Minn.

E. L. Cord Quits Hospital After Treatment for Cold

OVERDUE TAXES CALLED BAR TO PUBLIC CREDIT

Civic Federation Points to Gains Elsewhere.

Continued high delinquency in property tax payments is the greatest obstacle to complete restoration of the credit of the governments in Cook county, says the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency in the report of its third annual study of debts, taxes, and assessments in the county. The report, made public yesterday, declares that the local governments will face successive financial crises until there is a decided improvement in tax collections.

"Improvement in tax collections in other centers of population," the report says, 'is not reflected in Chicago, where improvement has been discouragingly slight."

$403,000,000 Now Overdue.

The survey stresses the importance of the cumulative tax delinquency situation, showing that as added delinquencies have been piled on preceding ones, year after year, the total of uncollected taxes has risen from $120,270,664 in February, 1932, to $439,437,932 last Jan. 31. On March 9 total cumulative uncollected taxes were $403,361,772, or approximately 25 per cent of taxes billed for the seven years from 1928 to 1934, inclusive.

The improvement between Jan. 31 and March 9 is attributed to a gain in 1934 real estate taxes collected, delinquencies in this classification falling from 57 per cent to about 34 per cent with the advent of the second penalty date. The report says that the gain in back tax collections from real estate, for which a special drive was made in February based on the inducement of reduced penalties, was "negligible."

Percentage Rise Is Small.

The following table, prepared from the report, shows the cumulative uncollected taxes on specified dates in the last four years, with the uncollected percentage of the total taxes on those dates:

As of	Uncollected taxes.	Percentage uncollected.
Feb. 29, 1932	$120,270,664	25.00
Jan. 17, 1933	225,890,967	29.32
Feb. 20, 1934	274,569,877	26.55
Jan. 15, 1935	313,104,607	25.00
Jan. 31, 1936	439,437,932	27.22

The report lists among the major causes of delinquencies the following: Tax bills in excess of ability of real property to pay; impossibility of literal enforcement of constitutional requirements that all personalty be taxed on the same basis as realty; unsettled tax collection procedure, which places no great penalty on delay and makes payment easier for the delinquent than the prompt taxpayer, and inclusion of illegal items in levies and rates.

Suggests Keeping Bills Low.

To correct these situations the bureau urges that tax bills be kept low [with the warning that the trend since 1933 is upward]; a constitutional amendment to allow a personal property tax roll which can be enforced; establishment of a definite and fixed policy of collections and adjustment of tax objections before taxes are billed.

"Apparently real estate tax collections, at their worst early in 1933, have slowly but steadily improved, while personalty tax collections have grown worse," the report says.

500 VICTIMS EYE BURGLARS' LOOT IN 1,000 CRIMES

More than 500 victims of burglaries within the last five years crowded into the Shakespeare avenue police station yesterday to identify more than $2,000 worth of jewelry seized after the arrest of Charles Novak, paroled New York convict.

Novak was arrested after a five mile chase over northwest side streets Sunday. He had robbed the apartment of John Brennemann at 5013 North Major avenue, and shot and seriously wounded Frederick G. Kaeding, 54 years old, 5011 North Major avenue, who tried to intercept his flight.

Novak confessed he had robbed more than 1,000 homes in Chicago since his release seven years ago from Elmira, N. Y., reformatory. He told police he had sold all his loot to Alex R. Junievicz, jeweler at 3317 South Halsted street, but jewelry was also taken for the police display from Novak's home, at 1032 West 48th street, and the home of Miss Mary avenue, with whom Novak had been living.

PAROLED CONVICT ADMITS THEFTS AND FORGERIES

Edgar G. Collier, 27 years old, who was paroled three months ago from the Pontiac reformatory, was arrested last night as he stepped from a stolen automobile at 1010 Chicago avenue, Evanston. He confessed that since his parole he has stolen six cars and committed five forgeries in Chicago, Evanston, and St. Louis.

Yesterday Collier went to the Lake Shore Motors company, a sales agency at the Chicago avenue address, and asked for a demonstration of an automobile. Suspicious of Collier's actions, a salesman notified Detectives Engstrom and Otto Brey, who stationed themselves at the sales agency. When Collier returned there he was seized with an automobile he had stolen several hours earlier at the Catalpa garage, 516 Keeney street, Evanston.

490,670 NAMES ADDED TO POLL BOOKS OF CITY

Official figures on last Tuesday's registration, made public yesterday, showed that 490,670 names were placed on the Chicago poll books during the day. This makes the total registration in Chicago 2,004,267. This figure will be reduced by at least 200,000 by the revision now in progress.

FAMILIES WAIT YEAR; LOSE HOPE IN LAND PROJECT

Pushed Into Background of Erosion Venture.

Dixon Springs, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Plans for transplanting 111 farm families from poor to good land have dropped into the background of what is now called the Dixon Springs pasture and erosion control demonstration project, it was learned today during a survey of the 11,000 acre tract purchased by the government.

These families are still living on the submarginal land from which they had expected to be moved by last spring, and their hopes are fading fast.

Resettlement administration maps on the walls of the headquarters building at Robbs, ten miles from here, show that 6,000 acres will be used for a huge pasture demonstration area, eventually to be turned over to the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Part to Be Reforested.

Another 500 acres will comprise a federal soil erosion experimental area, under the United States department of agriculture, and the remainder will be reforested and turned over to the United States forestry service.

Originally the project was started by the Illinois relief commission, and carried on in desultory fashion by the Illinois Rural Rehabilitation corporation, which was financed by federal relief funds.

Officials of these agencies contended that the 111 families would inevitably become relief cases unless they were moved to better land. Under the resettlement administration, this phase of the project is still in the talk stage.

Adjacent to National Forest.

Reached over rough roads, the project site is adjacent to the Shawnee National forest. However, the jouncing ride has its compensations in the beauty of the "Illinois Ozarks" and the roads are now being graded by project workers.

Most of the farmers of this poor land are getting immediate benefit from the program by being employed at $40 a month with 200 WPA workers at grading roads, building fences, and terracing the partly eroded hillsides. A CCC camp near by is furnishing 300 workers, and together they and the WPA workers have put six miles of roads in reasonably good condition.

M. E. Ensminger, the project manager, proudly pointed to examples of the terracing work, five miles of which has been completed.

WPA CAMPAIGN FUND QUIZ OPENS ON TWO FRONTS

Penalty of Dismissal Cited by Burke.

The alleged solicitation of campaign donations from workers and contractors paid with federal work relief funds in Illinois yesterday brought promises of action from Ralph Burke, deputy state administrator for the Works Progress administration, and United States Senator William H. Dieterich. It has been charged that the campaign chests of both Gov. Horner and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, have benefited from such donations.

Mr. Burke, just returned from Washington, was told of statements attributed to two WPA officials in the Peoria district, that "unless nonrelief supervisors support Dr. Bundesen's candidacy, they will be removed from their jobs."

Cites Dismissal Penalty.

"I will dig into that right away," Burke said. "They had no right to say anything like that. Immediate dismissal is the penalty for coercive political activity on the part of officials or workers.

"Of course, it's natural for some of the fellows to feel that the interests of the WPA program would best be served by the election of some one supporting the program. They remember that Horner has attacked the program on several occasions."

Later Mr. Burke issued a written statement reviewing the latest Washington order, which provides dismissal for any WPA employé who solicits political contributions.

"The fact that those on the WPA staf and assignment are bound by these clear regulations and subject to punishment if they violate them does not mean they are robbed of their opportunity to express an interest, or take an active part, in the campaigns by which citizens may freely express their opinion and register their preferences.

"I do not propose to discipline members of the staf for expressing their preferences and opinions so long as they do so under the same limitations and responsibility as do other citizens."

Senator Dieterich said he would request the department of justice to investigate the solicitation of Horner campaign donations from contractors doing work for the Illinois highway department financed by federal funds. However, he will not do this until after the primary election, he said, because "I do not want my motive subject to challenge in the heat of the campaign."

Admits Soliciting Funds.

The governor's campaign manager, F. Lynden Smith, who is also business manager of the Illinois highway department, last week admitted soliciting contractors for contributions. About $24,000,000 of the $37,670,000 the state has had available for road work since last July, came as federal grants.

"Without any research into the law," Senator Dieterich declared, "I can say that for a contractor to donate to any campaign from money earned on a federal relief job is a diversion of funds intended for the needy.

"To say that such donations are voluntary is an insult to intelligence. To say that these donations will not influence the award of contracts is another insult."

OPEN PRICES, BAN ON UNFAIR METHODS ASKED

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—Open prices throughout industry and legislation to ban 11 "unfair" trade practices were recommended today by George L. Berry's industrial council.

"Open price reporting for the protection of both buyers and sellers should be permitted and sponsored by the government," the council said in a report to President Roosevelt. "Competition should express itself openly and fairly, and not in secret nor discriminatory form."

The trade practices which the council recommended banning were:

Employment of workers at less than prevailing wages or for more than prevailing hours in the industry concerned; sales below cost "when for the purpose of misleading the public or injuring a competitor; loss leader transactions; circulation of false or misleading information; secret or open rebates; defamation of a competitor; payment of unearned allowances and giving special services; inducing breach of contract; misbranding; price discriminations which bear "no reasonable relation to savings in selling, manufacturing or transportation costs," and promoting sales by selling, buying, or exchanging other commodities below market price.

Mexican Insurgents Kill Socialist Teacher in Raid

MEXICO CITY, March 19.—(AP)—Dispatches from Puebla reported today that a group of insurgents had attacked the town of Zacatlan and killed a socialist school teacher with pistols and marchetes. Afterward the insurgents sacked stores and homes, the dispatches said, and fled when troops approached. The teacher was the seventh to be killed in Puebla this month. Unconfirmed reports from Villa Vallarta in Jalisco declared that police had fired on Catholic women staging a demonstration in front of the Municipal building and had wounded several of them.

This time of year you need good general resistance!

The end of winter is a bad time for common, winter ills. That's when they affect you most and are hardest to get rid of.

One reason is that during the past months of rigorous weather, of hard work, of too little exercise and sunshine, you've probably been using up your reserve forces. At the season's end, your general resistance may be low.

But that doesn't mean you must resign yourself to the discomfort of winter ills. Do all you can right away to build up your general resistance. Start with Adex.

From Adex you will get plenty of Vitamin A, which contributes to good general resistance. You will also get extra Vitamin D to help make up for lack of sunshine at this season.

Taken every day, Adex will help protect you against winter ills.

Now at any reliable drug store. E. R. Squibb & Sons, manufacturing chemists to the medical profession since 1858.

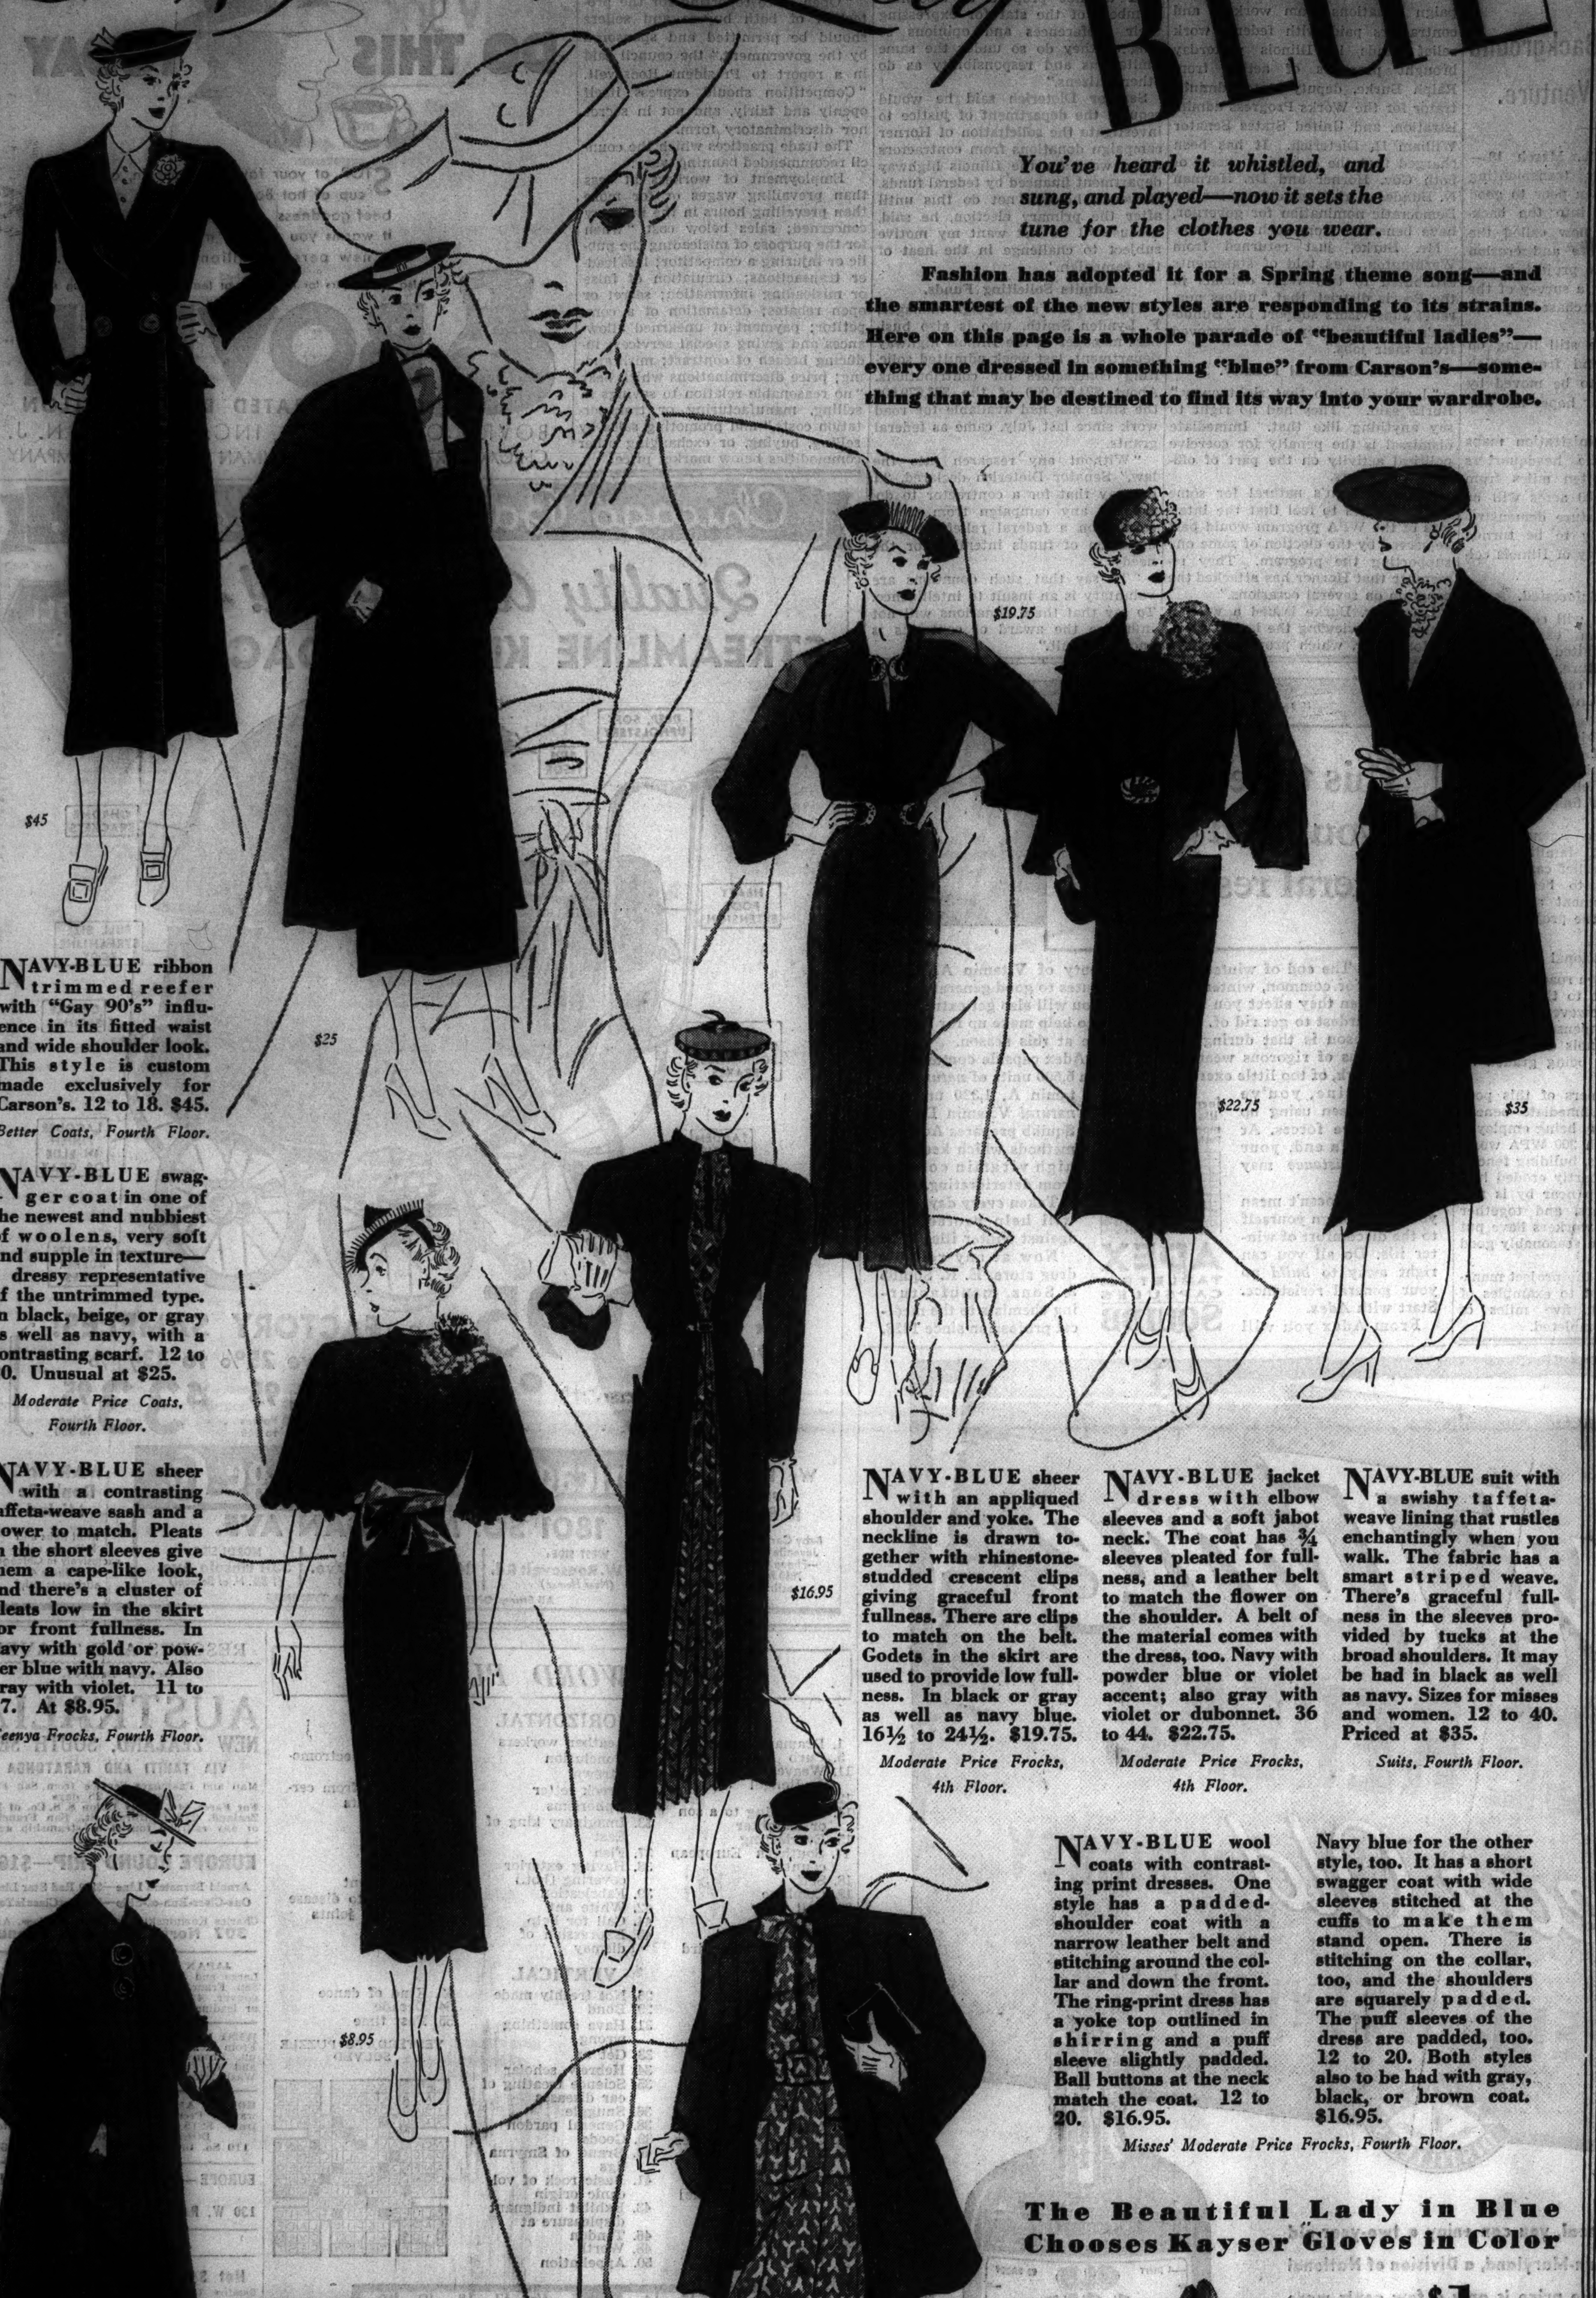
"Beautiful Lady IN BLUE"

You've heard it whistled, and sung, and played—now it sets the tune for the clothes you wear.

Fashion has adopted it for a Spring theme song—and the smartest of the new styles are responding to its strains. Here on this page is a whole parade of "beautiful ladies"—every one dressed in something "blue" from Carson's—something that may be destined to find its way into your wardrobe.



NAVY-BLUE ribbon trimmed reefer with "Gay 90's" influence in its fitted waist and wide shoulder look. This style is custom made exclusively for Carson's. 12 to 18. $45.

Better Coats, Fourth Floor.

NAVY-BLUE swagger coat in one of the newest and nubbiest of woolens, very soft and supple in texture—a dressy representative of the untrimmed type. In black, beige, or gray as well as navy, with a contrasting scarf. 12 to 20. Unusual at $25.

Moderate Price Coats, Fourth Floor.

NAVY-BLUE sheer with a contrasting taffeta-weave sash and a flower to match. Pleats in the short sleeves give them a cape-like look, and there's a cluster of pleats low in the skirt for front fullness. In navy with gold or powder blue with navy. Also gray with violet. 11 to 17. At $8.95.

Teenya Frocks, Fourth Floor.

NAVY-BLUE sheer with an appliqued shoulder and yoke. The neckline is drawn together with rhinestone-studded crescent clips giving graceful front fullness. There are clips to match on the belt. Godets in the skirt are used to provide low fullness. In black or gray as well as navy blue. 16½ to 24½. $19.75.

Moderate Price Frocks, 4th Floor.

NAVY-BLUE jacket dress with elbow sleeves and a soft jabot neck. The coat has ¾ sleeves pleated for fullness, and a leather belt to match the flower on the shoulder. A belt of the material comes with the dress, too. Navy with powder blue or violet accent; also gray with violet or dubonnet. 36 to 44. $22.75.

Moderate Price Frocks, 4th Floor.

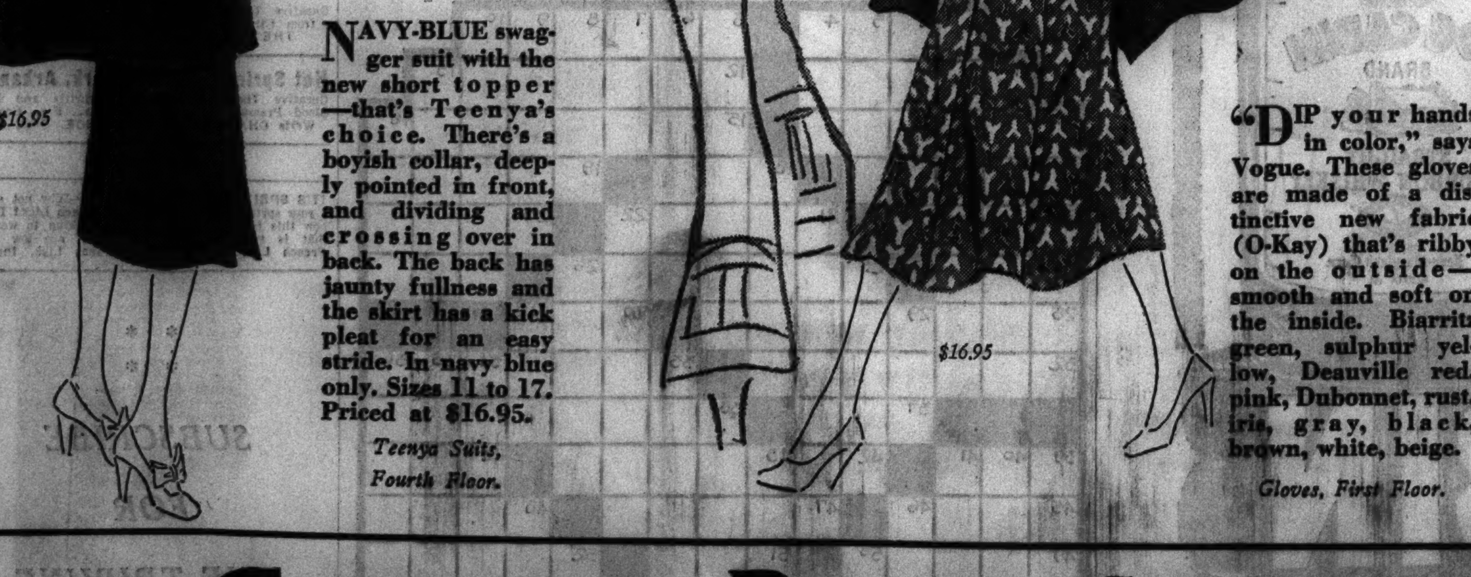
NAVY-BLUE suit with a swishy taffeta-weave lining that rustles enchantingly when you walk. The fabric has a smart striped weave. There's graceful fullness in the sleeves provided by tucks at the broad shoulders. It may be had in black as well as navy. Sizes for misses and women. 12 to 40. Priced at $35.

Suits, Fourth Floor.

NAVY-BLUE wool coats with contrasting print dresses. One style has a padded-shoulder coat with a narrow leather belt and stitching around the collar and down the front. The ring-print dress has a yoke top outlined in shirring and a puff sleeve slightly padded. Ball buttons at the neck match the coat. 12 to 20. $16.95.

Navy blue for the other style, too. It has a short swagger coat with wide sleeves stitched at the cuffs to make them stand open. There is stitching on the collar, too, and the shoulders are squarely padded. The puff sleeves of the dress are padded, too. 12 to 20. Both styles also to be had with gray, black, or brown coat. $16.95.

Misses' Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

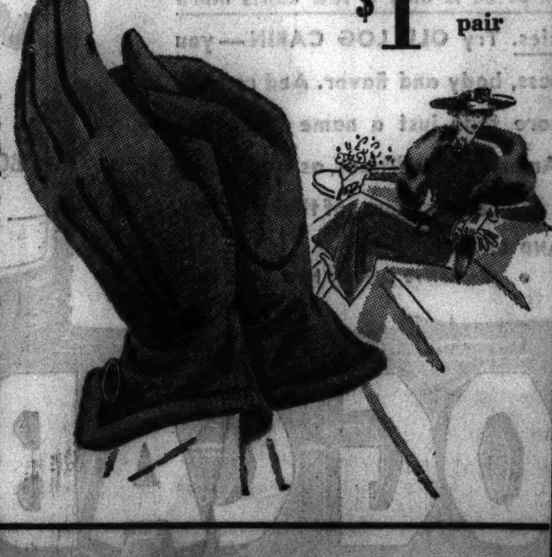


NAVY-BLUE swagger suit with the new short topper—that's Teenya's choice. There's a boyish collar, deeply pointed in front, and dividing and crossing over in back. The back has jaunty fullness and the skirt has a kick pleat for an easy stride. In navy blue only. Sizes 11 to 17. Priced at $16.95.

Teenya Suits, Fourth Floor.

The Beautiful Lady in Blue Chooses Kayser Gloves in Color

$1 pair



"DIP your hands in color," says Vogue. These gloves are made of a distinctive new fabric (O-Kay) that's ribby on the outside—smooth and soft on the inside. Biarritz green, sulphur yellow, Deauville red, pink, Dubonnet, rust, iris, gray, black, brown, white, beige.

Gloves, First Floor.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co

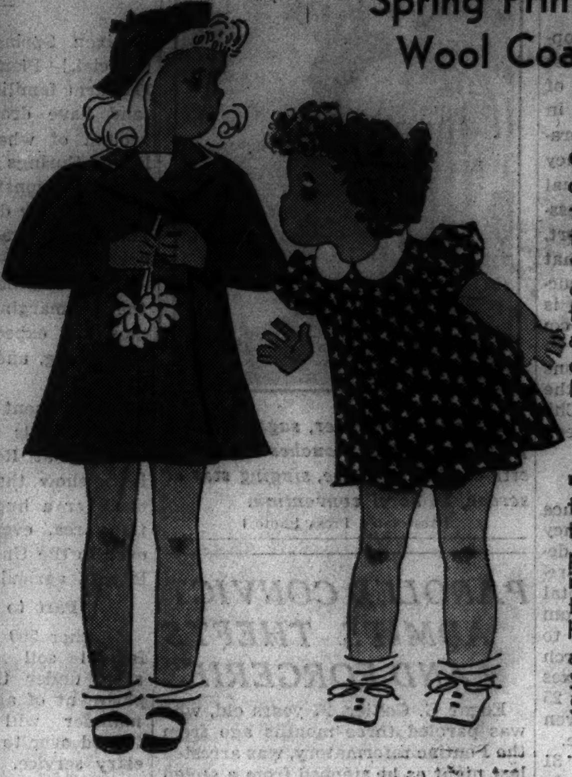
THROUGH THE AGES YOUNG FASHIONS FROM CARSON'S

Spring Print Frock, $1.95
Wool Coat Set, $8.95



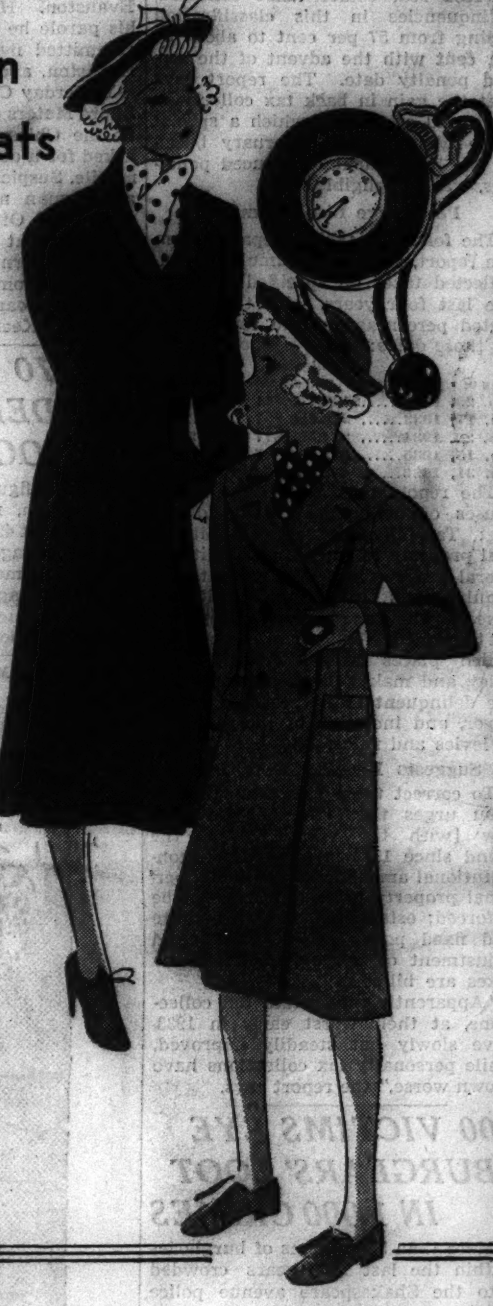
Specially designed for Carson's Baby Shop, and one of many other dressy little frocks, this gay print for "2's to 6's" will save Mother many washings. Red cherry buttons go down the front, and a detachable collar of white crepe adds a fresh look. Cut Princess style. Sketched at right. Navy only. $1.95.

Smart as a Guardsman's uniform, this girl's coat is cut to fit beautifully. The waist tapers, the skirt flares in approved princess style, and there is a tiny band of pique under the collar. The matching softy hat may be perched at a jaunty angle. Copen blue, raisin brown. Sizes 3 to 6X. Sketched at left. $8.95.

Baby Shop, Third Floor.

The "Watch in the Pocket" Coats OF Stunning Shetland-Type Tweeds

$16.95

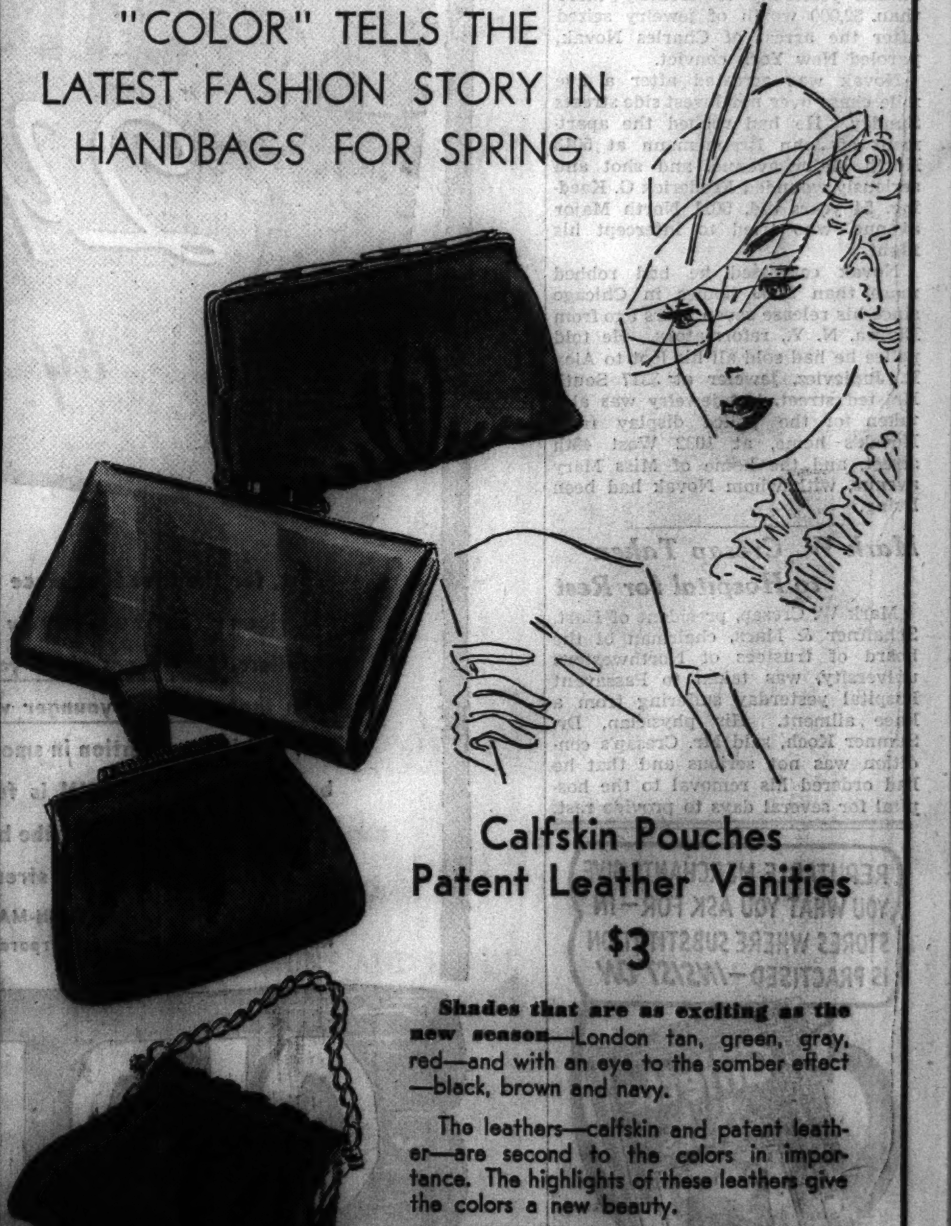


Sizes 10 to 16 may take this smart reefer coat, tailored to fit exactly at the waist but with a casual flare to the skirt and broadness to the shoulders. And in the small pocket just below the lapel lies a perfect little watch, the newest grownup style that has been taken right over by the girls. Of Shetland-type tweed in navy, Cadet blue, London tan. $16.95.

Sizes 7 to 12 may choose this smart young girls' coat with a princess flare to its skirt and smart double breasted front. A matching softy hat comes with it, to say nothing of the lapel watch handsomely encased in colored simulated leather and with a braided fob cord. Coat comes in navy or West Point blue. $16.95.

Girls' Room, Fifth Floor.

"COLOR" TELLS THE LATEST FASHION STORY IN HANDBAGS FOR SPRING



Calfskin Pouches
Patent Leather Vanities
$3

Shades that are as exciting as the new season—London tan, green, gray, red—and with an eye to the somber effect—black, brown and navy.

The leathers—calfskin and patent leather—are second to the colors in importance. The highlights of these leathers give the colors a new beauty.

The styles are close competitors in importance—pouches and vanities. All colors in this group, but not in every style.

Annual Prom at Princeton to Be Tonight

Chicago Girls Are Guests at Gay Week-End.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THAT glamorous party, the Princeton prom, is being given this week-end at Princeton university, and those lucky young women from all over the country who have received invitations are gathering in the university center today, prepared for two days of gay merrymaking. A large number of girls from Chicago and the suburbs have gone from home, or from their schools or colleges, to join their hosts at Princeton for the events of today and tomorrow.

Heading the list of these fortunates is the name of Miss Nancy Poole, for she is being escorted by a member of the prom committee, Oliver De Gray Vanderbilt III. of Madeira, O. Miss Poole, who will be a debutante next season, is the younger daughter of the Ralph H. Pooles of Lake Forest, and she is a student at Sarah Lawrence.

Although an invitation to a prom would seem to mean that the festivities are limited to a dance, this is not true of Princeton, where two days and nights are crammed full of entertainment for the students and their feminine guests. The forty-eighth annual Princeton junior promenade, to give the party its proper title, promises to be as gay and entertaining as the forty-seven that have preceded it.

The prom committee has obtained a prominent orchestra to delight the dancers at tonight's ball, which will last from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock, and another orchestra will play for tomorrow night's dance, which will last only from 9 o'clock until midnight.

Elaborate entertainment and still another orchestra have been provided for the supper hour tonight, and, as if this were not enough entertainment, the Théâtre Intime, undergraduate dramatic organization, is presenting "Talk of the Town" both tonight and tomorrow night at the Murray theater. The play, a farce dealing with the problems of the Princeton club system, was written jointly by three undergraduates, all members of the Princeton Triangle club. The authors are Berkeley T. Rulon-Miller of Baltimore, William H. Borden of Rumson, N. J., and George R. Cooke Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.

Rugby Match Will Be Played Tomorrow.

Variety in the week-end program is provided by a Rugby match tomorrow afternoon between the Princeton Rugby team and the French Rugby team of New York. Also the various clubs on the campus have planned tea-dances for the afternoon tomorrow, and, of course, there will be an endless round of dinner parties tonight and tomorrow preceding the dances.

It is interesting to note the transformation through which the prom at Princeton has passed in the years since the old commencement promenade when the seniors would bring their ladies fair down to the front of Old Nassau hall and parade around the historic green. Such functions date back to the closing of the eighteenth century.

The first official junior prom was given by the class of 1889. Since then much of the formality has been dropped in favor of simpler dances on two successive evenings. The grand march and the stiff decorations have been done away with, and in these days simple drapings of smilax are used to disguise the mammoth gymnasium as a garland bedecked ballroom.

Virginia Ashcraft Guest of Fiance.

One of Princeton's happiest guests is Miss Virginia Ashcraft, who will Viewpoint— Salutations— Phenomenon.

MEETING a friend emerging from a fashionable beauty shop, fresh from the hands of the masseuse and the facial operator, her hair in shining waves, and wearing a new spring costume, we took a new hold on the wire haired terriers, buttoned our old tweeds defiantly around our neck, and murmured that we believed, with Mrs. Guy Murchie's Bostonian aunt, that it was insincere of a woman to look anything but her worst.

FOR the Felicitous Titles contest, how about Hazel Cronin's piece on Napoleon called "Short Nap"?

* *

THAT you have to use your head as well as your hand in present day Germany, in official circles at least, is apparent from Janet Flanner's description of Nazi greeting salutations in the current New Yorker. The latest civilian rulings she quotes as follows:

"Between people of the same station it is correct to bend the right arm at the elbow to an upward angle so that the palm shows. Then say, 'Heil Hitler!' . . . To people distant in the street, lifting the hand is enough, though for personal greetings in a room 'Heil Hitler!' should definitly be added. Should you meet some one who through social or other circumstances is not of your rank, then don't bend the right arm but stretch it out straight on a level with your eyes, at the same time saying, 'Heil Hitler!' Always heil with the left arm if you are leading a lady with your right."

And Miss Flanner goes on to say that as most German aristocrats still click their heels, kiss the ladies' hands, and, if in uniform, add the old-fashioned military salute, these, plus the Nazi arm flinging, make modern German salutations fairly acrobatic affairs."

We suggest a German salutation chorus number for the next musical revue.

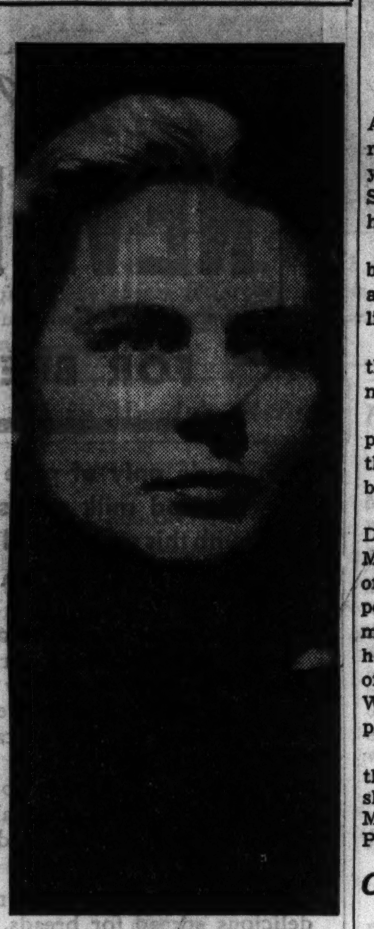
* *

WHEN some one used the word "phenomenon" Arthur Farwell was reminded of the tale of the Negro preacher who, when he was appointed to a church, used all the long words he had learned at theological school on every possible occasion. One day one of his parishioners told him that, while his sermons were very good, he was unable to understand many of the words he used.

"Now what's a phenomenon?" the parishioner asked.

"Well, ef you see a cow eating thistles, that's not a phenomenon," explained the preacher. "An' ef you see a bird sitting on a bough and singin'—that's not a phenomenon. But ef you see a cow sittin' on a thistle and singing—that's a phenomenon."

Ball Sweetheart



[Paul Stone-Raymor Photo.]

Miss Jeanne F. Stolte, University of Chicago co-ed from Hammond, Ind., has been chosen by the University of Chicago chapter of Sigma Chi as the "sweetheart" of the annual ball to be held tonight at the Saddle and Cycle club. The Northwestern university and Chicago alumni are joining in the dance. Miss Stolte will be escorted by Walter F. Montgomery Jr.

Bride of 9 Days Divorces Harry Mount, Film Writer

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—[Special.]—His bride of nine days accused Harry Clay Mount Jr., actor-writer, of boasting of another woman. The bride, Viola Louise Mount, movie dancer, won a divorce here today.

Radio Singer Meets Swedish Liner; Garbo Does Not Arrive

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Allan Wagner, a radio singer of Corona, Queens, carrying a bouquet of yellow tea roses, met the incoming Swedish-American liner Drottningholm down the bay today.

The roses were for Greta Garbo, but Miss Garbo was not on the ship, although everybody insisted on believing for hours that she was.

Mr. Wagner said he would take the roses home and give them to his mother.

Nineteen reporters and photographers, who searched more thoroughly than Mr. Wagner did, bore up much better in the face of her absence.

Torsten Floden, reporter on the Daily News of Stockholm, said that Miss Garbo walked around the streets of Stockholm undisguised, and while people looked at her they didn't make much of a fuss about it. Miss Garbo, he said, was being taken up by all of Swedish society, and the Countess Wachtmeister is her inseparable companion.

Ship's officers passed on the rumor that the actress was on the steamship Amerika, which left Copenhagen March 9 for California by way of the Panama canal.

Crosby Invited to Sing on Stokowski Program

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—(AP)—Bing Crosby may go highbrow in music this summer. Reports that Crosby has been asked to appear at the Hollywood Bowl, in June, on a program conducted by the celebrated Leopold Stokowski, were confirmed today by his brother and business manager, Larry Crosby.

Two Orchestra Figures Mark 'Liberty' Date

Concert on Anniversary of Red Escape.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

On March 19, 1921, a Russian cellist and a violinist, both of extraordinary attainments, fled their disordered country to see what fortune had in store for them in the western world. The goddess was kind. Gregor Piatigorsky and Mischa Mischakoff rose in their profession like corks in water. Last night, on the fifteenth anniversary of their hegira, the two men appeared together on the stage of Orchestra hall, the first as soloist at the twenty-third concert, the second as concertmeister of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Piatigorsky made a public announcement of the significance of the date for himself and Mischakoff; the two men then played a Handel Passacaglia for cello and violin in memory of their unforgotten days together in stricken Russia. A tempest of cheers and bravos blew through the house at its conclusion.

◆

But all this happened about 10:30. The program that filled the evening proper began with a Bach suite and went from that into Strauss' "Don Quixote." Piatigorsky played the solo cello parts that occur in the course of the tone poem and Clarence Evans, principal viola of the orchestra, those assigned to that instrument alone.

After the intermission came the Saint-Saëns Concerto in A Minor, with Piatigorsky's eloquent cello and the subdued and sympathetic choirs of the Chicago Symphony orchestra making much of its unassuming poetry. Despite this quality of the work, the soloist has a clever way of choosing some likely phrase, and, by the sheer fervency of his delivery, giving it an importance—even a portentousness—that reveals the flair for good showmanship which, added to three or four other endowments of great consequence, accounts for the man's position in the world of music today.

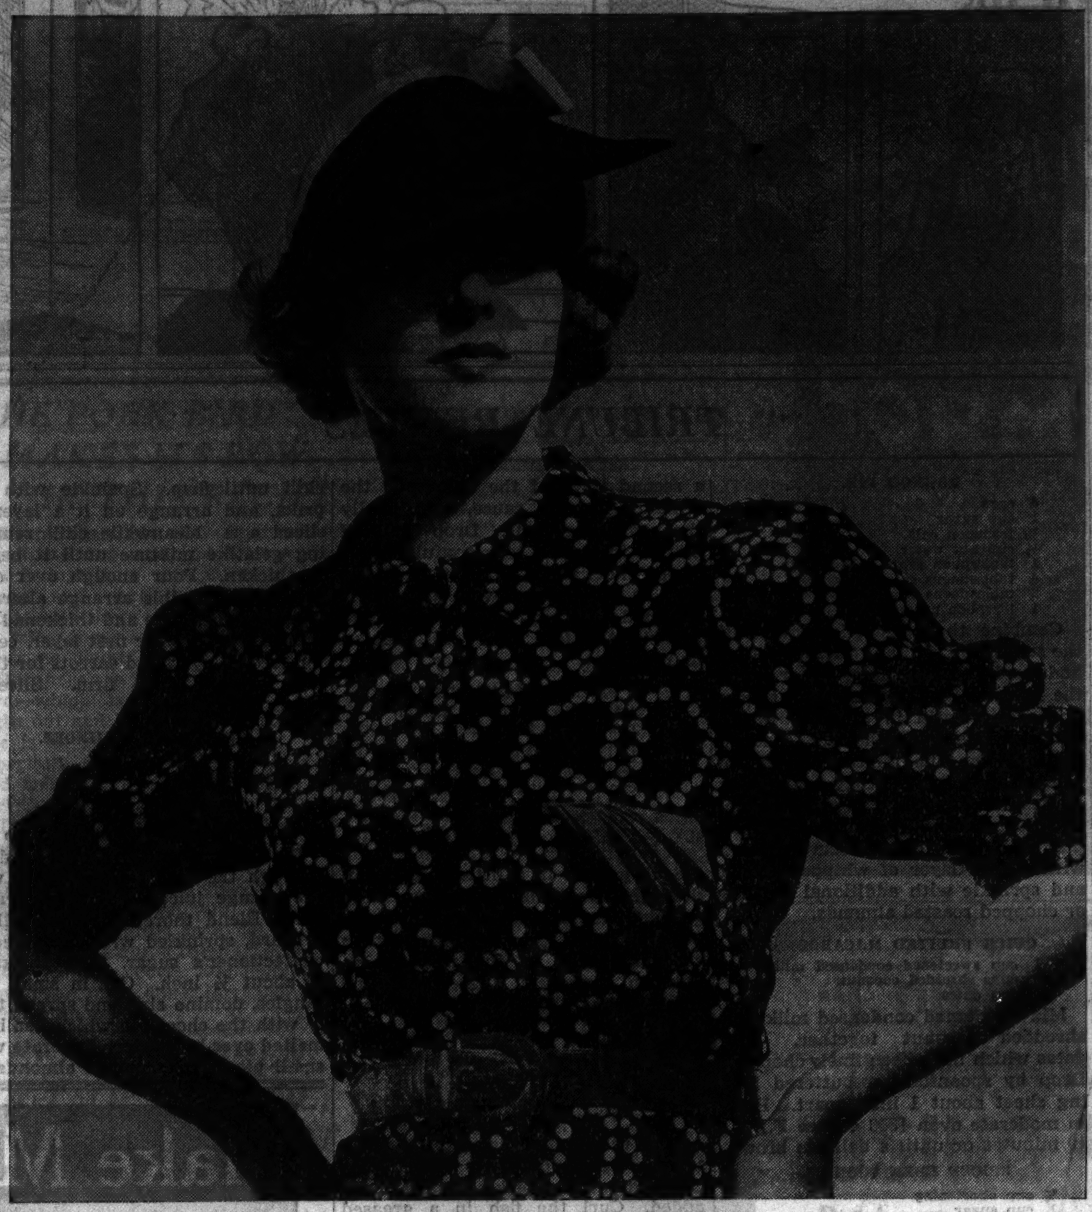
Piatigorsky's tone is as easy to describe as September sunlight. It is good to fall back on Lawrence Gilman's remark about his instrument: "It sings like a morning star encased in wood."

On the other hand, one must admit that the cellist sometimes forces his tone. The argument as to whether this is legitimate or not leads so inevitably to that ancient quarrel about the relative values of classical beauty and expressive power that the point had better be left for your projected text book of esthetics.

Liszt's "Tasso," with its splendid opportunities to listen to the orchestra's brass section and applaud its brilliance and trueness, was slipped in before the concerto. The reason for the change in the scheduled program was not announced at the time, although Dr. Stock asked the audience's permission to make it.

The explanation came later when the Piatigorsky-Mischakoff anniversary business followed the Saint-Saëns and found the soloist on the stage, whither he had returned three or four times already to bow his acknowledgments.

Why Dots Are Different This Spring



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop: Spanking white dots in circle formation make this printed silk two-piece dress different from the usual black and white dotted affairs of former springs. A bright red suede belt matched to the same red tint in the chest pocket handkerchief is the only color contrast. The sleeves are puffed and short. White bow and cross band trim the shovel brim smart black hat. Both from the same shop.

Margaret Sullavan Fractures Right Arm in Fall at Studio

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—[Special.]—Margaret Sullavan, film star, tripped over a light cable on the set of "Hotel Imperial" at Paramount studio today and fell. Her right arm was fractured. She was removed to Cedars of Lebanon hospital. The film will be delayed for the third time, having been twice postponed during walkouts by Marlene Dietrich, who finally was replaced by Miss Sullavan.

False Fronts for Suits Aid Style Budget

Permit Great Variety of Blouse Effect.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Since every one wears a suit for a great share of a spring day the neckwear designers have come out of their huddle and the results are some of the best fake fronts and tricky jabot, blouselike creations that have been unpacked in seasons. The best models are sleeveless. Some spread about twelve inches across the chest and are just long enough to be anchored securely under the band of the suit skirt. These "foolers" have the frills and high collarlines usually found on sheer lingerie blouses.

With a very limited clothes allowance you can still dress with a suit and one of those exquisitely sheer foamy frills down the front and own a half a dozen others without going without lunch to pay for the loot.

All kinds of sheer white materials are available, some striped and some dotted, but all as thin as a cobweb.

But the big surprise—and maybe you think they are not going out fast—are the pale gray numbers. Not a drab gray but lovely dove gray tones, light enough for any suit—even a pale gray suit. Most of them have knife plaited center frills of the same material, some have tucks, and some have huge circular chous right under the chin. Some are just the front. You can find more gray things with short sleeves and waists without sleeves than you thought possible.

◆

Fine handwork makes other tailored vests or guimpes exceptionally good for the suit owners . . . sort of grown up bib arrangements, with rows of fagoting, fine tucks, and lace insertions for decoration. You'll like the high neckline numbers with a very narrow turnover collar and a neatly tied dress bow of the material. These are made of very fine piqué, linen, and sheer organdy.

Fashion photograph . . . always good, always effective as the contrast for a plain dark coat is the printed silk dress. This spring the dresses feature small scatter dots as in the model illustrated. This black and white print is made in slim tailored lines, with a vivid scarlet suede belt at the waistline. The neckline is high and the sleeves are short to accent the colored gloves you wear to match the belt.

SURVEY OF FOOD PRICES SHOWS UPWARD TREND

Week-end Costs Lowered on Some Greens.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Few important changes in food prices were found in a survey of retail stores in Chicago and the suburbs yesterday, but there is a tendency for many retail and wholesale foods to go higher.

In general throughout the retail shopping districts merchants have cut the price of eggs from 1 to 4 cents a dozen. The lower grades of coffee are being offered at bargain prices. California oranges are lower in price.

To attract week-end shoppers some retailers are offering head lettuce, green beans, lemons, radishes and dry onions at prices slightly less than last week.

Butter and Tomatoes Up.

Butter will be found higher today and tomorrow in the city and suburban stores. Some are asking as much as 2 cents a pound more for butter this week than last. Fresh tomatoes are higher and the quality is generally poor.

Some stores have raised their prices on apples. This increase has been expected. Others have increased their prices on celery, green peas, cabbage and spinach.

On the wholesale fruit and vegetable market strawberries are higher. The best grade of Texas cabbage is up. Fresh peas, good grades of green beans and new Florida potatoes are higher. This is offset to some extent by lower prices on head lettuce, dry onions, carrots and spinach.

Lettuce Prices to Drop.

Market experts said lettuce was coming down because of heavy shipments from Arizona trucking areas. Fresh asparagus from California is improving in quality and is to be found in most retail stores. Most vegetables and fruits, excepting citrus fruits, coming from Florida have been damaged by recent rains. This accounts for higher prices on new Florida potatoes and strawberries. The rains also are responsible for inferior quality of tomatoes, beans and strawberries now coming into Chicago.

There are no significant changes in the retail prices of either fresh or cured meats. Some butcher shops have raised the prices slightly on leg of lamb, pork loin roast and higher grades of sirloin steaks since last week.

Many retail shops are featuring veal this week. The prices on most veal cuts are about 3 cents lower than this time last week. Lower grades of round steak are offered in some shops at about 4 cents a pound less than a week ago.

Wholesale Meats on Rise.

Down in Packingtown there is a general tendency for the price of live stock and wholesale fresh meats to swing upward. Fat lambs are bringing farmers about 15 cents a hundred pounds more than last week with the extreme top for this week reaching $10.40 a hundredweight. Fresh lamb jumped to approximately 50 cents a hundred above last week's prices.

Live hogs are bringing a little more. Market reporters quoted them steady to 10 cents higher, the top $10.85 a hundred pounds for the week. Wholesale pork cuts are steady to 50 cents a hundred higher.

Light steers and yearlings are 15 cents to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher than a week ago, the top reaching $11.35 a hundred this week. Medium weight beef steers are slightly lower. Veal calves and fresh veal prices are about the same as last week. Wholesale beef is steady to 50 cents a hundred more than a week ago.

Here Are the Best Cuts for Stews and Extractives

Because of the large amount of flavor extractives, these cuts are most desirable for making stews: neck, shank, heel of round, and chuck of beef, and the forequarter cuts of lamb.

TRIBUNE RECIPES

EGGNOG PIE.

4 eggs
1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup hot water
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
4 tablespoons cold water
2 tablespoons rum
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Combine the egg yolks with half the sugar, the salt, and the hot water, and cook over boiling water until the mixture coats the stirring spoon. Soak the gelatin in the cold water, and combine with the hot custard. Cool. When the mixture begins to congeal, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, the remaining sugar, the rum, and the nutmeg. Turn into a baked pie shell, and chill. Serve spread with a thin layer of whipped cream and sprinkle with additional nutmeg or chopped roasted almonds.

QUICK FRUITED MACAROONS.

1 cup sweetened condensed milk
2 cups shredded coconut
1 cup dates

Mix sweetened condensed milk and shredded coconut together. Add dates which have been finely chopped. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered baking sheet about 1 inch apart. Bake in moderate oven [350 degree F.] for 10 minutes or until a delicate brown.

SPICED EDEN COOKIES.

⅓ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup thick, unsweetened applesauce

Cream the shortening and add the sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Whip in the unbeaten egg. Mix the flour with the other dry ingredients and add a third of the mixture to the first mixture. Next beat in half the applesauce, follow with a second third of the flour, add the remaining apple sauce, and finally the remaining flour. Drop the stiff batter in small teaspoonfuls on a cookie sheet about 2 inches apart and bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned. Remove the cookies from the sheet before they cool. About four dozen.

SALMON SALAD LOAF.

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 bouillon cube
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup mayonnaise
1 cup salmon flaked
½ cup celery, finely chopped
1 small green pepper, minced

Soak gelatin in a little cold water, then dissolve in boiling water. Add paprika, lemon juice, and cold water. Chill until it begins to thicken, then gradually beat in the mayonnaise. Fold in remaining ingredients and mould in loak pan. Chill until firm.

SWEET POTATO STUFFED HADDOCK.

4 or 5 pound haddock
2 cups mashed sweet potato
Salt, pepper
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles
1 No. 2 can peas

Stuff the cleaned fish with the seasoned sweet potato to which the chopped sweet pickles have been added. Curl the fish in a greased baking dish, and fill the center with the drained peas. Pour the liquor from the peas over all, and bake in a moderate oven for 45 to 60 minutes.

VEGETABLE ASPIC LOAF.

1 package gelatin aspic
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
3 hard cooked eggs, sliced
1 cup sliced
1 cup green peas
½ cup carrots, grated

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add cold water. Pour thin layer of aspic in bottom of a loaf pan and chill until firm. Sprinkle with paprika, and arrange on it a layer of sliced egs. Meanwhile chill remaining gelatine mixture until it begins to thicken. Pour enough over eggs to cover. On this arrange alternate layers of vegatable and thickened gelatin, using peas for first layer, celery for second layer, and carrots for third layer. Chill until firm. Slice to serve. Serves eight.

CHOCOLATE DOMINOES.

1 cup nut meat
½ cup figs
½ cup dates
1 tablespoon orange juice
Grated rind 1 orange
1 square unsweetened chocolate

Run the nut meats, figs, and dates through the food chopper. Mix with the orange juice and grated orange rind. Blend thoroughly and roll on a board, sprinkled with powdered or confectioner's sugar, to a thickness of about ½ inch. Cut in small rectangles, domino size, and spread thinly with the chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Decorate with small pieces of blanched almonds.

CHILDREN GIVEN AWAY; TWO MADE WARDS OF COURT

San Francisco, Cal., March 19.—(AP)—Two little children, given away by their poverty-stricken mother to strollers in a park, were made wards of Juvenile court today.

Referee Mary Kohler, after hearing the parents' stories of separation and financial stress, ordered the children transferred to neighboring San Mateo county, residence of the father, Marion E. Jones.

Mrs. Linda Jones, 22, admitted she sometimes had left "Sonny," 2, and Lois, 2½ months, until the early morning hours in her room while she went out with the man she would like to marry "if we can ever get together money for divorces."

Jones took the eldest child, Edna, 3, with him.

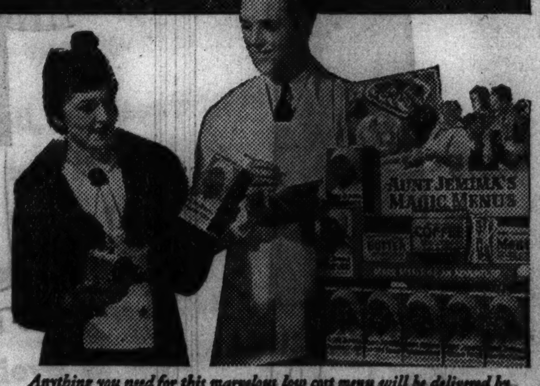
How to make good Buckwheat Cakes

1. Mix milk or water with equal amounts of Aunt Jemima Buckwheat. In a twinkling batter is ready.
2. Have griddle or skillet just hot enough. To test, put a drop of water on griddle. If it goes right up in a puff of steam, griddle is too hot. If it bounces around a second before evaporating, griddle is hot enough.
3. Grease griddle very lightly. Don't pour grease on. Spread it thinly with pad.
4. Pour batter into griddle. Let each side bake until a golden brown.

NEW MEAL PLANNING SERVICE AT GROCERS

YOUR grocer can now deliver in one order anything you need for Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu. Complete with printed, easy directions. With Aunt Jemima's special buckwheat mixture it's so easy to get soul-satisfying hot cakes, light, well-done, and ripe with flavor. And with far more fluffiness than ordinary bread or biscuit flour, because Aunt Jemima's contains only about half as much gluten as ordinary flour. And gluten, you know, is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process. . . . That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's buckwheat cakes come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes they are on the fire.



Anything you need for this marvelous low cost menu will be delivered by your grocer in one order. Complete with printed, easy directions.

A stack of three Aunt Jemima buckwheat cakes, a square of butter and one ounce of syrup are only 391 calories. Yet standard diets permit a total of 2,000 to 4,000 calories in the three daily meals. . . . Serve Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu at the next meal.

CHEERFUL THICK SOUPS WARMING ON SPRING DAY

Baked Bean Variety Has Boston Charm.

"Catering to Bridge Appetites," a booklet of menus and recipes for bridge refreshments, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents; by mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

It's difficult, if you can't depend on rheumatism or bunions, to foretell the weather these days. Still this old prophet sees some raw days ahead, when steaming hot, thick soups are going to be in order.

Such a soup is this Bostonian—substantial and hearty and comforting—just the number for a bleak and blustery noon.

Baked Bean Soup.

3 cups cold baked beans
½ cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons minced onion
5 cups water
1½ cups sieved tomatoes
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chili sauce
Salt, pepper

Combine the beans, celery, onion, and water, and simmer slowly for 30 minutes. Sieve or not, as you like, and add the tomatoes. Melt the butter, add the flour, and cook with a little water until thickened. Carefully stir into the soup, bring to a boil, and then season to taste with chili sauce, salt, and pepper. Serve hot with brown bread sandwiches, filled with cream cheese and chopped raisins.

Smooth and creamy, a steaming bowl of cream cheese soup makes a fine luncheon mainstay, or an interesting beginning to a Lenten dinner.

Cream of Cheese Soup

2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 teaspoons minced parsley
2 teaspoons minced green pepper
2 tablespoons flour
4 cups milk
½ pound American cheese, grated
Salt, paprika

Melt the butter and in it sauté the onion, parsley, and green pepper. Blend in the flour, and then gradually add the milk, stirring constantly. Cook until slightly thickened. Then add the grated cheese and continue cooking until smooth and creamy. Season to taste and serve hot. A sprinkle of chopped green pepper or parsley adds color when the soup is served.

That flavorsome sea food, the scallop, goes into still another suggestion for luncheon cheer on blustery days.

Creamed Scallop Soup

3 tablespoons minced celery
1 small onion
Bit of bayleaf
2 whole cloves
3 cups milk
½ pint scallops
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons heavy cream
Salt, pepper, lemon juice

Simmer the chopped onion, celery, bayleaf, and cloves in the milk for 30 minutes. Strain and add the finely chopped scallops. Blend the butter and flour together and add a little of the hot liquid. Stir the resulting paste slowly into the soup, and cook slowly until thickened, stirring constantly. Add the cream just before serving, and season to taste with salt, pepper, and lemon juice.

Paulette Goddard Hints She Is Chaplin's Wife

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, March 19.—(AP)—The same persons who had been expecting Charles Chaplin and Paulette Goddard to be married in Singapore began to wonder today whether the actor and his leading lady were married before they came here. This speculation arose from an interview in which Miss Goddard said, "I might have been wearing a wedding ring when we arrived yesterday." There was no evidence that Chaplin, touring the world with Miss Goddard and her mother, was making arrangements for a ceremony.

Recommend Beef Chuck as an Economical Buy

The committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago issued the following report for the guidance of housewives purchasing meat in Chicago retail meat stores: "Beef chuck and round steak are recommended to Chicago housewives as economical meat buys over the coming week-end. Pot roast and Swiss steak are two delicious dishes that can be prepared from these cuts of beef. Forequarter cuts of veal also can be purchased at attractive prices."

Suspects Wife Who Left in 1914 Is Gone for Good

Joseph Wiechacik, 48 years old, 14601 Division street, Posen, appeared yesterday before Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court seeking a divorce from his wife, Joanna. "She said she would return when I cooled off," Wiechacik told the court. "That was on June 15, 1914. She never came back. I kept expecting her back every day, but now I've come to realize she may not return." Judge Sabath granted the decree.

THE PORK BIRD MAKES ITS BOW IN THIS RECIPE

Wrap thin slices of veal around a bread dressing, and you have a veal bird. Substitute thin slices of beef round and partially cooked vegetables, and there's a beef bird. You've all tried them and found them delicious, no doubt.

But here's a new one—the pork bird—which is guaranteed to step right out and become a favorite. This one is an all-meat combination. It's especially nice for company dinners and moreover is easily prepared and served.

The centers of the pork birds are made from a mixture of ground beef and ham, shaped into rolls. Wrap rolls with a flattened piece of pork tenderloin, and then with a slice of bacon. Place birds in a skillet and brown the bacon. Then transfer to a baking dish, cover and cook in a slow oven until done, forty-five minutes to an hour.

KEEPS CHILDREN OUT OF SCHOOL; FACES CONTEMPT

Josiah Watson, former Joliet high school teacher, yesterday was ordered to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for refusal to return two of his five children to public school, by County Judge George Blatt of Will county at Joliet.

The petition for the citation, returnable, was filed by John Cowing, attorney for the Joliet school board. On March 14 Judge Blatt ordered Watson to put the children, Frances, 9 years old, and Esther, 7, back in school. Watson, a science teacher in the Joliet Township High school until 1932, had taken the children from class, asserting "the present school system is no place for them."

The Watsons live at 1920 Second avenue, Joliet.

2⅔ cups raw cranberries
1¼ cups cold water
1¼ cups sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ cup orange juice

Wash cranberries, add cold water and cook slowly until soft, about 15 minutes. Press through a potato ricer. There should be 1¾ cups pulp. Add sugar and cook 10 minutes. There should be 1¼ cups jelly. Cool, then chill in refrigerator. Chill milk thoroughly, then whip until stiff. Add lemon and orange juice and continue whipping until very stiff. Cut and fold in the cold cranberry pulp lightly but thoroughly. Pour into cold freezing pan of an automatic refrigerator and freeze.

IT PAYS TO FIND OUT

I thought I was pretty smart when it came to watching prices. Yet nobody can call me a "penny-wise and pound-foolish" buyer. I believe in getting value for my money and my wife agrees with me. However, we did make one blunder. We knew Hills Bros. Coffee was the best but we thought it was too expensive. We felt we could find a cheaper coffee that would please us.

Well, the beating we took was just too bad. Our coffee never did taste right. Finally I said, "Get Hills Bros. Coffee regardless of what it costs." Would you believe it, the price was practically the same as we had been paying for the others, but the coffee was miles ahead in flavor. Yes sir, it pays to find out instead of just thinking you're right.

TOPNOTCH GRAVY OR NONE AT ALL, DEMAND OF MEN

Menfolk are cranks on the subject of gravy. Topnotch gravy they'll have or nothing, thank you!

So if you'd please a man's palate, it's a wise idea to brush up on the gravy making technique if you're not proud enough of past results.

Good gravy should be well flavored with meat juices, thoroughly cooked, and free from lumps. Gravy may be made from any kind of meat—a roast, a steak, or the braised meat dishes, which include pot roast. In fact, gravy from pot roast is one of the finest, if correctly made.

A rich brown gravy can be made from any kind of meat drippings. To insure a good deep color, allow the flour to brown well in the drippings before any liquid is added. The flour and fat must be well combined if the gravy is to be smooth.

If quite a little water already is combined with drippings, it will be necessary to moisten and smooth the flour with cold water or milk before it is added to the hot liquid.

The standard proportions for making gravy are 2 tablespoons fat and drippings to 2 tablespoons flour and either milk, water, meat or vegetable stock. Many gravies are greasy and topped with swimming fat, simply because too much fat is used in proportion to the other ingredients. Two tablespoons is sufficient in making the usual small quantity.

Strain the gravy if there are any brown particles in the finished product or if there is the slightest suspicion of lumpiness.

Zoo's New Zebra Arrives; Taken in Trade for Camel

A female zebra, 4 years old, was placed on exhibit at the Lincoln park zoo yesterday. The zebra was acquired from the zoo in Kansas City, Mo., in exchange for Emma, a female camel belonging to the zoo here, according to Director Floyd S. Young. The new addition to the zoo will be named as soon as it is learned what attendants in the Kansas City zoo called her.

AVOCADO PEAR HAS A WEEK, TOO, AND THIS IS IT

Here Are Some Recipes for This Fruit.

The calavo, known perhaps to many as the avocado pear, is not only a very delectable food, but a beneficial one from a nutritional point of view. This fruit which supplies not only carbohydrates, but proteins and fats, is being served in many public schools this week in honor of Calavo Week.

One calavo in a salad combination easily serves a family because the fruit combines so beautifully with many other foods, and no matter how small a part it plays in a recipe, it lends distinctiveness and an appealing flavor.

These recipes using calavos in larger amounts are recommended for family meals:

CALAVO CRAB CUTLETS.

2 cups diced calavo
2 cups crabmeat
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper to taste
1½ cups milk
3 eggs, beaten
Soft bread crums

Work butter, flour, salt and pepper to a paste. Scald milk and pour slowly over paste. Mix until smooth. Return to burner and cook until thick, stirring continuously to prevent scorching. Cool. Add calavos, crabmeat, and blend thoroughly, but lightly. Shape into cutlets, roll in bread crums, then in beaten eggs, then again in bread crums. Fry in deep fat heated to 390 degrees F. to a golden brown. Serves 8.

CALAVO MUSHROOM ENTREE.

1 pound fresh mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup white sauce
2 pimientos, cut in thin strips
2 cups diced calavos

Simmer mushrooms in a small amount of salted water, 6 or 8 minutes, until tender. Saute in butter until savory. Make a white sauce, using 2 tablespoons each of butter and flour to one cup of milk. Season with ½ teaspoon salt. Add mushrooms and pimiento and heat well. Just before serving add the diced calavo. Do not allow the calavo to cook. Serve on hot toast points. Serves 6. This makes a lovely party dish.

HEINZ CORN CHOWDER 57 PURE FOOD PRODUCTS

GOOD cooks the nation over agree that the best "homemade" soups in America come out of cans labeled "Heinz"!

Thousands say it is a waste of time and effort to make soup at home. In countless kitchens the traditional family soup kettle has disappeared completely.

Small wonder that people everywhere are talking about the success of these soups. Heinz chefs have accomplished something entirely new. They have duplicated, from home recipes, the most delectable soups anyone has ever tasted. And they have sealed these savory creations piping hot in tins of convenient size.

Heinz Home-Style Soups are made in individual open kettles—in small batches, slowly simmered, carefully stirred, expertly seasoned. Ingredients are of choice table grade. Give your family a treat. Serve your favorite soup—as made by Heinz—some evening soon. Each Heinz Soup is fully prepared. Nothing need be added. Just heat and serve—win a hearty round of applause.

Annual Prom at Princeton to Be Tonight

Chicago Girls Are Guests at Gay Week-End.

attend the dances with her fiancé, Gerald Smith of New York, a senior. Miss Harriet Street and Miss Marjorie Truesdale of Winnetka will be the guests of Dwight P. Green Jr. of Winnetka and John H. Hines Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., respectively.

Miss Betty Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps' daughter, who is studying at Columbia university, will be the guest of John C. Woodle of Irvington, N. J. Donald E. Jerrems has invited a Winnetka girl, Miss Sally Korrady, to be his guest for the festivities, but another Chicago student, John Drummond, will be escorting an out of town girl, Miss Ethel Meredith of Princeton. Miss Alice Orr of St. Charles, who was presented to society during the last season, will attend as the guest of Charles Ramsay Jr. of New Hope, Pa.

Miss Eleonore Thompson, another of last season's debutantes, will be the partner of Bradford W. Ripley II., and Miss Susan Ballard of Winnetka will be escorted by Thomas Gebhart of Bronxville, N. Y.

Still other young women who are attending the prom are Miss Mildred Garnett, Miss Phyllis Swenson, and Miss Isobel Natemeyer of Evanston, and Miss June Kuhn and Miss Bobette Wilson of Chicago.

Plans Bachelor Dinner for Alexander Knott.

Because most of his friends will be unable to go south the week of April 11 to attend his wedding in Tryon, N. C., to Miss Constance Burtenshaw, the prospective bridegroom, Alexander Knott, will be given a bachelor dinner here on the evening of April 3 at the Blackstone hotel. His brother, Harry A. Knott Jr., who will be going south to be best man, will be host at the dinner.

This is the only prenuptial party that has been planned for Mr. Knott in Chicago, but there will be several affairs in Tryon the week of the wedding. Of course, when he and the new Mrs. Knott return from their wedding trip through Virginia, many of the bridegroom's friends will be entertaining to welcome the bride to her new home. Miss Burtenshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Burtenshaw of Detroit and Tryon.

Mr. Knott will be going south on the Monday or the Tuesday before the wedding, and on Wednesday a whole carful of his ushers, accompanied by their wives, will leave Chicago to arrive in Tryon in time for the bridal dinner Mr. and Mrs. Burtenshaw are giving on Thursday because the following day is Good Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Covington, who moved recently from Seattle to Omaha, are coming from their new home to go to Tryon with the group of ushers. The other ushers are William D. Reichmann, Patrick A. Valentine Jr., Elliott Donnelley, J. Beach Clow, and Fred S. Ford of Detroit. The last four named will be accompanied by their wives.

Miss Burtenshaw will be attended by Miss Mary H. Ledyard of Detroit as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids will include Miss Anne Woodruff and Mrs. Wendell C. Goddard of Detroit, Mrs. Leonard Carpenter of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Waverly M. Hester of Tryon.

Miss Mary de Coningh Will Be June Bride.

While Chicago is gaining an attractive young matron in the person of Mr. Knott's bride, the city is losing one of its most charming and capable young women, Miss Mary de Coningh, whose mother, Mrs. Frederic de Coningh, yesterday announced her engagement to Henry De Wolf Smyth of Princeton, N. J. After their wedding in June Mr. Smyth, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Smyth, will take his bride to Princeton to make their home. He is a member of the faculty at Princeton university, as is his father and his brother.

Miss de Coningh, who is associate director of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, where she will be greatly missed, prepared at the Faulkner school for Smith. After her graduation from college she spent several years in study and travel abroad. She returned to this country in 1932 from Geneva, where she had been engaged in newspaper work, and became interested in the council.

Mr. Smyth was graduated from Princeton, and after taking his doctor of philosophy degree in physics there he went to England on a National Research fellowship. He took a second degree at Cambridge university in 1924. In 1931 he was awarded a Guggenheim fellowship for further scientific research in Germany. He now is chairman of the department of physics at Princeton.

Industries Group Will Hear of Guatemala.

John Hutter of the faculty of De Paul university will present a travelog on Guatemala this evening in connection with the exhibition of Guatemalan textiles and costumes at 700 North Michigan avenue under the auspices of the Association of Arts and Industries. Consul General Octavio Barrios of Guatemala will introduce Mr. Hutter, who is illustrating his lecture with his own motion pictures and colored slides.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce P. Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Pynchon, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II., Mrs. William H. Bush and her daughter, Miss Emeline Bush; Miss Clara Lake, David Leavitt, and George Senseney are among those who will hear the lecture and look over the exhibit, which will continue through tomorrow.

The Cliff Dwellers have a busy day ahead of them with a luncheon for Alec Templeton before the concert this afternoon. After the concert there will be tea, at which Gregor Piatigorsky, soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra this week, and Walter Krawiec will be guests. Mr. Krawiec's "Sketches of Circus Life" will be on view.

Mrs. Charles H. Hamill will be hostess at the tea, and assisting her will be Mrs. Arthur G. Bissell, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall, Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell, Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfe, and Miss Josephine Albro.

Cecil Roberts Will Speak at Dinner.

Members of the English Speaking union and their guests will attend a dinner at the Blackstone tonight to hear Cecil Roberts speak on "The Pilgrim Cottage Country." Mr. Roberts was the youngest editor of England's oldest newspaper, the Nottingham Journal, from 1920 to 1925, and he now is the literary critic of the Daily Telegraph in London.

Among those who have made reservations for dinner tonight are Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, and Robert Hall McCormick.

Mrs. James Bowers Jr. is entertaining at tea this afternoon in her residence at 424 Melrose street for members of the committee in charge of the Sunbeam league's annual bridge party, which will be given the afternoon of April 14 at the Stevens hotel. Mrs. James J. McKenna is president of the league.

The board of the Big Sisters will confer with the ways and means committee on plans for their annual card party, to be held Easter Monday, at a meeting this morning at the headquarters of the Big Sisters, 203 North Wabash avenue.

Mrs. George W. Dulany Jr. is leaving this morning by airplane for San Francisco to lecture at the Art museum there. She will be away about a week.

Chosen for Daisy Chain

Miss Florence Hermes, pictured above, and Miss Jean McWilliams have been chosen as two of the twenty-six sophomores who will carry the daisy chain on Vassar class day. The students who carry the chain are considered the prettiest in the class, and every one who knows titian haired Miss Hermes and Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams' attractive daughter will agree that two better choices couldn't have been made.

Miss Hermes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hermes, made her debut at a dinner-dance last winter, and Miss McWilliams also joined in the debutante festivities last season.

Further news from Vassars tells that Miss Henrietta Boal and Miss Dorothy Davis, daughter of Dr. Carl B. Davis of Evanston, have been elected to the junior varsity basketball team. Miss Boal, who is the Ayres Boals' daughter, will play forward and Miss Davis will play guard.

Miss Davis' engagement to William McKinnon, son of the Roderick W. McKinnons of Evanston, was announced last Christmas holidays.

Youth's Ideals Put Strain on Many Parents

Problem of Living Up to Children Often Hard.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

How much should we respect our children's conception of how a mother or a father should conduct themselves? Should we respect the fundamental things, act as we think best, and disregard the unessentials? But —sometimes what seems like an unessential to us may seem terribly important to our children.

I know a woman who is unusually close to her teen-age son and daughter. They will discuss anything with her, their actions, their feelings, their emotions. It is a rather unusual relation.

And yet the one thing that bothers her 15 year old boy is the fact that if the occasion warrants it or if she feels like it, she'll run on the street! That is a heinous offense in his eyes. It is so undignified! She was really upset, this mother, who in her native Maine had spent her girlhood running barefoot over rocks and hills. She wanted my advice. Should she give up, in her son's company, running after a bus or car, when it wasn't absolutely necessary, but when she just felt like running?

What would be your answer?

Then there was the young daughter who hated her mother's red finger nails.

And the son who got gloomier and gloomier as his mother's gayety and nonsense mounted. Not alcoholic gayety but just pure water and natural spirits gayety.

And the college boy who, though least of all a prude, could not stand rouge on his mother's lips. "I don't mind rouge on your cheeks, or powder—though I'm not crazy about any of them. You're goodlooking enough without them—but seeing rouge on your lips just does something to me." He can't analyze the cause, though it may be nothing more involved than an un-mother-like appearance. I remember a small boy who said to his mother one evening when he watched her put the finishing touch to her party dressing: "You don't look like a mother—you look like a lady."

How far should we go in respecting their prejudices? What may seem trivial to us may be of some real, though obscure importance to them. Should we walk sedately, or have colorless finger nails, or go with pale lips to oblige our funny young son or daughter, or should we go our own way and let them make the best of it?

You see, this is an article that doesn't give you your answer. You will have to supply that yourself.

According to CULBERTSON

EXPERT AND DUB OPPONENTS.

I do not claim to be promulgating a new theory when I state that it often is easier to play against good players than bad ones. The logical and accurate bidding of experts unavoidably results in conveying vital information to the opponents as well as to partner. When a poor player raises his partner's suit, it becomes a guessing problem as to whether he holds more than two trumps. Even raises on a singleton should cause no astonishment. Consequently it is extremely difficult to visualize, or count out, the hand of a poor player from his bidding alone. Not so with experts. Except for those occasions where they have risked fooling their partner in their more pressing desire to fool the adversaries, after a few bids, and when a few cards have been played, their hands become open books.

Counting the Opponents' Hands.

In today's hand, East and West made only one bid each, other than the final penalty double. Yet, at a comparatively early stage in the play, declarer was able to determine, within a reasonable doubt, the exact distribution of the remaining cards.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	3 clubs
3 spades	Double [final bid]

West's double was a trifle too close despite his honor strength and his partner's raise. He was, no doubt, influenced by the fact that he knew South to be a liberal bidder and the hope that this was one of the times when he had his "neck stretched."

The club king was the opening lead, followed by the ace. South ruffed and led three top trumps, West winning the third round and shifting to the heart king. The next play was a low heart, East's ace winning, and a third round was led. South ruffed and now did his "counting."

West was marked with five clubs, both from his overcall and from East's raise, that in the absence of the ace, king, and jack must have been based on four cards.

West had shown three spades, East two. Now for the hearts and diamonds. East certainly would have chosen to bid two hearts rather than three clubs if he had held five or six to the ace. Therefore, he could hold only four, since West also would have bid hearts with five or more. Thus West was placed with a singleton diamond.

Confidently, South led a small diamond to the king and finessed for the jack on the return. In this way his doubled contract was fulfilled.

ONCE IT WAS A DREAM BY RUSSELL PATTERSON

FOR YEARS IT WAS—NO

Thousands proposed it. Women everywhere asked us to make a naptha soap chip. "It can't be done," experts said.

NOW AT LAST IT'S—YES

After years of trying—Fels-Naptha has found a way to mate richer, golden soap and naptha in a brand-new wonder-chip. Chips chockfull of real naptha—Fels-Naptha Soap CHIPS.

"STRIKE ME PINK—that's the whitest wash that ever came out of my washing machine!" says Sally. And no wonder—she used Fels-Naptha CHIPS. And they hold two dirt-looseners—richer, golden soap and fresh, active naptha.

THEY'RE AS GENTLE AS A KITTEN to daintiest things—that's another reason why you'll be crazy about Fels-Naptha Soap CHIPS. They're safer—because they hold naptha. And naptha, you know, is used for dry cleaning the most fragile garments.

IF YOUR HUSBAND likes pretty hands—remember—there's soothing glycerine in Fels-Naptha Soap CHIPS, too. They help keep hands soft and smooth.

NEVER BEFORE SUCH MIRACULOUS SOAP CHIPS!

THEY'RE FULL OF DIRT-LOOSENING NAPTHA!

FELS-NAPTHA SOAP CHIPS are as different from any chips you have ever seen or tried—as night is from day!

They're different—because they bring you two cleaners instead of one. Lots of naptha combined with richer, golden soap.

They're different—because they come in the form of crinkly, delicate curls. Curls so thin and wispy that they dissolve in a flash. Turn on the water—and up go the suds!

And the box is different, too. Just open and shut the handy pouring-spout—and chips can't dribble out and mess up your floor.

You've waited for years—don't wait any longer. Try these new and different Fels-Naptha Soap CHIPS—get a box today. They're made by the makers of the famous golden bar, Fels-Naptha Soap. © 1936, FELS & CO.

Stars Watch as Mae West Quits Studio

Van Hauls White Furniture to Another Lot.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—[Special.]—Every one but Mae West was on hand to witness one of the significant events of her life today.

Bing Crosby was there. So were W. C. Fields, Herbert Marshall, and Jack Oakie. Carole Lombard looked on curiously. For it is a rare occasion when a top flight movie star voluntarily leaves her home studio for new fields, especially the studio that helped her obtain fame and a healthy fortune in three years.

A red moving van was the symbol of the star's exodus from Paramount, the site of her triumph in pictures. Most Hollywoodites regard Mae's change of studios as a definite milestone in her picture career, but of course only time will tell. Mae is going to work at Columbia for Emanuel Cohen, who was head of Paramount production when she first became a star. He put $300,000 in cash in the bank as her recompense for her first picture.

Jim Timony, Mae's corpulent, white haired, cigar chewing manager, was present as official representative. He summoned a couple of studio workmen to help the two huskies from the van company load Mae's ivory piano.

"I've got a list here," said the van man surveying the famed all-white dressing room and its contents. "It says a chair, a piano, a desk, a divan, and a painting—O, I guess that's it on the wall."

It must have been, because it's the only picture Mae ever had in the dressing room. It is a full length undraped oil painting of Mae herself, similar to the one that constitutes the only pictorial decoration in her apartment in the Ravenswood apartment hotel. The van man sighed as he viewed the revealing portrait. Well, there are no secrets in a moving van man's life.

Bing Crosby, dressed in a cowboy's outfit for his new flicker, "Rhythm on the Range," stuck his head out of his dressing room, adjoining Mae's.

"Where are you going with our little orchid's possessions?" Bing asked one of the van men. The latter at once became officiously secretive, busying himself with a pile of the thick blankets that van men use to protect furniture in transit.

"Don't know," he said. "I just got orders to take the stuff out of here."

Just then Timony emerged bearing a collection of gold and silver trays and dishes. He placed them carefully on a blanket. The carpenters followed him with Mae's brown lether make-up kit, a black valise, and a large pigskin suitcase.

W. C. Fields, on his way to a sound stage, ambled by in a stovepipe hat and loud checked trousers.

"Can it be that our Mae has come to a final parting of the ways?" asked Fields, scratching his head.

"Don't know," said the van man, "I just got orders."

"Yes, yes, my lad, I understand," said Fields. "You are plainly a guiltless intermediary. It is a very sad scene to behold—sad, indeed!"

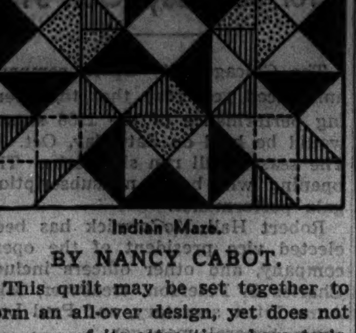
Individuality of Each Block Intact in Maze Quilt



Indian Maze.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This quilt may be set together to form an all-over design, yet does not lose any of its attractive characteristics. Indian Maze begins with a simple pinwheel in the center of the entire quilt, and unwinds throughout the quilt, forming an interesting and complicated maze, being further mystical with blue patches on a red print square.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Menuhin, Musical Genius, to Retire for Two Years

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Now a tall young man with a slight mustache, Yehudi Menuhin, the boy musical genius of ten years ago, returned to New York today and with youthful enthusiasm told of his plans for a two year voluntary retirement "back to the good earth." He will forego all concerts except one next Sunday night in Carnegie hall with his talented sister, Hepzibah, as accompanist. The Menuhins, who arrived from a concert trip around the world on the Paris, will open their home in the Santa Cruz mountains near San Francisco. Yehudi brought back a duplicate of his famous Stradivarius violin.

Dr. Bridges Declares Old Empire Died with George and Kipling

The chaotic condition of the world today is a natural outgrowth of the struggle for imperialism arising in the 15th and 16th centuries, Dr. Horace J. Bridges declared last night before the British Empire association of Illinois.

Speaking at the Morrison hotel on "The Genius of Rudyard Kipling," Dr. Bridges spoke of Kipling as the "great interpreter" of the British empire, characterized by his patriotism and his love of imperialism.

The lives of Kipling and of George V. ran concurrently, Dr. Bridges said. Both had the same beliefs and the same pride in the British empire. But the British empire as they knew and loved it died, Dr. Bridges said, with the king and the poet.

Jean Robinson, Oak Park, Heads U. of I. League

Urbana, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Jean Robinson of Oak Park was elected president of Woman's league for next year at the University of Illinois at an election held today. Other officers elected were Carolyn Lowry of Peoria, vice president; Alice Duval of Oak Park, secretary treasurer; Arlene Hodgson of Ottawa, corresponding secretary, and Wanda Spencer of Champaign, junior representative.

Special Squad

By Courtney Ryley Cooper

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Sandy Ross of the department of justice and Special Agent Buck Wasey travel by motor from Reno to Vinton City in search of information on Sociable Joe Willis, suspected of assisting in armored car robberies. A collision of two cars on a mountain road brings Jane Bronson into Sandy's life. But when she learns his identity she vanishes. A letter from Sociable Joe had brought Jane to Vinton City to plead with her brother, Lee, known there as Ray Hammer, to give up his gang connections. When she tells him about the special agents he agrees to leave with her immediately. They drive away in a cream colored car and Lee deliberately runs down Sociable Joe. Sociable Joe admits serving time for killing his wife, but denies knowing Jane Bronson or Ray Hammer. Meanwhile, in San Francisco the Lurch-McKeevor mob await the arrival of Lee Bronson, needed for his ability in female impersonating. The cream colored car, known to have been stolen after an armored car robbery in New York, is located at a tourist camp near Gunnison, Colo., where Sandy and Buck speed by plane. They drive to the camp in the wake of a cloudburst. They find Jane alone. Sandy diverts Jane's attention while Buck searches for clues. Jane confesses her brother carried a machine gun and left in anger at her pleas to go straight. Sociable Joe is an old family friend. Her parents are dead. An outfit of Jane's clothes is missing.

INSTALMENT XXIII.

AT FACE VALUE.

The inspector turned at the sound of Buck Wasey, returning from the gulch. "How does it look, Buck?"

"Okay. Still some water there, but we can cross 'er."

Sandy Ross faced the girl.

"Would you mind packing Jane? We've got to be getting back to town."

Together they watched her walk down the line of cabins to the one she had occupied, a small, stricken figure, yet somehow brave. Buck Wasey cleared his throat. He pursed his lips and poked his tongue first into one round cheek then the other. At last he stamped his wet feet, rolled his eyes and allowed his right hand to move slowly toward the lump at his belt which denoted his beloved frontier model six-gun.

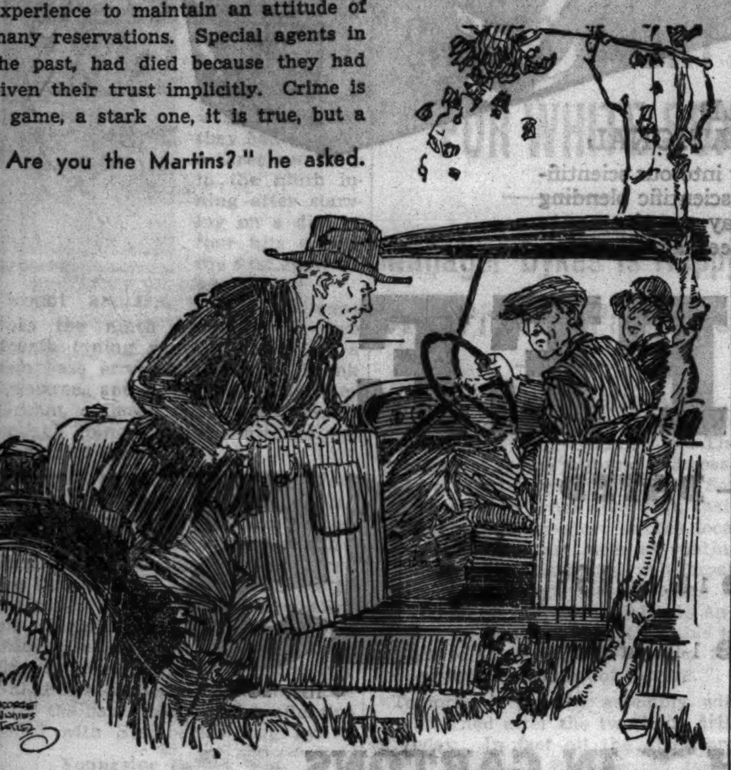
"There's just one thing I'd like to do," came slowly. "I'd like to meet that rat and him with a gun in his hand—"

"If he wasn't her brother," added Sandy Ross. Buck Wasey spat disgustedly.

"Yeh, that's the hell of it. If he wasn't her brother."

The ride toward Gunnison had been a lonely one for Sandy Ross. He had chosen to drive the sherif's car while Buck Wasey, with Jane Bronson beside him, had followed at some distance in Lee Bronson's stolen cream colored roadster. This had been planned for a purpose. Buck had a way with him which Sandy did not feel he possessed, an ability to smooth troubled nerves and make black clouds somehow reveal something of silver.

Not that these men had lost all thought of caution. They were, in fact, in the difficult position of wanting to believe Jane Bronson, yet forced by experience to maintain an attitude of many reservations. Special agents in the past, had died because they had given their trust implicitly. Crime is a game, a stark one, it is true, but a game nevertheless, and one of many penalties. Thinking of it in that light made Sandy grip hard at the steering wheel. This long sleepless night just past held many possibilities, none of them pleasant.



"Are you the Martins?" he asked.

If Jane Bronson had told the truth, this interview had brought a scar which would remain forever. As the result of her information, Sandy and Buck had no alternative. They must run down Lee Bronson as a vicious member of an equally venomous and dangerous gang. The swimming road dashing into the radiator of his speeding car brought pictures of what this might mean; the rattle of a machine gun in Lee Bronson's hand, the return fire of special agents; inert forms sprawled upon the ground. Or the lone shackled ride to Alcatraz Island, where, through their efforts, he must remain a living blight upon the life of his sister, constantly haunted by the fact that she had sent him there.

On the other hand, if her seemingly guileless story had been the consummate piece of art which only a desperate gunster's moll could summon, results would be little better. Then all their work of months must go for nothing, marauding must continue, innocent lives be under the constant threat of chattering machine guns criminally manned. Neither outlook was pleasant. At last Sandy Ross gritted his teeth, and shook his head, like a diver coming up after long immersion.

"I'm going to take her at face value!" he growled as he bent over the steering wheel. "And I'm going to get that rat of a brother if I have to——"

His musings halted suddenly as an aged automobile rounded a curve some two hundred yards before him. Ross pulled his car to a stop. It contained a man and a woman.

"Are you the Martins?" the inspector asked. They admitted their identity. Sandy smiled.

"Thanks. I just took a chance. Miss Bronson, out at your camp said you might be coming this way and this is the first car I've seen."

"Any trouble out there?" Martin asked anxiously.

"Camp ain't washed away?" his wife queried. They were of the usual tourist camp-owner type; the man a little too thin and tired for excessive work, the woman cave-chested from sweeping and making beds.

"No—no trouble," Sandy answered. Reaching into his pockets, he displayed his gold badge. "Department of Justice," came briefly. "I want to know about that man, Lee Bronson, you took into town a few days ago."

The woman bristled.

"Humph!" she exclaimed. "I knew he was no good!"

"Talk to him, did you?"

"That's just it," Martin answered. "We couldn't talk to him."

"Now that sister of his, she's real sweet. But that man! Sneaky."

Ross turned to Martin.

"He was in a great hurry to get to town, wasn't he?"

"Yes, with his baggage. What is he, a carpenter? Had a long carpenter's case with him."

"Well, he takes on an odd job occasionally," answered the inspector cryptically. "Where did you take him—in town I mean?"

"O, he went to the Weston."

"The hotel, you mean. You didn't see him afterward?"

"No, I went on about my business."

"Did he say anything about his plans—explain why he'd left his sister or where he was going?"

"Nope, not a word. I sort of gave him a chance or two, but he didn't snap it up."

Swiftly now Sandy Ross checked Jane Bronson's story with this pair—without revealing his intent. It warmed the inspector to learn that Jane had not once deviated from the truth. In parting, he asked:

"Did Bronson leave any money to pay his bills?"

Martin spat.

"O, he did that all right—when I asked him for it."

Mrs. Martin sniffed.

"Never would have done it if you hadn't. Yes sir, that young fellow's sneaky."

Sandy bowed.

"I believe you, Mrs. Martin. You'll see Miss Bronson down the road with a friend of mine. Coming into town to stay awhile—"

"She ain't in trouble?"

"Nothing whatever wrong, as far as Miss Bronson is concerned," answered the inspector and stood aside. "Just going home, that's all."

Soon he was in his car again and pressing hard on the gas. There were many things to be done before Buck Wasey, idling in the rear with his charge, should reach Gunnison. Miles passed. At last the airport appeared. Sandy peered anxiously for a sight of the plane which had brought him here and gave thanks when he saw it.

He swerved from the road and swung wide onto the field, summoning the pilot from a shacklike house which stood to one side.

"Better warm 'er up," he commanded. "Don't know when I'll be back—but I'll be in a hurry. Stand by."

"Right!" A wave of the hand and the pilot faded into the background as Sandy once more swept toward town. Sandy sped through the wide, graveled thoroughfares to the sherif's office. Two men hurried forth as he pulled to the curb, Janners and Mason of the special squad. Sandy snapped questions:

"Haven't picked up much here, Ross," Janners reported for the pair, "except that a man who answered the suspect's description stopped for a few hours at the Weston."

Is Liquor a Necessity in Hospitality?

Couples on Budgets Find Purchase a Problem.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

One of the problems confronting the conscientious young bride is making today's limited allowance stretch to include some entertainment in the program.

"We manage fairly well with the food allowance," reports a bride of a year. "Our salary is limited. I buy economically and cook economically. For the first couple of months my young husband agreed I was good. Then entered the problem that, I think, confronts a good many of us brides today. My husband wants liquor in the house. He wants to bring his pals in any time. And he wants to be able to serve a drink should people come in for bridge. And, of course, a cocktail now appears to be as important an item as the meat one serves for dinner.

"I am no teetotaller. But just as an economist I can't figure out, as I argue with my husband, why we can't establish a unique place in our crowd by not serving liquor. I am not trying to set a new style so much as I want to economize. I find, of late, that the liquor expense, and, understand, we are not old soaks, just average consumers, is becoming so strenuous that I have to economize on necessary food items. We never have a penny to go places, except a movie.

"My husband is all right, but he wants to be a good fellow with his liquor. He likes company around, and so do I. But I do wish some one would tell these unmanageable young men that one can't have liquor and good steaks, too, when in a position like ours."

Inquiry substantiates this as a problem confronting more than one young bride at the moment. Undoubtedly one, too, affecting older couples. The manager of a certain chain of groceries tells how carefully the young matron will buy. One chop for each at the meat counter. Rice as substitute for other things. And so on. Across the street is a liquor store at which a bottled purchase, the observing manager notes, follows the scanty food supply purchases. The man was not complaining about trade. He has plenty of it. He was merely wondering why the young couples can't get together and work out a program from which liquor purchases might be eliminated.

"These young couples all are in the same boat financially," the man observed. "So why couldn't they get together and decide to serve tomato juice until such a time as they were ready for the luxury items?"

How about it, young couples?

Calls on Wealthy and Educated to Have Large Families

South Bend, Ind., March 19.—[Special.]—Prof. J. E. Hagerty, head of the economics department at Ohio State university struck at birth control in his talk today before the Catholic conference on family life at St. Mary's college.

"Taking the country as a whole the more wealthy and educated classes practice birth control," he said. "If all the United States had no more children than have the wealthy and the better educated, population would die out in a few generations. The educated and wealthy should have large families. They are in a position to give their children a better start for the work of the world than can parents beset with all kinds of economic and financial difficulties."

He continued: "Experts predict a declining population in the United States immediately ahead of us. It will put an end to our growth and disturb many of our national plans."

Jack Oakie and Follies Beauty to 'Elope' Sunday

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—[Special.]—Jack Oakie, screen comedian, and Venita Vardon, former Follies beauty, will "elope" to Yuma, Ariz., Sunday, their friends declare. Although friends seemed confident the couple would fly to the Arizona city Sunday the announcement could not be confirmed by the principals.

Coat Dress Flatters Figure

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Four pockets, a tailored row of smart buttons, notched lapels, and short sleeves with inverted plaits are the paramount style features of this practical frock, the dearly beloved coat dress. This is one fashion which is guaranteed to make you appear taller and slimmer than you are. If you are the possessor of a tall and slender figure, this model also is for you, since it flatters the trim figure, revealing its pencil slimness.

The original of this dress is daintily created in gray and violet printed crêpe. Checks are particularly lovely for this frock, and plaids were born to it. When you go about selecting material for this pattern, bear in mind that this style will be important for summer as well as spring, and be sure to look at sheer woolens, tub silks, linens, novelty cottons, etc., for your warm weather wardrobe.

Style No. 2725 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Chic Ensemble Is One Based on Good Corset

Foundation Garment Is Wardrobe "Must."

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Write into your Easter ensemble one good corset, even though you may have to economize on one or more of the exterior items.

One of the corset companies runs a magazine ad illustrating with photographs what may happen to the best kind of dress over a badly corsetted figure. As good a bit of lesson teaching as I have seen. I am boosting no particular brand or make of corset, understand. There are many excellent makes on the market today, and unless you choose a bargain counter item I know of no corset departments that do not permit a fitting with a purchase. The best dressed women begin with the corset purchase. It is not an afterthought, as with many women. They demand as good a fit in a corset as they do in a high priced frock, knowing that with that good fitting of the undergarment the dress is assured success.

More than that, today certain corset manufacturers actually have become figure surgeons, correcting sagging abdominal muscles, lordosis curves in the back and, often, help women to a new posture that robs the figure of years, to say nothing of dowdiness.

In the remodeling of the bustline the corsetiere reaches a new height of efficiency. So that when I argue a good corset as the preliminary to the new outfit, I do it from the health as well as the beauty angle.

In the photographs I referred to above one sees a so-called corsetted figure which, from bustline to stocking line, is a series of wrinkles and sagging body lines. The same girl appears in a correct corset in which you see a beautiful symmetry of line. And the fact is stressed that sagging corset lines contribute as much to the old and tired look of body as sagging lines and wrinkles contribute likewise to the face.

And it is true! We speak of the older figure naturally where humps and lumps and bumps have to be smoothed down and ironed out and a good corset is imperative. However, young girls are seen whose nonsleek silhouette line bespeaks the shiftless foundation garment. These young ones can't invest their figure better than to put it into a good foundation garment. They'll find an inexpensive suit or dress tripled in effectiveness with the good foundation planning.

It follows that if the young ones need it the older ones simply cannot get by at all without the good garment upon which to found a wardrobe.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Women welcome gray hair these days rather than weep over it. Only a few run frantically to try their luck with the dye pots when the silver stragglers pop up. Some of the smartest women, in this country at least, capitalize on it. If its appearance is premature so much the better from the point of view of distinctive chic.

This all being the case it's not surprising that products that make gray hair look even grayer are in demand. Women smart enough to capitalize on their white hair want that hair really white, not dingy looking or stained with yellow.

In the beauty shops they've been using a concentrated bluing rinse for years. Now a rinse of this same type, that makes the snowy hair blue-white and gleaming, without a suggestion of the yellow, has been packaged for home use. A few drops in the final rinsing waters after a shampoo does the trick. Most gray haired women need to use something of the sort, since hair of this type is easily made yellow by too great heat, whether of steam or the old trusty curling iron. There are even those who claim that an acid condition in the system will bring on the unsightly yellow streaks. For these streaks six or seven drops of the highly concentrated bluing are used after shampooing to restore the silvery white brilliance.

This same rinse is a good thing to use when the hair is overly or poorly bleached. It takes away the "brassy" appearance that so often makes the continuously bleached hair look unreal and completely unflattering.

Even hair that has been unsuccessfully hennaed can be toned down with the bluing rinse. It softens the sharp red tinge that is neither fashionable nor becoming.

How You Can SAFELY
LOSE FAT
No strict dieting;
No exercising; No drugs—
YET 7 POUNDS A MONTH ARE OFTEN LOST

HERE, at last, is a SAFE way to reduce. A way that does NOT call for strict dieting, exercising, or taking drugs. A way that actually increases your mental and physical energy as pounds of ugly fat seemingly melt away.

Please read carefully: In a recent test, held under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, 14 people who were gaining at the rate of 1¾ pounds a month, followed this method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds a person in a single month—WITHOUT STRICT DIETING OR EXERCISING.

What You Do

Now, all you have to do is this: Mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water—and drink before each meal, and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—and this is what happens.

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to over-eat fattening foods—yet you do feel comfortably satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy—and, most important, helps nature to burn up excess fat.

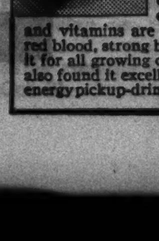
Thus weight is lost naturally and safely. Often at the rate of 7 pounds a month, or more.

Only One Thing To Watch

In following this proved, SAFE way to lose ugly fat, eat sensibly—and then there is only one thing to watch. Use only the genuine Welch's Grape Juice. In order to get the finest, selected, premium grapes grown we pay more than anyone in the United States. That is why Welch's is always full strength. No adulterants; no artificial coloring—Certified Pure. Insist upon Welch's.

Welch Grape Juice Co., Westfield, N. Y.

Irene Rich is over 40, but weighs the same as at 16. She says, "Eat sensibly—drink Welch's Grape Juice."



"Gives Quick Pep and Energy"
"Red" Woodworth, All-American Star and Coach at Morgan Park Military Academy, says: "Welch's Grape Juice gives my boys strength and energy without adding health-destroying fat. The minerals and vitamins are valuable in helping to build red blood, strong bones and teeth. I recommend it for all growing children and athletes. I have also found it excellent between meals as a quick energy pickup-drink for children and grownups."

CUBS' RALLY IN NINTH INNING DEFEATS HOUSTON, 5-4

ENGLISH DRIVES IN TWO RUNS WITH DOUBLE

Woody Also Scores Deciding Marker.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., March 19.—The champion Cubs, fresh from easy triumphs over the major league White Sox and Pirates, this afternoon found an earnest group of athletes entitled the Houston Buffs in a most stubborn mood. The Cubs won, 5 to 4, but they had to stage a three run rally in the ninth inning after starving on a diet of four hits during the first eight innings.

WOODY ENGLISH.

The Cubs went into the ninth possessed of two fourth inning runs, produced by a two base error, a double by Frank Demaree, and a triple by Manager Grimm. Those two runs weren't enough going into the ninth, for the Buffs had four.

Here's what happened in the ninth inning: Demaree walked. After Cavarretta had fouled out, Lillard doubled to left and Demaree stopped at third. Then English doubled to right, scoring Demaree and Lillard with the tying runs. Gill batted for Bryant and his single to left put English on third. Galan's fly to center sent English home with the winning run Gill then stole second and two walks filled the bases, but the Cub offensive ended with Stainback's long fly.

Youngster Baffles 'Em.

At the outset the Cubs encountered some surprising talent in the person of youthful Johnny Sherer, late of Bloomington, Ill., who tolerated nary a hit during his term until Galan singled with two out in the third. Augie was out stealing and Sherer retired amidst much applause.

The minor leaguers were making things a bit embarrassing for Larry French, while Sherer was distinguishing himself. Fortunately, though, two double plays in the first three innings held down Buff production during the span.

Houston made the first run in the second when Justin Stein, another Bloomington graduate, beat out a tap in front of the plate and scored on Martin's drive to the left center field fence. Martin tried to make third on the hit, but he was caught on Jurges' relay of Galan's throw.

Error Encourages Cubs.

The Cubs were spurred on the way to a pair of runs in the fourth at the expense of the second Buff pitcher, Lefty Forsythe. Herman's easy fly was dropped by Rizzo and the Chicago second baseman went to third on Klein's infield tap. He scored while Stein was throwing out O'Dea. Demaree then doubled to left and scored on Grimm's triple to right center. Hack flied to Riley.

After French's five inning stretch on the mound Clay Bryant came in and walked Mueller and Rizzo in the sixth. The two advanced on a wild pitch. Watwood then grounded to Vitter and Mueller was run down between third and home, but Rizzo and Watwood advanced to third and second. Stein lined a single to center, scoring Rizzo and Watwood.

ROUTINE DRILL CLOSES TODAY FOR WHITE SOX

Manager Dykes Is Happy Over Pitching Prospects.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 19.—The drudgery of spring training will cease to be a nightmare for the White Sox after tomorrow when they hold their final conditioning effort on the local lot. With that last piece of routine disposed of the athletes will break camp. Then they'll have nothing to do except play in 23 exhibitions and 154 league games before being able to scatter to their respective homes for the customary winter of leisure.

Tomorrow's good-by assembly will be patterned after the two hour drill of today. In fact all the drills are alike. The boys hit and ran today and the pitchers took their turns at pitching. They'll do the same tomorrow. The pitchers are in such prime condition as the result of the steady, favorable weather hereabouts that they really don't need the work. However, they'll probably enjoy displaying their choice deceivers before such of the hitters as still have winter fog in their eyes.

Dykes Likes Pasadena.

Manager Jim Dykes is so well satisfied with developments that he has decided the team will return here next spring, provided, of course, that he still is the boss. There isn't much danger of a change.

Dykes believes the athletic layout is in better trim than when it was moved away from here a year ago, and nobody has forgotten that the Sox were good enough to lurk around first place for the first couple months of the season. The manager also is inclined to suspect that his team has better possibilities than when it left the starting line in the 1935 American league race.

Pitching Possibilities Look Good.

Dykes' optimism is easily explained. One argument he can put forth is that he knows his pitching has greater possibilities. Lyons, Whitehead, Kennedy, Tietje, and Stratton sound like a fine staf. There is more strength at second base with Tony Piet among those present. Piet didn't come into Sox circles until the middle of the 1935 season. It looks as if Mike Kreevich will make the outfield at least as good as it was last year, although there still is some room for improvement.

Another factor in Dykes' reckoning is Joe Morrissey, the former Cincinnati Red infielder. Morrissey never has been much of a hitter, but he can field whether he plays short, second or third. This means the Sox will have help if any emergency should arise in any one of the three positions. Of course, this isn't going to amount to much if old age or injury should force Dykes to abandon his third base labors. Dykes is the variety of fellow who can take it and thus be some sort of an inspiration when the going is tough. Thus his playing presence is essential.

Just now Dykes insists that old age isn't annoying him, although he can't guarantee himself immune to injury. The stomach complaint which had him down a week ago has vanished as the result of being careful about his diet. His camp exercises have been made up mainly of running back and forth across the outfield. In that way he has reduced himself about nine pounds below his 190 playing weight. The pleasing result, he says, is that his 38 year old legs haven't given him the trouble he expected.

Austin and Webb Absent.

The drill today was slightly leisurely because of the absence of the pepper boys—Coaches Jim Austin and Billy Webb. The latter's portion of a local epidemic of colds forced him to stay out of uniform.

The time defying Austin remained at his Laguna Beach home because of the serious illness of his wife. The former speedster of the Browns and Yankees insists he will quit his job unless Mrs. Austin shows marked improvement inside of a week.

Three Chicago, Three Indiana Teams Win in Catholic Meet

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago and Indiana teams lived up to their reputations as first round play in the national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament continued yesterday and last night at Loyola gymnasium.

St. George and St. Philip disposed of their opponents with no trouble. Inasmuch as De LaSalle had advanced on Wednesday evening, this gave the Chicago Catholic league a perfect record in first round play.

Indiana's three entries—St. Mary's of Anderson, Reitz Memorial of Evansville, and Catholic High of Decatur—also came through.

St. George Whips Spalding.

St. George defeated the downstate Catholic titleholder, Spalding Institute of Peoria, 37 to 19, in a morning game. Then St. Philip advanced at the expense of De LaSalle of Minneapolis, 34 to 19, in the first evening match.

Indiana will place its main hope on the St. Mary's team, which showed considerable class in beating St. Mary's of Dunkirk, N. Y., 36 to 26, in the second evening game. Observers were inclined to sit back and await developments of future rounds before getting worked up over the possibilities of Catholic or Reitz. Catholic beat Holy Family of Union City, N. J., 24 to 21, and Reitz eliminated LaSalle of Philadelphia, 29 to 18.

Talking It Over

NEW YORK, March 19.—Sonja Henie has signed contracts for eighteen professional appearances in eleven American cities. . . . The 24 year old Norwegian girl, who has won the Olympic figure skating title three times and has taken nearly every other championship the sport has to offer, expects to make $100,000 from the tour. . . . Max Baer is weighing an offer of $20,000 to fight Leroy Haynes, the colored heavyweight who stopped Primo Carnera the other night in Philadelphia. . . . And, speaking of Carnera, do you recall that he only recently was the heavyweight champion of the world? . . . The first time out as a title holder he was whipped decisively by the clownish Baer and shortly afterward was scientifically dissected by Joe Louis. . . . Now he has been battered into resignation by a comparative unknown. . . . Those Ethiopians have been troublesome for the Italians.

The busiest members of the Chicago Golden Gloves squad, who are finishing weeks of preparation to show New York that it can be whipped in New York, are Carl Vincequerra and Paul Hartnek, light heavyweight and heavyweight champions, respectively. . . . Both are students at Creighton university, Omaha, Neb., and between road work in the morning and sparring drills in the afternoon they have to turn in satisfactory scholastic work to Prof. Al Fiore of the Creighton faculty, who accompanied the young men to New York. . . . The professor, who is enjoying his first contact with amateur boxers, marvels at the conduct and team spirit of the Chicago group. . . . "They are like a college football squad on tour," he remarked. . . . The Chicago fighters will attend the Olympic basketball trials in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night as guests of Ned Irish, promoter of the meet. . . . An enterprising Washington merchant will sponsor the Red Sox-Tigers spring training game at Lakeland, Fla., Sunday, over a national radio chain. . . .

Keith Topping, Stanford end, who has played against both boys, says Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist isn't in the same class with Dixie Howell, who led Alabama to victory over Stanford in the Rose Bowl game a year ago. . . . The Montreal Maroons favor cycling as a valuable hocky training exercise. . . . It's a pity, but there doesn't seem to be any general interest in the size of Babe Ruth's pay check this spring. . . . Here they will meet ten American slabs of beef picked by Jack Dempsey, who probably will want some of the survivors of Jim Mullen's Chicago tournament. . . . NEW PHILLIPS IS BEATEN BY HULL IN STATE MEET

Little Illinois School Five Wins, 35 to 23.

Champaign, Ill., March 19.—[Special.]—Little Hull High school, a downstate institution that has only 94 pupils from which to choose a basketball team, tonight concluded the first day's play in the final tournament to decide the state prep championship with a 35 to 23 victory over New Phillips of Chicago.

The Phillips-Hull contest, the last of eight contests up for decision today on the University of Illinois floor, was decided in the fourth quarter. In that period the quintet from the little town of 554 inhabitants made 14 points while holding the Chicago team, the first all colored entry to appear in the final meet here, to one basket.

Attendance Record Set.

Today's games, marked by a series of close battles, one of which went overtime, set a new attendance record for the first day of the state tournament finals. There were 4,800 present at the morning session, 6,500 cheered the teams during the afternoon, and an overflow crowd of 6,900 saw the thrilling battles tonight. The total attendance was 18,200, or 4,000 more than last year's contests drew on a similar day.

The overtime game was won by Danville, the only undefeated team to reach the final round that involved 16 sectional tourney winners. The Danville boys beat Centralia, 28 to 26, in the extra period when Capt. Dick Jones sank two free throws and ended the encounter. State tournament rules provide that the first team scoring two points in the overtime shall be declared the victor.

Just before the gun that sounded the end of the regulation time Capt. Jones sank a basket that threw the battle into a 26 all deadlock. When the extra period started Jones drove toward his team's basket and was fouled by Gambill of Centralia as he attempted to shoot. He then nonchalantly dropped in the two free throws that kept his school's slate clean.

Proviso Goes Out.

Proviso of Maywood, one of the teams that was conceded a chance of going to the final battle on Saturday evening, suffered a 24 to 18 reversal at the hands of Johnston City. Johnston City had to stage a rally to beat the boys from the Chicago Suburban league in the final afternoon engagement.

With Johnston City trailing, 18 to 12, Rodden tossed in a basket. Brevi marked up two more points, and Rodden came back with another basket to tie the score. Then Brevi sank three successive baskets to put Johnston City into tomorrow's program of games.

The other games provided spirited competition that had the large crowds at all sessions cheering madly. The lineups:

Peden, Audy Create 3-Way Tie for Lead in Bike Race

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

William [Torchy] Peden, favorite zany of the men who go nowhere on a bicycle for six days and six nights, and his platinum blond associate, Jules Audy, dropped out of character last night in the current chase at the Stadium, and at midnight were tied for the leadership with Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel of Germany and the Italian duo of Alvaro Georgetti and Ferdinando Grillo.

Torchy and Jules evidently became a trifle weary of pursuing the two teams which have maintained an almost unbroken dictatorship over the race since it started last Sunday night. That was the evening that the giant Peden played the leading rôle in one of the most epic crashes in Chicago six day history, one that left his features dotted with sizeable divots.

Takes Hats for a Spin.

Until last night, Torchy continued to play his clowning part behind a mask of bruises and bumps. Yesterday afternoon, when he and Audy were three laps out of the lead, the big redhead put on his old act of snatching hats off the heads of the lady customers in the infield and taking the chapeaux for a spin around the track on his own flaming top. As for Audy, he remained the target of the usual round of "o-o-hs" and "A-a-ahs" with which feminine fans have greeted him since he made his debut.

Last night, along about 11:30 o'clock, however, the two Canadians decided that they'd like to have the organ pipe the "Maple Leaf Rag" instead of the Nazi and Fascist numbers that had been pouring out of it.

They whirled around the Stadium platter as though it were the final hour of riding. First, it was Peden, hunched over the handlebars of his mount so far that his schnozzle nearly scraped the front tire. Then it was Audy, given such forceful pushes by Peden on the pickups that it seemed that the little blond would leave his seat and glide into one of the balconies at any moment.

Gain Technical Advantage.

Finally, shortly before midnight, this mad spell of pedaling, the most exciting of the week, brought them into the tie they had sought with the Germans and Italians, and because of their consistent response to the clients' cheers every day of the race during the sprints, they took the technical advantage with a total of 236 sprint points to 216 for the Kilian-Vopel pair and 177 for Grillo and Georgetti.

The three were deadlocked one lap in front of the Chicago-Cleveland team of Cecil Yates and Saveer Van Slambrouck, who held a two lap margin over the Rodman-Thomas, Rodak-Testa, and Lands-Sima pairs.

The field was reduced to ten teams, Freddie Spencer and Bobby Walthour dropping out after the afternoon's riding, while George Thelin and Frank Keating withdrew at 11 o'clock.

Debaets Wins Motor Paced Race.

The jamming which rewarded Peden and Audy followed the second of the scheduled motor bike paced races, in which Gerard Debaets of Belgium scored a close decision over Bobby Thomas of Kenosha. The time for the five mile race was 8 minutes and 54 seconds. In the final race tonight, Debaets will meet Audy, winner of Wednesday's whirl, over the same distance at 10:30 o'clock.

Thirty-seven laps were stolen last night, bringing the total to 367.

Results of the 1 a. m. sprints follow:

1—Hill, Audy, Lands, Kilian.
2—Vopel, Testa, Thomas, Peden.
3—Hill, Yates, Lands, Audy.

Allot Dates for Chicago Racing Season

The Illinois racing commission yesterday fixed the dates for the six meetings which will make up Chicago's 1936 turf season. It was the first time in recent history that date assignments had not been allotted by March 15, a meeting called for last Monday having been postponed because of the absence of two of the commissioners, Peter F. Carey and Leo Spitz.

Everything Is Settled.

Mr. Carey and Mr. Spitz were present yesterday with their associate, Walter Peacock when the meeting was called, and before it was over the trio had settled all date problems, including the one which it was feared might cause a commotion among the various tracks, three of which had applied for the same dates. The three were Hawthorne, Washington Park, and Lincoln Fields, all of which had asked for June dates. The same three tracks also had asked for dates in August.

This situation was cleared up to the satisfaction of all concerned when the three commissioners ruled unanimously to award the August dates to Washington Park, which will open on the third of that month and close on Labor day, Sept. 7.

Aurora Opens First.

Chicago race fans will have their first 1936 chance to watch the thoroughbreds run on May 1, when the Aurora track will send its first field to the post. The Fox River Valley club's meeting will end on May 22, and the following day Hawthorne will get under way, continuing through June 27.

Arlington Park's meeting will begin on June 29, closing on Aug. 1. This will be followed by the Washington Park dates, after which Lincoln Fields will mark its opening on Sept. 8, closing on Oct. 10. Sportsman's park will conclude the season with dates running from Oct. 12 through Oct. 31.

Dean Agrees to Behave, but He Still Holds Out

Bradenton, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—After promising to be a loyal and obedient pitcher, Jerome H. [Dizzy] Dean, talked salary with President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals late today and promptly rejected the club's latest offer.

The terms proposed to the Cards' ace hurler were not revealed.

Fresh from a cordial conference with Vice President Branch Rickey of the St. Louis club, Dean called upon Manager Frankie Frisch. He then went to see Breadon at the latter's hotel. It was the first time they had met since both arrived several weeks ago.

It was understood Breadon and Dizzy parted on good terms, but without arranging another conference.

Dean has insisted he will not sign for less than $40,000. He said the club had offered $18,500. Whether Breadon raised the ante today was not known.

Soon after his talk with Dean, Rickey left town and is not expected to return until tomorrow night. He and Dean, who is known to be aching to step on the mound, arranged a meeting for sometime tomorrow to talk contract.

TITLE IN U. S. HOCKY SECTION GOES TO DETROIT

Chicagoans to End Season Tomorrow.

Detroit, Mich., March 19.—(AP)—The Detroit Redwings clinched the American division leadership of the National Hocky league before 17,519 tonight with a brilliant 5 to 3 victory over their closest rivals, the Chicago Blackhawks.

DOC ROMNES.

The victory put the Wings four points in front, and gave them the season's series, four games to three with one tie. It was their first victory over the Hawks on their home ice this year.

Bouncing back from a streak of six games without a victory, the Wings showed the form that has won them the first place playoff position in the Stanley cup series, completely wrecking most of the Blackhawk drives and passing beautifully in the attacking zone.

Hawks at Best in First Period.

The Hawks, battling with a chance to tie for the lead, made their best attack in the first period. Just before the gong Modere Bruneteau put the Wings ahead, however, and after play was resumed Larry Aurie and Johnny Sorrell ran the advantage to three goals.

The Hawks fought back to come within one goal of tying, as Art Wiebe and Doc Romnes counted, each on solo dashes. Detroit countered with a neat goal by Herbie Lewis, and Marty Barry scored from left ice on a pass from Doug Young to run up the second largest score made against the Blackhawks this year. Glenn Brydson pushed in a final goal for the Hawks, but the game was definitly the Wings' at the time.

Both Sides Play Safe.

Neither team was taking chances and play was desultory in the latter part of the first period. Bruneteau suddenly roused the crowd by taking the rebound of Sorrell's drive from left ice to send a goal past Karakas in 18:33.

Aurie put the Wings two goals in front after 2:55 of the second period. He skated in and netted the puck from 15 feet out on a pass from Lewis. Barry also got an assist on the play. Sorrell added another goal less than a minute later, also on assists from Barry and Lewis. Wiebe counted the Hawks' first goal after four minutes on a solo dash that followed a Wing drive with all the attackers down the ice.

All three scores were made while Martie Burke, Chicago defense man, was in the penalty box.

Keep on Scoring.

A swiftly driven puck fired from right ice by Mush March struck Goalie Smith, laying him low for a few minutes, but he returned to action after a rest. Romnes almost immediately skated solo down the center and shot from the penalty circle, the puck bounding off Smith's stick into the net at 11:18. The Wings then drove down for their fourth goal, made by Lewis on assists by Aurie and Barry in 12:25.

Pete Kelly missed a wide open shot in front of the Hawk goal after a nice pass from Sorrell. A moment later Wiebe drove down to fire a close one that bounced off Goalie Smith, who went down to the ice. La Rochelle followed up with the net open, but missed.

Barry and Young combined to give the Wings another goal after 1:47 of the third period. Driving swiftly down left ice, Young tossed the puck to Barry, who fired a high drive into the net.

Howe missed a good shot at the Hawk goal on a pass from Hec Kilrea. Then the Chicagoans drove down to score, Glenn Brydson counting on LaRochelle's rebound in 17:44.

NEW YORK'S TOO FRIENDLY TO SUIT GOLDEN GLOVERS

They Suspect a Motive Behind Hospitality.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 19.—New York is preparing to give Chicago's Golden Gloves boxers the works. This is the opinion of the coaches and trainers who have had experience with the subtle humor of the Manhattans.

New York has been entirely too hospitable. Not only were most of the rival athletes at the Grand Central station yesterday to greet the Chicago special, but they have inquired frequently concerning the health and general ability of the western boys. This, to any one who knows New York and its athletic sons, can be translated into trouble. New York doesn't enjoy a licking and this goes for baseball, basketball, hocky, and boxing.

It's a Chicago Year.

The Cubs whipped the daylights out of the Giants; Notre Dame took care of New York university in basketball at Madison Square Gardens; the Blackhawks have done right well for themselves this winter, and now, if Chicago's Golden Glovers can measure the New Yorkers before a Garden capacity crowd Monday night all will be well on the shores of Lake Michigan.

Chicago's boys have taken their work seriously. Johnny Behr, head coach, who also will lead Uncle Sam's boxers to the Olympic games this summer, asserts that he never has had a better disciplined team. There is a question, of course, concerning the ability of these boys. Some may lack the confidence and poise of such men as Dave Clark, Lorenzo Pack, or King Wyatt, who led the driving attack last year which swept the tough eight consecutive bouts to lick the boys of Father Knickerbocker, 11 to 5. Others certainly are equal in ability. But none of the 1935 team is superior in desire to win and this goes a long way in amateur boxing.

Workout in Central Park.

The Chicago team, under immediate direction of Fred Caserio, himself a former intercity champion as well as an international winner, went on the road in Central park this morning. The boys went round and round the reservoir on the cinder path and came out with plenty of steam.

In the afternoon, the athletes again were shipped north two miles to Stillman's gymnasium. There, in two rings, the lads went through a stiff session with the padded gloves. Two rounds were the minimum.

The question of which one of the three ineligible champions will fight Monday night has been brought up again. In the beginning Milton Shivers, Detroit, middleweight champion, and Ted Kara, Cleveland featherweight champion, were asked to report at the Illinois Athletic club for the preliminary drills. Jackie Wilson, Cleveland flyweight titleholder, was skipped in official view. Wilson, who boarded the special Tuesday evening, had other ideas. He said today he expected to prove that he is the one to fight in Madison Square Garden. This afternoon Wilson was sent against Capt. John Brown, bantamweight champion, and the verdict of the coaches was that the final decision now must be reserved.

What's an Ineligible Champ?

What do you mean ineligible champions? By a decision more than two years ago, New York won the point that Cleveland and Detroit winners in Chicago's mammoth tournament of champions could not compete in New York. They are eligible in Chicago and after this year, in all probability, they will fight in New York. But this year, as in 1934, the ukase prohibits them from fighting. One will be excepted and this because Paul Gallico, then leader of Manhattan's glovers, violated the rules and brought a boy to Chicago last year who had not even participated in New York's 1935 tournament.

SCARPATI, HURT IN AMBERS FIGHT, IS STILL IN COMA

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Tony Scarpati, Brooklyn welterweight who was knocked out by Lou Ambers Tuesday night, was conceded tonight only one chance in ten of living by physicians attending him at the Bushwick hospital, Brooklyn.

Scarpati, 22 years old, who won 17 straight bouts prior to his defeat by Ambers, struck his head on the floor after being knocked down by a right hook to the chin. He has been unconscious ever since. He was in a coma late today and his left side was paralyzed.

The New York state athletic commission absolved Ambers of all blame after investigating the match.

BOB TOW WHIPS EDDIE SLAKE ON ARCADIA CARD

Bob Tow, Alexandria, Va., boxer, whipped Eddie Slake, South Bend, Ind., in the six round main event of the heavyweight show last night at Arcadia Gardens. Izzy Singer of New York beat Steve Roberts, South Chicago, in the six round semi-final. Only a few hundred fans attended. Preliminary results:

Max Zona, Chicago Heights, beat Woody White, Evanston, Ind. [6]; Bobby Kraft, Dayton, O., stopped Fred Bomber, Chicago [1]; Joe Ketchell, Cleveland, beat George Vallos, Chicago [4]; Joe Mendoza knocked out Biff Bennett [3].

Cavaliers Meet Reymonts for Polish Title Tonight

The Cavaliers and Reymonts will meet for the championship of the Polish Roman Catholic Union Basketball league tonight at Trinity High school gymnasium. The Reymonts, defending champions, were defeated recently by the Cavaliers after having won 22 consecutive games over a span of two years.

Woods and Waters By Bob Becker

After seeing hundreds of roomy and beautifully furnished auto trailers in use when we were cruising around Florida with a fishing rod in one hand and a shotgun in the other, we have come to the conclusion that many a motorcamper would rather hear the rain patter on the roof of one of these modern "camp wagons" that travels behind the automobile than listen to the gentle drumming of a rainstorm on a canvas tent. On every road that we traveled to our fishing and hunting grounds we saw trailers and then more trailers.

One afternoon we spent several hours in a colony of trailer campers. They had a separate area all by themselves on the bay at Punta Gorda, Fla. They could wheel their movable homes into position and even tap an electric line so as to have light.

It's Luxurious Life.

We visited around, saw the interiors of a number of the trailer homes, watched one good wife grilling a couple of sea trout on the little electric stove in the trailer kitchen, and was impressed by the de luxe character of the camp life that these trailer enthusiasts now get. It was something of a shock to a camper who has always rolled into a little explorer's model tent at night and rigged up an air mattress and a sleeping bag for a bed to see how the trailer campers were living.

But we thought things were carried a little bit too far by one man and his wife who had driven to Florida from somewhere in Virginia. They were carrying three Plymouth Rock hens with them on their winter cruise in order to have fresh eggs every day. When we heard about the motorcamper with his pet hens we could hardly believe the story.

In Crate on Running Board.

This couple had a small coop for the hens. When they hit the open road with their trailer coupled on behind the car the hens rode in this coop or crate which was placed on the running board. When we saw this outfit in camp the three hens were under the trailer because the owner carried a small roll of chicken wire which he strung around the base of the old trailer while in camp, thus making a roomy little yard for the tame Plymouth Rocks.

We expected to see lots of these motorcampers with their dogs. We weren't disappointed because the dogs were on hand. But when a trailer enthusiast transports laying hens on a trip we think things have gone a little bit too far toward luxury and convenience in camping.

Pick New York for Schmeling and Louis Bout

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—New York City will be the scene of the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling heavyweight boxing bout, Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today, following a conference with Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York state boxing commission.

The selection of New York, Mike said, followed the commission's demand that it be held here. Jacobs had received attractive bids from Chicago, Philadelphia, and Cleveland.

With New York getting the Louis-Schmeling bout, speculation immediately arose as to whether the fight between the winner and Champion James J. Braddock might not be staged outside of the city. Jacobs had promised the commission he would hold one big fight in New York this summer.

Philadelphia had made a strong bid for the Schmeling scrap, offering Jacobs free use of the Sesquicentennial stadium during the Democratic national convention.

Schmeling, according to Jacobs, will sail on the Bremen on April 15, arriving here April 21. Max, who is now at his estate in the Berlin suburbs, will go immediately to French Lick Springs, Ind., upon his arrival here. After a three week session there he will return to an eastern training camp.

Indications are that the Yankee stadium will be the scene of the fight, for the enlarging of the seating capacity at the Ruppert ball park, now underway, is expected to be completed by June.

PITTSBURGH'S SPORTS CENTERS ESCAPE FLOODS

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 19.—(AP)—Rioting floods spared Pittsburgh's athletic and recreation centers. Numerous postponements of sports events resulted, however, because of light and power failures.

Forbes field, home ground of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the big University of Pittsburgh were far removed from the flood center.

Promoters called off the scheduled fight between Tait Littman of Cudahy, Wis., and V. Wickets of Pittsburgh, Friday night.

Amateur boxing at McKeesport, near here, was indefinitly postponed. Another fight program in the Moose temple, Pittsburgh, could not be held.

Pittsburgh's Shamrocks of the International league found themselves unable to fill a scheduled engagement with the Detroit team tomorrow night. No date was set for the match.

ILLINOIS CANCELS ENTRY.

Lexington, Va., March 19.—(AP)—Flood waters in eastern and midwestern United States today caused the University of Illinois and Kent college of Ohio to cancel entries in the national intercollegiate wrestling tournament opening at Washington and Lee university here tomorrow.

Other teams began arriving for the event, however, and two new institutions were listed among the competitors when Oklahoma university and Central Teachers college of Oklahoma, both with strong teams, arrived in Lexington this morning.

CORNELL AND PURDUE TAKE BILLIARD TITLES

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Purdue and Cornell have won the intercollegiate straight rail and three-cushion billiard titles, it was announced today by the National Billiard association. Purdue scored in the straight rail competition with 404 points. Other contenders were Wisconsin, 350; Cornell, 303; Michigan, 255; Indiana, 241; Iowa, 231; Minnesota, 223; Michigan State, 214; Kansas, 204; Pennsylvania, 183; Brown, 165; Iowa State, 148; Rochester, 109; Illinois, 36.

The three-cushion results were: Cornell, 81; Wisconsin, 80; Iowa, 79; Michigan, 79; Purdue, 76; Iowa State, 71; Michigan State, 66; Kansas, 62; Minnesota, 62; Illinois, 36.

Meet Tonight to Arrange Skating Stars' Reception

Members of the Illinois Western Skating association will meet tonight in the Sherman hotel to discuss plans for a reception in honor of Eddie Schroeder and Leo Freisinger, members of the United States skating team at the winter Olympics in Garmisch-Partenkirchen. Schroeder returned Sunday, while Freisinger will not return until tomorrow, having won a trip to Rome offered by Bishop Bernard J. Sheil.

Bloom Challenges Johnson to Try His River Pitch Now

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—Representative Sol Bloom of New York today challenged Walter Johnson, former pitcher, to try to throw a silver dollar across the Rappahannock river now.

"With the present high waters," he said, "the river should be about the size it was when George Washington was supposed to have pitched the dollar across, and not the puny little stream it was when Walter 'duplicated' the legend."

Johnson tossed the coin across the river at Fredericksburg, Va., last Feb. 22. The stream was then 272 feet wide.

JOCKY MEADE TO TAKE SUSPENSION CASE INTO COURT

Miami, Fla., March 19.—[Special.]—Jocky Don Meade, recently suspended by the Florida Racing commision, intends to fight for exoneration in court here.

Meade, one of America's leading riders, has engaged Attorney William Pruitt to handle his case. Meade, it is said, does not think he was fairly treated by the Florida commission at the hearing which resulted in his banishment. Meade's license was revoked at a time when he was leading the Hialeah riders. The inside facts which brought it about have not been made public. It has been hinted that if the case goes to court the evidence will prove of a sensational order and detrimental to the sport.

Meade, under contract to Col. E. R. Bradley, has been in Miami since his suspension. It has been reported that the jocky may test the constitutionality of the Florida racing law, enacted in 1931.

NORTH SHORE TO GET COAST GUARD BOAT SERVICE

Coast guard service will be available on the north shore in emergencies for boating and swimming enthusiasts next summer for the first time, it was announced last night by Capt. LeRoy Reinburg, at a meeting of the Lake Michigan Yachting association at the Sherman hotel.

The 15 mile stretch of lake front between the Old Chicago and Wilmette Coast Guard stations will be under the protection of a 75 foot picket boat, Capt. Reinburg said. The C. G. 119, which has been stationed at the Michigan avenue bridge, will work out of Belmont harbor. The C. G. 119 is capable of 15 miles per hour, is equipped with sending and receiving radio, and has a crew of seven.

DON GEORGE IN WINDUP OF MAT SHOW TONIGHT

Meets Pat Murphy in Bout at Marigold Gardens.

Ed Don George, the old University of Michigan football player, tonight will appear against Pat Murphy in the feature bout on the heavyweight wrestling card at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. George is a former claimant of the championship now held by Dick Shikat. His match with Murphy is booked for one fall with a 60 minute time limit. So is the encounter involving Ole Olsen and Farmer [Whiskers] Tobin. Bouts with a 30 minute period match Buckets Goldenberg of the Green Bay Packers' football team with Bobby Bruns, and Jules Strongbow, giant Indian from Oklahoma, with Jim Jaros.

Buddy Knox opened training yesterday at Madison Square loop gymnasium for his eight round contest with Red Burman at Chicago Stadium one week from tonight. Harry Thomas, who will appear in a second conflict at eight rounds, is working out at Trafton's gymnasium. There will be five matches in all. . . . Thurston McKinney, Detroit welterweight, and Bob La Monte of Chicago were signed yesterday to meet in an eight round main event at Marigold Monday. . . . Amateur fights tonight are scheduled at Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, and White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . Matchmaker Kid Howard Carr is attempting to arrange a match between John Henry Lewis and Cowboy Frankie Edgren at the Chicago Riding club April 1. . . . Promoter Billy Cepak says he had to take in $1,000 at the gate to break even on his inaugural show at Arcadia Gardens last night.

Barney Ross will defend his welterweight title at Sydney or Melbourne, Australia, against Jack Carroll in November instead of May and under the auspices of Charlie Lucas and not Jack Munro, it was indicated yesterday. Sam Pian, manager of Ross, several days ago accepted a $50,000 guarantee offered by Munro, representing the National Boxing club of Australia, for such a match. However, Munro's apparent inability to sign Carroll, holder of the Australian 147 pound crown, has caused Pian to switch to Lucas, who has Carroll under contract.

The Australian promoter informed Pian yesterday that he will arrive in Chicago about April 23 to post the purse in a Chicago bank. At the same time contracts will be signed. In the meanwhile Ross' representative is awaiting the arrival of Charles Jones, Louisville, Ky., matchmaker, to talk terms relative to Barney's appearance at Louisville on Derby eve.

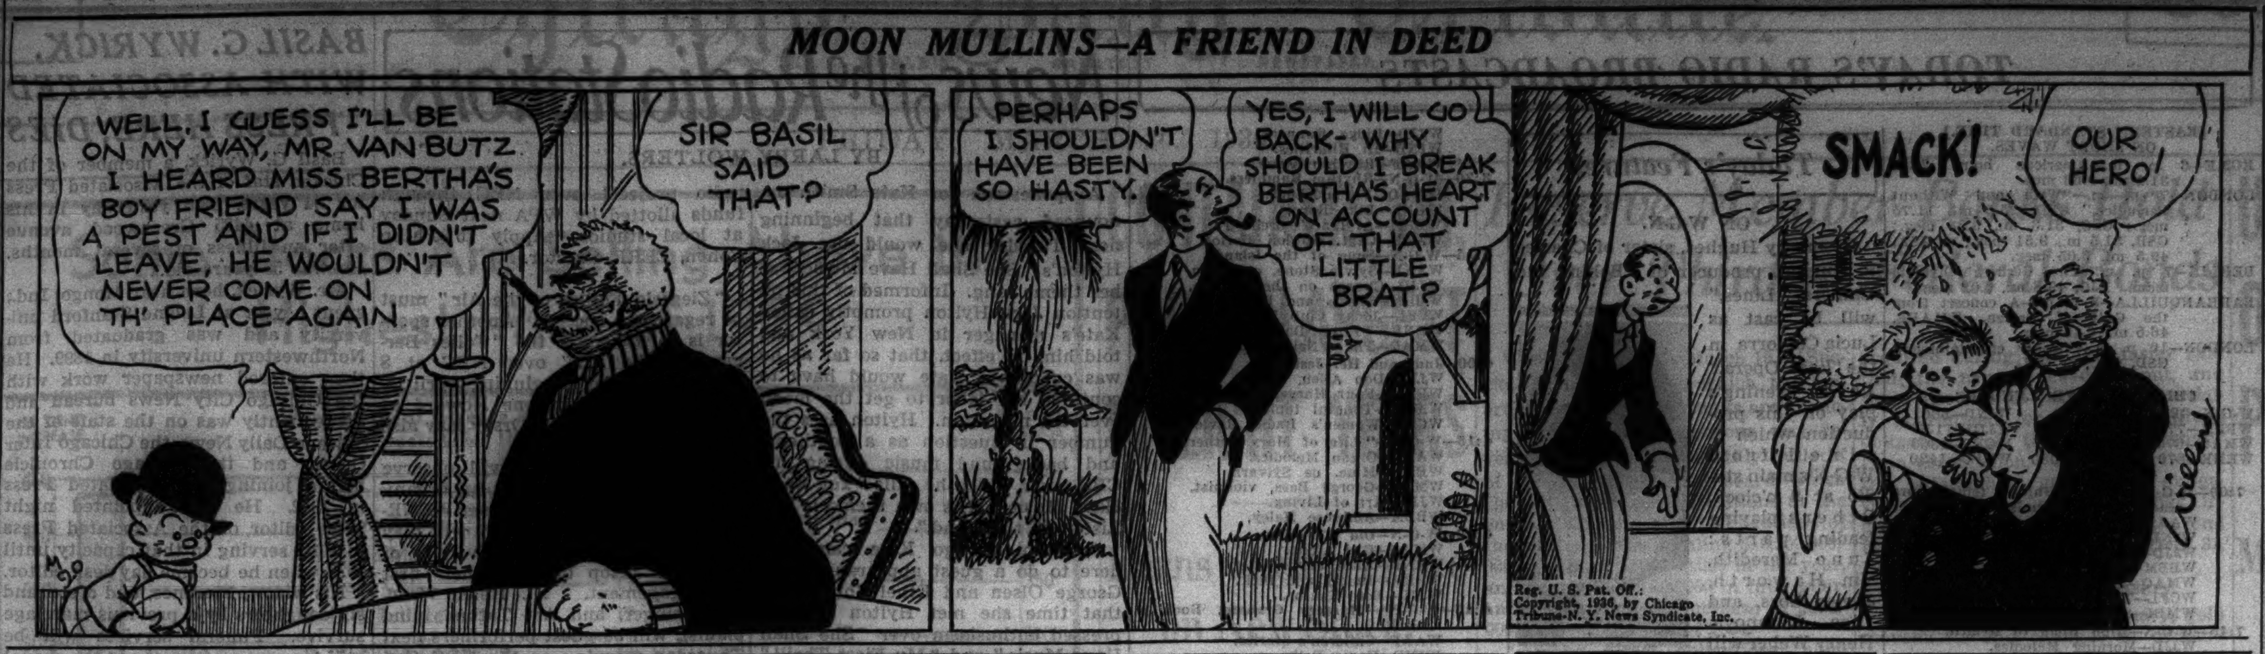
MOON MULLINS—A FRIEND IN DEED



WELL, I GUESS I'LL BE ON MY WAY, MR. VAN BUTZ - I HEARD MISS BERTHA'S BOY FRIEND SAY I WAS A PEST AND IF I DIDN'T LEAVE, HE WOULDN'T NEVER COME ON TH' PLACE AGAIN
SIR BASIL SAID THAT?
PERHAPS I SHOULDN'T HAVE BEEN SO HASTY.
YES, I WILL GO BACK- WHY SHOULD I BREAK BERTHA'S HEART ON ACCOUNT OF THAT LITTLE BRAT?
SMACK!

Detroit	021 010 110— 6	9	1

Batteries—Earnshaw, Baker and Berres; Auker, Kimsey, Larkin and Cochrane.

MACKS BEAT RED SOX.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics scored five runs in the ninth and defeated the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 8, today. Wally Moses, entering the game as a pinch hitter, provided the winning punch with the bases full, two out and the A's one run behind. He singled, scoring Peters and Warstler.

THREE DRIVERS FIGHT FOR LEAD IN AUTO RACES

A three cornered fight for the point standing lead will be waged at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue, Sunday night, with Jimmy Snyder, Ronnie Householder, and Pat Warren as the principals.

Snyder is the current point leader, having regained the top rank in last Sunday's racing by snapping Householder's winning streak. Warren also outdrove Householder Sunday night, maintaining his second place position, while Snyder moved from third to first.

Henry Picard Leads in Charleston Open with 136

Charleston, S. C., March 19.—(AP)—Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., scored a 69 in the second 18 hole round of the Charleston open golf tournament today to lead the field at the halfway point with a 67—69—136. Ky Laffoon of Chicago, who was tied with the Hershey pro at the end of the first round, needed 76 strokes today for a 143. Dick Metz of Chicago also posted a 69 today, which put him five strokes back of Picard with a 72—69—141.

Three Chicago Teams Win in Catholic Meet

of Dubuque showed strength yesterday and are considered capable of causing considerable trouble before the tournament is over.

Tournament followers are looking forward with considerable interest to the second round meeting today between St. Xavier of Louisville, the defending champion, and De La Salle, Chicago Catholic league title holder, which is scheduled for 11 a. m. Other games which will be closely watched will be that between St. George and Columbia, at 2 p. m., and that between St. Mary's of Anderson and Catholic High school of Baton Rouge at 8:30 p. m.

St. Mary's Never Fails.

Tournament followers have come to count on the St. Mary's of Anderson team for a good show, and the youngsters fully lived up to expectations last night. Although their 36 to 26 score over the Dunkirk team doesn't seem to imply a particularly close battle, those figures are deceiving. It was anybody's game until the last quarter, when the Anderson boys put on one of the spectacular finishes for which they became famous last year. The score was 13 to 13 at the half and 20 to 19 in the Indiana team's favor at the end of the third quarter.

Eugene Zagorski, Anderson forward, who was one of the outstanding players of last season's tournament, again gave an excellent performance last night. This nimble young fellow scored eight field goals and figured prominently in his team's intricate passing.

Joe Really Hits the Hoop.

The biggest individual scoring job of the evening was credited to Joseph La Bauve of Catholic High school of Baton Rouge, La. He tied the all time tournament record of 29 points, while his team was defeating St. John's academy of Jamestown, N. D., 49 to 12. The original mark was set last season by Phil Reverman of the St. Xavier of Louisville quintet. La Bauve's total was made up of 13 baskets and three free throws.

Hyde Park Faculty Five Beats Tilden Tech, 29-16

The Hyde Park High school faculty basketball team defeated a Tilden Tech faculty quintet, 29 to 16, yesterday at Hyde Park.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

LOCAL NEWS JOTTINGS.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 19.—With departure of many winter visitors, full facilities of the Broward county jail here are now available to the regular involuntary guests. The two rooms on the top floor, fitted with eight cots, again are being used for trusties with real or fancied ailments.

During the height of the rush, when the problem of caring for overflow crowds was a real worry, the matron, at suggestion of the chamber of commerce, fitted up the jail for tourists. It was something of a handicap that guests must be inside the premises before 10:30 at night and could not get out before 8:30 in the morning, but terms were only $2 per night, European plan, so stranded motorists were grateful for the accommodations.

Our first annual sailfish rodeo is ended, with payment of cash prizes of $100 each to Karl Faigle, Detroit, heaviest sailfish, 67½ pounds; George A. Arbogast, Western Springs, Ill., longest, 7 feet 7¾ inches; W. E. Mayers, New Brunswick, N. J., smallest, 11¾ pounds.

Season records to date for other fish, posted on the town bulletin board, include these middle westerners: Joe Roseman, Glen View, Ill., amberjack, 48 pounds 4 ounces; Frank Armstrong, Winnetka, Ill., barracuda, 42 pounds 8 ounces; Mrs. Sheigert, Indianapolis, sailfish, 66 pounds 8 ounces; Fred Luxton, Belvidere, Ill., pompano, 4 pounds 12 ounces.

Art Goldie, known in Chicago newspaper circles a decade ago, is publicity counsel for the Hollywood Country club, where Manager Harold E. Leopold was tapped on the dome with a pistol butt by bandits recently when they escaped with $20,000, bank roll of the restaurant and casino. The club didn't need any publicity on that one, which was properly headlined in Florida dailies.

Walter O'Meara, New York advertising man, formerly of the University of Wisconsin, is writing a novel on his vacation. As Walter is an ardent rod and reel man, friends fear the novel may be a little fishy.

John Fitzgerald, Chicago and New York advertising man, has rejoined his family. John's agency specializes in newspaper accounts, and he finds southern papers need especial attention at this season of the year, hence his presence. Mrs. Fitzgerald boasts the only pup, bull terrier, which gained admittance to a restricted cottage area.

Armour Relay Field Is Set to Shatter Marks

Track athletes from eight states will descend upon Chicago, beginning tonight, in preparation for the eighth annual Armour Tech games, which will take place tomorrow afternoon and evening at the University of Chicago fieldhouse. Up to yesterday entries of 365 individuals from 32 colleges and universities has been received.

The Armour games will provide a program of twenty events, with eight preliminaries scheduled, and in separate competition in seven events for the new individual all around championship the number of races will exceed forty, exclusive of field events.

Expect Records to Fall.

On the basis of last week's meets, predictions are that three of the nineteen established Armour records will fall, and four or more are threatened.

Don Elser, Notre Dome full back, should be one hero of the meet, if prediction is at all reliable. In the C. I. C. meet last week Elser established a new meet record of 48 feet 11¾ inches in the shot put, which is nearly 8 inches better than the Armour mark of 48 feet 4 inches made last year by Davis of Hillsdale. Elser also will be the favorite over the field of seven entries in the all around competition.

Rosenkrantz Likely to Set Mark.

Abe Rosenkrantz of Michigan Normal, member of the Jewish Olympic team, is a favorite to set a new mark in the half-mile. The present record, 1:56.8, was made by Chuck Hornbostel of Indiana in 1932. Last week Rosenkrantz set a new C. I. C. record by covering the distance in 1:55 even. The third record that should fall is that in the pole vault. In the Big Ten meet last week Al Haller of Wisconsin cleared 13 feet 6 inches, then barely missed his tries for a new conference record at 13 feet 10½ inches. Tomorrow night he will be out for the Armour record, made by Irving Seeley of Illinois last year, which is 13 feet 5⅝ inches.

The four other records which may go are those for the 440, university two mile relay, one mile run and high hurdles. New honors in the quarter-mile will be sought by Sunny Heg of Northwestern, O'Shea and Jessel of Marquette, and Nixon of Kansas State. The present record, :50.4, was made by Burns of Butler in 1932.

Bruins Tie, Clinch Place in Playoffs

TORONTO, Ont., March 19.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins clinched their place in the National Hocky league playoffs tonight by playing a 2 to 2 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The draw assured the Bruins of taking third place in the league's American division, although they can be tied on points by the New York Rangers. Boston's greater number of victories clinched the place.

AMERICANS WIN, 4 TO 1

New York, March 19.—(AP)—The New York Americans put on a scoring splurge in the second period of tonight's National Hocky league match and defeated the Montreal Canadiens, 4 to 1, before a crowd of 4,000, the smallest of the season.

Little importance attached to the game, as the Americans had already beaten out the Canadiens for third place in the Canadian group and a niche in the Stanley cup playoffs. The game was fast and interesting throughout, however. Lineup:

Cubs Move On to New Orleans; Play Cleveland Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., March 19.—The Cubs left here tonight for a one day visit with the Cleveland Indians in New Orleans. The troupe will arrive at New Orleans at 7:25 o'clock tomorrow morning and will depart for Pensacola tomorrow night at 8:20. They will get to Pensacola at 5:50 a. m. Saturday.

Bill Lee will pitch the first five innings against the Indians. He will be followed by Lefty Shoun. The Cubs have received no bulletins as to the pitching talent the Indians will employ.

The Cubs were billeted six cots to a room here this morning. They would have caught plenty of morning sleep under this arrangement but for a fiend in the street who was trying to break the world record for removing concrete with a pneumatic chisel.

The first foul to go into the stands today was caught by a young man who seemed to have some interest in baseball. It was Elmer Dean, brother of Diz and Paul.

HUDLIN TO PITCH.

New Orleans, La., March 19.—(AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill of the Cleveland Indians announced after today's workout that Willis Hudlin, the lone Tribe pitcher to see no competitive action this year, would start against Bill Lee as the Indians play the Chicago Cubs tomorrow. Hudlin, dean of the Cleveland mound corps, turned in 15 victories each of the last two years.

Lancers' Horse Show to Offer Many Features

The third annual spring horse show of the Lancers of the 122d field artillery will be presented tomorrow night in the regiment's armory, 234 East Chicago avenue. The Lancers are commanded by Capt. Hubert Harz. Lieut. H. D. Stucke is executive officer.

The program will open at 8 o'clock with a performance by the regimental exhibition battery, commanded by Capt. Colin Dixon. The battery will give a demonstration of horse drawn artillery maneuvers.

There will be two horsemanship events, the troopers' mounted class, in which 16 enlisted men, chosen by elimination, will compete, and the officers' charger class, restricted to lieutenants. A feature of the program will be four chukkers of polo, bringing together the Olympia Fields and 122d Field Artillery teams.

Jean D'Arc, a 29 year old French mare which saw action in eight battles during the world war, will be shown by her owner, Lieut. Col. Von Holtzendorf.

The mounted troop of Lancers will close the show with a silent drill, including difficult cavalry movements, concluded by a charge through a hoop of flames.

TWO TEAMS ENTER TOURNEY.

The Lucania Undertakers and the Cavaliers have entered the heavyweight competition in the A. A. F. basketball tournament opening at the B. B. R. gymnasium Tuesday.

FLOWER SHOW OPENS AT NAVY PIER TOMORROW

70 Clubs Place Exhibits for Colorful Event.

The tenth annual Chicago Flower show, presented by the Garden club of Illinois, will open tomorrow morning at Navy pier. Continuing through Sunday, March 29, the show will be open to visitors from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily.

More than 70 of the 120 garden clubs in Chicago and throughout Illinois, members of the state organization, have placed exhibits, the largest number of clube to take part since the show was started 10 years ago as a small exhibit in a loop hotel.

Directed Entirely by Members.

This year's display occupies all the 100,000 square feet of floor space in Navy Pier exhibition hall. It is said to be the largest display of its kind in the country and the only major flower show created and directed entirely by women members of flower clubs.

All entrants have arranged their displays and a preview of the show will be held tonight. Several hundred persons, including the judges, have been invited as guests of the show management. Judging of major exhibits will start this afternoon. Many of the cups and ribbons assigned to winners will be put in place before the preview.

Wide Variety of Exhibits.

In the entrance of the 1,700 foot exhibition hall is a reproduction of a bit of Illinois scenery which may be found only in the more rugged sections of the state in spring. There is a rocky glen with ferns, vines, and woods flowers; a waterfall spilling down among violets in bloom; evergreens and white birch trees pushing their branches against sandstone bluffs; wild plum bushes; a natural rock bridge that looks as if it had always stood there, spanning an imaginary stream. All this is presented in moonlight that is synthetic but just as bewitching as the real article.

Various kinds of gardens are featured in the competitive exhibits, ranging all the way from window boxes to gardens for large estates, from frontier gardens to the most formal landscape designs. There are suburban gardens, city gardens, entrance courts, flower gardens, terrace plantings, kitchen and picking gardens, small greenhouses, and wall gardens.

Heating, Ventilation Provided.

Heating units have been installed to add to the comfort of visitors. They will change the air in the huge building seven times an hour. Free parking space for 3,000 cars has been provided. Approximately 200,000 persons attended the show last year.

The executive committee in charge this year consists of Mrs. O. W. Dynes of Hinsdale and Mrs. W. W. Shoemaker of Winnetka, co-chairmen; Mrs. George Plamondon, Wheaton; Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Lake Forest; Mrs. Willard W. Jaques, Chicago; Mrs. Howard Countryman, Rockford; Mrs. Euclid Snow, Hinsdale; Mrs. Raymond Knotts, Berwyn, and Mrs. L. T. Warren, Elmhurst.

TRIAL OF MOVIE SLAYER IS SET FOR APRIL 20

Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Criminal court yesterday set April 20 for the trial of Peter Krisoulas, 42 years old, 3633 South Hamilton avenue, for the murder of Irving Fehlberg, 36 years old, assistant manager of the Mid-West theater, 35th street and Archer avenue. Krisoulas has confessed he shot and killed Fehlberg in the theater office last Saturday because he feared the assistant manager was going to have him arrested for molesting a girl patron in the theater.

Assistant State's Attorney Morris Meyers declared the state would demand the death penalty. Krisoulas pleaded not guilty when arraigned in court on Wednesday.

To provide immediate funds for Fehlberg's family a benefit show will be given next Tuesday evening at the Mid-West theater. H. Schoenstadt & Sons have donated the entire receipts of the theater for that night. The benefit performance will start at 7 o'clock with a special feature picture, followed by a vaudeville program.

JOHN CRERAR'S DAUGHTER DEAD OF AUTO INJURIES

Mrs. Catherine Crerar Warren, daughter of Mrs. Marie G. Crerar, 209 Lake Shore drive, and the late John Crerar, coal merchant, died yesterday in San Diego, Cal., as the result of injuries in an automobile accident, according to word received here last night. She was 28 years old.

Her injuries in the accident, which occurred Tuesday, were at first not believed to be serious, but yesterday she became seriously ill and died before the arrival of a physician.

Mrs. Warren was the wife of Dr. Hugo Warren of New York. She was married to Ralph C. Otis Jr. in 1927, but later they were divorced.

J. A. Cashion, Builder of Railroads in West, Dies

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—[Special.]—J. A. Cashion, 77, former president of Grant Brothers Construction company, builders of the Santa Fe railroad lines west from Kansas City died today. After completing the Santa Fe line here he built a railroad down the west coast of Mexico. He was a friend of President Diaz of Mexico.

Widow of "Shirt-Sleeve Millionaire" Dies of Grief

LONDON, March 19.—(AP)—Lady Hopwood, grief stricken, died today, only a few hours after the death of her husband, Sir William Hopwood, the one-time "shirt-sleeve millionaire." Sir William lost his fortune in the depression. When the crash came his wife pooled her resources with those of Sir William for the benefit of his creditors. Lady Hopwood was 75, two years older than her husband. They will be buried together Saturday. They had intended to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary next year.

Rites for Rev. P. L. Dillon Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for the Rev. Paul L. Dillon, former Chicagoan who died Monday at South Haven, Mich., where he was pastor of St. Basil's Catholic church, will be held in the Holy Name cathedral tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. Father Dillon, who was 40 years old, was a graduate of Quigley seminary and the North American college in Rome. He is survived by two brothers, Gerard D. and Gregory T. Dillon, both of Chicago. The body will lie in state tonight in the cathedral rectory at 730 North Wabash avenue.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A spokesman for Kate Smith announced yesterday that beginning next Tuesday she would use Jack Hylton's "She Shall Have Music" as her theme song. Informed of this intention Jack Hylton promptly called Kate's manager in New York and told him, in effect, that so far as he was concerned Kate would have to continue her labor to get the moon over the mountain. Hylton uses the number in question as a subtheme and background music during his CBS revue which he calls "You Shall Have Music." His own theme is "O, Listen to the Band."

A fortnight ago Kate came out here to do a guest appearance with George Olsen and Ethel Shutta. At that time she met Hylton and expressed enthusiasm over "She Shall Have Music" and "My First Thrill," both songs from Hylton's recently released picture. She asked whether she might use them. Jack gave her permission to sing them once, but asked her to wait until he had done them coast to coast on his new NBC commercial which is to start Sunday, April 5. Thus he was somewhat startled to hear her do both of them the past week.

Jack got a good laugh out of Kate's agent's announcement that Hylton had written the song with her in mind and that he had given her exclusive performing rights. Jack did not write the song. "I can't understand any one," he added, "who would want to use a theme song which is definitly identified with another personality."

Jack's W-G-N broadcasts from the Drake will continue until May, when he will probably move his troupe to New York for a hotel engagement there.

Alphabet soup: CCC boys with radio aspirations will be auditioned by EERP [emergency educational radio project] over NBC through funds allotted by WPA next Sunday at local studios. Apply to Philip Cohen, EERP director.

"Ziegfeld Follies of the Air" must be regarded a success. Another sponsor is to introduce the "Folies Bergere of the Air" over NBC at 8 p. m. Wednesdays beginning April 15, with Willie and Eugene Howard as the headliners. Fifi D'Orsay may also appear.

Fred Waring's crew will observe their 17th anniversary as an organization on their broadcast over WENR-NBC at 9:30 tonight. They will play tunes they did at the University of Michigan J-Hop of 1919, their first big engagement. . . . Helen Ward, torch singer, and Art Tatum, blind pianist, will be guest performers next Thursday morning on the NBC Carnival. These two will represent Chicago in the auditions being conducted by the Carnival sponsors in the various cities it has outlets.

Alec Templeton, blind young pianist composer, will make a guest appearance on the W-G-N Mardi Gras of Melody next Wednesday evening. . . . The Metropolitan opera will broadcast a spring series for the first time this year. It will start Saturday, May 5. . . . Annamary Dickey, a lyric soprano of Decatur, Ill., is among the nine finalists in the Metropolitan opera auditions of the air. Winners will be announced on the program Sunday, March 29. They will get a chance with the Met.

Wedding bells: Peewee Irwin, Benny Goodman's trumpeter, and Miss Roberta Greding of Kansas City were married Wednesday by Judge Edward B. Casey of the Municipal court. . . . Edward McHugh, radio's "gospel singer," and Mrs. Jean Harmon of Newton, Mass., marched to the altar on Monday.

WILL H. MILLARD, EX-BANKER, DIES; FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services for Will H. Millard, 72 years old, who died on Wednesday in his home at 5938 Lake street, will be held at 2 p. m. today from the chapel at 5515 Chicago avenue. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery. Mr. Millard was born in Union, McHenry county. He attended Williams college. He married Miss Millie Kimball at North Adams, Mass., her home, in 1877 and in 1878 moved to the west side of Chicago, where he lived ever since, the last 22 years in the Austin district. For 40 years he was in the banking business, and, when he retired a number of years ago, was manager of a department in the old Corn Exchange National bank. His widow and six children survive.

WALTER HAWLEY, SHOWMAN, DIES; FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services for Walter Hawley, 62 years old, 3523 Jackson boulevard, old time showman and vaudeville actor, will be held this morning in the home. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery. Mr. Hawley died on Tuesday in his home after an illness of several months. He was formerly Chicago representative of the National Vaudeville association and had been associated with the theater business 49 years. Mr. Hawley was best known on the stage as a character actor. He was a partner of the late Flo Irvin. Surviving are his widow, Mable; a stepson, John Williamson, and two sisters.

W. V. STRUBY, WESTERN RAIL HEAD, DIES HERE

Walter V. Struby, 45 years old, of Denver, Colo., president of the Missouri Southern railroad and a director of the Colorado National bank, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday in the Drake hotel. His wife, Mrs. Calista Stout Struby, was at his bedside. They had come to Chicago to meet their daughter, Calista, who was returning from school in the east. She arrived after her father's death. Mr. Struby is also survived by two sons. Mrs. Struby is the daughter of the late Frank D. Stout of Chicago, wealthy banker and lumberman.

Louis Milner, Clothing Company Head, Dies

Louis Milner, 46 years old, 1332 Greenleaf avenue, president of the Bell Credit Clothing company, 232 South State street, died yesterday in Mount Sinai hospital after an illness of two weeks. Born in Russia, Mr. Milner came to Chicago 30 years ago. He engaged in the clothing business, and about 15 years ago founded the Bell company. He is survived by his widow, Rose, and three children. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today from the chapel at 704 South Crawford avenue, with burial in Jewish Waldheim cemetery.

J. H. Gould, Drummer Boy in Civil War, Is Dead at 88

Hot Springs, S. D., March 19.—(AP)—J. H. Gould, 88, drummer boy with the Union troops in the civil war, was dead at the Battle Mountain sanatorium today. He was the last civil war veteran at the institution.

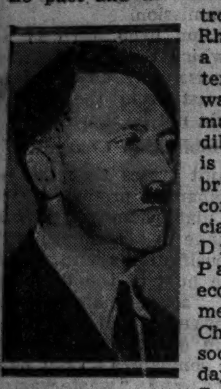
GERMAN COUP ECONOMIC MOVE, SAYS DR. PALYI

Endeavors to Avoid Financial Crash.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.



ADOLF HITLER.
[Acme Photo.]

Hitler's denunciation of the Locarno pact and the movement of Nazi troops into the Rhineland mark a spectacular attempt to find a way out of Germany's economic dilemma which is threatening to bring about a complete financial breakdown, Dr. Melchior Palyi, German economist, told members of the Chicago Bar association yesterday. Palyi left Germany after the ascension of the Nazi party to power and is now a guest professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

Germany has reached the place, Palyi said, when she can no longer afford the tremendous expenditures for armaments which has been taking the lion's share of the national income. Nor can she risk abandonment of her rearmament program without first getting some guaranty of military security, he said.

Has Two Objectives.

By his most recent dramatic gesture Hitler is attempting not only to strengthen Germany internationally, but to bolster his own prestige at home.

The condition of Germany's finances—her low gold reserve and excessive debt—make it impossible for her to carry on a war of any duration and also prevents her from continuing her heavy military expenditures, he asserted. To keep up her spending, further currency inflation would be necessary and that would prove only a preliminary to further financial trouble, he said.

Palyi indicated his belief that Hitler's gesture would prove fruitless. France and Great Britain, he pointed out, are fully aware of the precarious financial condition of Germany. As a consequence, Great Britain is little concerned over the situation, realizing Hitler's desperation. France, on the other hand, while equally cognizant of the German position, is not inclined to let Hitler "get away" with anything.

Faces Big Problem.

Palyi said that even if Germany succeeds in gaining a measure of international security she still faces a tremendous financial problem.

"Cessation of the armament expenditures would prove deflationary in that it would tend to increase unemployment and lead to a downward readjustment of wages," he said.

The former economist of the Deutschebank said that there is one striking similarity between the credit inflation that has taken place in Germany and that which is in progress in this country. In both cases, he said, the inflation has been brought about through the sale of government paper to the banks.

The fundamental difference, he said, was that Germany's inflation was based on an exceedingly thin monetary gold base while this country has the biggest hoard of the metal in world history.

Difference in Inflation.

Germany's inflation, he asserted, represents an attempt to convert poverty into wealth by a sort of financial magic. In this country inflation constitutes an effort to make available for immediate use the permanent wealth of the nation.

The United States brand of inflation, he said, is regarded by experienced economists and informed persons as unsound. The increase in debt in this country, however, is offset by an expansion in the nation's wealth, a condition which does not exist in Germany.

Extreme inflation would develop here, he said, if the rate of debt increase grew out of all proportion to the expansion in wealth.

REPORTS MARK IS STABLE.

BERLIN, March 19.—(AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, told a general meeting of Reichsbank shareholders today that special achievements of the Hitler régime were the maintenance of the stability of the mark and workers' standard of living.

Dr. Schacht said that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's social reconstruction plan had been effected without disturbing the money market and that the circulation of paper currency had risen only about 10 per cent over 1934. The Reichsbank's report said that credit users had saved more than 500 million marks annually by a compulsory reduction in interest rates.

The shareholders approved the declaration of a 12 per cent dividend, of which 8 per cent is payable in cash and 4 per cent goes into a loan fund.

U. S. Steel Hit Hard in Flood; 30,000 Idle

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Hardest hit of any of the hundreds of industrial companies operating in the Ohio valley flood area, the United States Steel corporation indicated today that steel production throughout the Pittsburgh area was at a standstill. Approximately one-third of the ingot capacity of the corporation, representing an investment of several hundreds of millions of dollars, is shut down, and between 30,000 and 40,000 employés idle.

A check-up of the various properties of the corporation situated directly on the Ohio and the various swollen streams tributary to the Ohio was deemed impossible with all lines of communication down or impaired, but at corporation headquarters here, it was said the only plant in the area definitly known to be operating was the company coke plant at Clairton, Pa.

Aid in Rescue Work.

The general offices of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation at Pittsburgh, largest of the operating subsidiaries, were closed today, and reports indicated that most of the office employés were engaged in rescue and other civic work.

Four of the corporation's largest plants in the immediate Pittsburgh territory were definitly reported closed down. They were the huge Edgar Thompson works, the Homestead works, the Duquesne works, and the Carrie furnaces. The Mingo plant, at Mingo Junction, O., on the Ohio river, approximately fifty miles below Pittsburgh, was shut down late yesterday and was under water today.

Shift Orders to Other Plants.

Efforts were being made by the corporation today to shift orders of the Pittsburgh plants to properties at Gary, Ind.; Cleveland, O., and at Birmingham, Ala.

The plants of the American Sheet and Tin Plate subsidiary at Monessen, Pa., and at Vandergrift, Pa., were closed, and while no definite word had been received from the New Castle and Shenango plants at New Castle, Pa., it was believed they had ceased operations not directly from high water but because electric power had been turned off.

The main plant of National Steel was closed and believed severely damaged by water. The structural steel plant of the American Bridge company at Ambridge, Pa., was under water yesterday. Wire mills of American Steel and the wire subsidiaries at Donora, Pa., and Rankin, Pa., were closed. Water damage could not be estimated.

BANK CLEARINGS LARGEST SINCE OCTOBER OF 1931

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Bank clearings in 22 leading cities, as reported today by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., rose 20.4 per cent over the same week last year to the highest level since October, 1931. The gain was attributed largely to the recent government financing and the increased collections of income taxes.

Total clearings were $7,207,983,000 against $5,985,252,000 in the same week last year. The advance from last week's total of $6,015,502,000 was $1,192,481,000.

Clearings at New York City were $5,133,652,000, a 23.2 per cent rise over the corresponding 1935 period. The other 21 cities cleared $2,074,331,000, an increase of 14 per cent. Chicago clearings were up 26.9 per cent at $309,700,000.

Improvement over last year ranged from 20 to 40 per cent in the following centers: Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Louisville, Dallas, Portland, and Seattle. The only drop occurred in Philadelphia, down 1.4 per cent.

MORGAN FIRM SHOWS DROP IN DEPOSITS SINCE END OF 1935

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—A statement of condition as of March 4 by J. P. Morgan & Co. and Drexel & Co., its Philadelphia branch, published today, disclosed a decline of $79,276,745 in deposits and one of $79,826,778 in total resources, compared with Dec. 31, 1935. This decline in deposits was met by a reduction of $49,080,264 in the firm's holdings of cash on hand and on deposit with banks and by a reduction of $38,374,203 in its investments in United States government securities. Surplus and partners' balances rose $550,787 in the period.

Deposits on March 4 amounted to $393,480,132, compared with $472,756,877 at the end of last year and $344,202,037 on March 4, 1935. Total resources of $458,117,133 reported in the current statement compared with $537,943,911 on Dec. 31 last, and $414,702,421 a year ago.

Cash holdings were $56,500,918, against $105,581,282 at the end of last year and $85,037,087 a year ago. Investments in United States government securities were $279,059,715, compared with $317,406,918 and $212,352,333 on Dec. 31, and a year ago.

Loans and bills purchased were $46,919,500, against $44,300,994 at the end of last year and $45,098,899 on March 4, 1935. Holdings of stocks and bonds amounted to $18,661,479 on March 4, against $15,306,138 at the end of last year and $16,151,949 a year ago.

Surplus and partners' balances were $22,863,778, against $22,312,991 at the end of last year and $30,163,730 a year ago.

HIGHEST SALARY PAID BY DU PONT $106,270 IN 1934

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—The highest paid official of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. in 1934 was W. S. Carpenter Jr., a vice president, who received $106,270 for the year, according to figures made public today by the Securities and Exchange commission. The reports were held confidential for several months at the request of the company but were released after the commission found disclosure to be "in the public interest."

Lammot du Pont, president of the company, with a pay check of $100,219.16, was the highest paid of his family. Irenee and Pierre du Pont received only $18,750 and $9,116, respectively. John J. Raskob received $9,036 as vice president.

Closely bunched for third highest salaried men were five vice presidents—J. Thompson Brown, $77,810; A. B. Echols, $77,395; J. E. Crane and W. F. Harrington, $77,200 each, and F. W. Pickard, $77,360.

The highest remuneration in reports made public today was $140,860 received in 1934 by Charles B. Bohn, president of Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation. Peter A. Markey, vice president-treasurer, received $60,430 and H. W. Holt, vice president, got $60,430.

The American Locomotive company reported 1934 salaries as follows: William C. Dickerman, president, $55,415; Alexander S. Henry, vice president, $29,624; Joseph Davis, vice president, $29,461; Duncan W. Fraser, vice president, $24,479; Joseph B. Ennis, vice president.

Celanese Corporation Votes Initial Common Dividend

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Directors of Celanese Corporation of America today declared an initial dividend of 50 cents a common share, payable April 15 to stock of record April 1. They also declared a dividend of $1.75 on the 7 per cent prior preferred, payable July 1 to stock of record June 16, and $3.50 on the 7 per cent participating preferred, payable June 30 to stock of record June 16.

RFC's Bank Stock Tax Bill Passes House

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—With the help of Republicans who didn't want to "poke Santa Claus in the nose" the Democratic leadership of the house late today managed to push through passage of a bill exempting preferred bank stock, notes, and debentures owned by the Reconstruction Finance corporation from state or local taxation. The vote was 218 to 144.

This was the same bill cloaked in different phraseology and designed to patch up the law to meet a recent Supreme court decision that such securities were taxable that was defeated in the house by a vote of 172 to 164 on Feb. 25. In the interim administration leaders put the screws on recalcitrant members in order to save the RFC more than five million dollars in taxes.

Will Be Rushed Into Law.

Since the state of Maryland plans to start imposing taxes on the RFC portfolio tomorrow the senate will be asked to concur in the house action shortly after it convenes. The bill will then be signed by Speaker Byrns and Vice President Garner, then rushed to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature before he starts on his trip to the south tomorrow afternoon.

In the house the fight against passage was waged by the leader of the inflationist clan, Representative Wright Patman [Dem., Tex.], who contended states were being deprived of their right of taxation.

Patman took the floor in an attempt to amend the bill, exempting 229 million dollars of bank stocks already owned by the RFC, but providing taxation in the future. It was said that future RFC purchases amounting to 100 million dollars would be endangered.

Wouldn't Poke Santa.

"We would be ungrateful indeed if we poked Santa Claus on the nose," declared Representative Everett M. Dirksen [Rep., Ill.]. "The RFC in bailing out banks has raised their taxable value to the states. If this bill is not passed we will hamper the operations of an arm of the federal government."

Representative John B. Hollister [Rep., O.] insisted that no state's rights would be wiped out that did not exist before the creation of the RFC.

By a standing vote the Patman amendment was defeated, 129 to 27. Then the house proceeded to pass the bill in short order.

The bill also provided that interest on all outstanding loans by the RFC to receivers and liquidating agents of closed banks and trust companies should be at the rate of 3½ per cent a year on condition that the rate of interest charged debtors of the institutions should not exceed 4½ per cent; otherwise the interest rate will be set by the RFC.

Am. Woolen Has Profit This Year; Loss in 1935

Dow, Jones & Co. says that tentative figures indicate that American Woolen company earned a net profit of $800,000 in the first two months this year in contrast with a loss of approximately the same amount in the corresponding period last year.

CONTAINER CO. PROFIT LARGEST IN EIGHT YEARS

Earns $1.89 a Share on New Stock.

W. P. PAEPCKE.

Net profit of the Container Corporation of America for 1935 was $1,238,009, compared with $1,112,711 for 1934, according to the annual report sent to stockholders yesterday by Walter P. Paepcke, president. The 1935 profit was equal to $1.89 a share on the 653,540 shares of new $20 par capital stock. The company earned 79 cents a share on its class B stock in 1934.

The 1935 profit was the largest since 1927, when net income was $1,316,500. Consolidated net sales for 1935 totaled $20,181,777, compared with $18,316,508 in the preceding year.

Expects Earnings to Improve.

"Earnings for the first quarter of 1936 may show some improvement over the corresponding period of last year in spite of the fact that selling prices are lower," Paepcke said in his report. "The paper board industry as a whole should benefit from the fact that for the first time in a decade there has been almost complete assimilation of the new productive capacity which came into the industry from the south and west coast from 1926 on.

"It has been estimated by various authorities that 1936 volume will show an increase of some 5 to 10 per cent over 1935. This, of course, is subject to general business conditions throughout the country but seems to be an estimate not beyond fair expectation."

Average Selling Price Lower.

Paepcke said that the average selling price for 1935 was about $6 per ton lower than 1934.

"On the total number of tons shipped," he stated, "this amounted to more than $2,200,000 less gross receipts than the same tonnage would have represented in dollar receipts in the previous year. Happily, lower costs, due to the better volume experienced and due to the substantial plant improvements made during the last two years, together with the profit on the additional units shipped, more than offset the substantial drop in sales price."

Current assets of the company, including $1,131,576 cash, stood at $5,183,216 at the end of 1935 compared with $820,912 and $4,456,433 at the end of 1934. Current liabilities at the end of 1935 totaled $1,555,124 compared with $1,689,458 at the end of 1934.

Plants Expanded Last Year.

"These increases in current assets are especially gratifying," Paepcke said, "in view of the fact that during the year $748,336 was expended on plant improvement and $534,790 on plant acquisitions, all of which has been paid with the exception of $232,860 notes remaining. Funded debt was reduced by $280,000. Preferred dividends of $422,122, including all accumulated arrear dividends, were paid in cash, and $38,220 was spent in the acquisition of 364 shares of preferred stock."

Paepcke said the company is employing between 4,000 and 5,000 persons and the total labor pay roll in 1935 amounted to more than $3,400,000. He added that the wage rates remain approximately 15 to 25 per cent higher than the minimum wage levels established under the former codes.

Upper Avenue Bank Votes Dividend of $1.25 a Share

Directors of the Upper Avenue bank yesterday declared a dividend of $1.25 a share, payable March 31, to stock of record March 20.

Reserve Member Banks Hold Over Third of Federal Bonds

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—The extent to which the federal reserve member banks are financing government operations was revealed today in the monthly bulletin of the federal reserve board which showed that these institutions at the end of 1935 held direct obligations of the United States totaling $10,500,000,000, a gain of $600,000,000 in the year, and nearly $1,800,000,000 in fully guarantee securities, an increase of $800,000,000 over the end of 1934.

"Among direct obligations, holdings of treasury notes increased by $1,190,000,000 and those of treasury bills by $160,000,000, while holdings of bonds declined by $750,000,000," the board said.

Bond Total Rises Sharply.

The board said outstanding direct obligations of the government, exclusive of special issues which are not publicly offered, increased by $1,450,000,000, or more than 5 per cent, during 1935, compared with an increase of 6 per cent in bank holdings of these obligations. As a result the proportion of member banks' holdings to the total outstanding continued practically unchanged at slightly more than 36 per cent.

Fully guaranteed obligations were acquired during 1935 at a faster rate than the new issues came out, and there also was an exchange of partially guaranteed for fully guaranteed obligations of the Home Owners' Loan corporation. The proportion of the outstanding guaranteed obligations owned by member banks increased from 32 per cent at the end of 1934 to 39 per cent on Dec. 31, 1935.

Funds Shifted by Treasury.

"Since the middle of January, gold movements and changes in demand for currency have been small," the board said. "During this period the United States treasury has followed the practice of maintaining its balance at the reserve banks continuously at a relatively high level by withdrawing funds from commercial banks depositaries in amounts needed to meet current payments."

Loans to customers by the member banks continued to decline around the middle of 1935 but in the last half of the year showed an increase.

Total investment portfolios of the member banks rose to more than $13,000,000,000 in February, the largest amount ever held. The decrease in loans during January and February, which reflected in part seasonal influences, amounted to $290,000,000.

FEDERAL TAXES NEAR 2 BILLIONS IN EIGHT MONTHS

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—Internal revenue collections for the eight months ended Feb. 29, amounted to $1,966,039,076, an increase of $52,573,701 as compared with the same period last year, the treasury announced today. Principal collections were given as follows [last three ciphers omitted]:

	1936.	1935.
Corporation income taxes.	$358,799	$265,304
Individual income taxes ..	277,198	210,908
Total income taxes	635,998	476,213
Excess profits taxes.......	4,310	3,161
Alcohol Liquor taxes.....	329,480	267,340
Other mis. internal revenue	924,669	806,190
Processing taxes	71,579	360,559

Collection of tobacco taxes amounted to $328,361,039, an increase of $28,011,004 for the eight months. In the alcohol beverage taxes fermented malt liquors showed the largest income to the government with $152,617,172. The tax on distilled spirits amounted to $138,158,494 for the eight months.

The manufacturers' excise tax totaled $258,416,421, a gain of $40,782,249. For the stamp taxes the government colected $46,278,869.

The bureau reported collections of $185,000,937 in February. While the monthly collection indicated an increase of $3,380,140 over the same month last year, collections actually lagged. The increase resulted from the additional day in 1936 Daily collections last month amounted to $6,380,000, as compared with $6,460,000 last year.

RESERVE'S NEW OPEN MARKET COMMITTEE FORMED; ECCLES HEAD

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—The open market committee of the federal reserve system was organized here tonight following a four day conference of regional bank presidents with members of the board.

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board, was selected to head the committee, which determines the system's participation in the government bond market.

George Harrison, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, was chosen vice chairman, and Chester Morrill, secretary to the board, was named to the same post on the committee.

Waldo Wyatt, chief counsel of the board, was named counsel to the committee. E. A. Goldenweiser, board's economist, was made chief economist to the committee. John Williams of the New York bank was named as his assistant.

The committee then named as its executive committee Eccles, Ronald Ransom, and M. S. Szymczak, all board members; Harrison, and M. J. Fleming, president of the Cleveland bank. The committee designated the New York bank as the agency to execute all transactions.

The federal reserve board has the dominant voice of the committee through a majority membership. The committee consists of the seven members of the board, one of whom remains to be appointed, and five representatives selected by the reserve banks, one of whom likewise remains to be named.

U. S. WILL SPEND OVER 9 BILLION; PEACE RECORD

More Borrowing, Big Deficit Indicated.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—Spending of more than $9,000,000,000 in the next fiscal year was indicated today in a recasting of government financial figures and estimates. If this sum should be spent it will represent the greatest outlay in any peace time year. Expenditures for the present fiscal twelve months are estimated at about $7,645,000,000.

Following President Roosevelt's fresh appeal for $1,500,000,000 for relief, budget estimates indicated that at least $8,250,000,000 may be spent in the year beginning next July 1, not counting anything for the soldiers' bonus. It was figured conservatively an additional $1,000,000,000 would be needed for cash bonus payments.

Foresee 35 Billion Debt.

Budgetary figures indicated at least $3,598,000,000 of new borrowing during the year. This would swell the gross public debt to $35,045,000,000 by June 30, 1937, even if additional borrowing is not necessary between now and next June 30.

Treasury officials said the deficit next year would be $2,598,000,000, exclusive of bonus payments. This figure was based on the assumption that taxes would be enacted to replace invalidated levies. The figure takes into consideration statutory debt retirement expenditures of $580,000,000.

The estimated deficit is 3 billion 234 million dollars for this year, as compared with actual deficits of 3 billion 575 million dollars last year, and 3 billion 989 million dollars the year before.

Expect Another Big Deficit.

Regular receipts for the next fiscal year are estimated at 5 billion 654 million dollars and ordinary expenditures at 5 billion 649 million dollars, which would create an ordinary surplus of 5 million dollars. Expenditures for recovery and relief, however, are expected to lead to the 2 billion 598 million dollar deficit, without taking the bonus into consideration.

The budget, therefore, shapes up as follows for 1937:

Total receipts	$ 5,654,000,000
Regular expenditures	5,649,000,000
Regular surplus	5,000,000
Recovery and relief expenditures	2,603,000,000
Total deficit	2,598,000,000
Total borrowing [including 1 billion dollars for bonus]...	3,598,000,000
Gross debt today..........	31,447,000,000
Gross debt with new borrowing	35,045,000,000

STOCKS CLOSE HIGHER DESPITE FLOOD LOSSES

Farm Shares Lead; Oils Extremely Strong.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 19.—Despite a run of profit taking near the close the stock market closed on higher ground today with final prices only a shade under their best levels. Net gains ranged from fractions to 3 points.

Although the rank and file of traders displayed some concern over the effects of floods on steel companies and railroads in the inundated areas, the market had a strong underlying tone. Selling that came into the list from timid sources at intervals was well absorbed.

Foreign political news was more reassuring as efforts continued abroad to find ways for slaking the rising war passions. Tax developments, the federal relief program and other market factors seemed to be given only slight attention by the speculative fraternity.

Liquidation Not Heavy.

Though the tremendous losses suffered in the flood regions are regarded in fianncial circles as contributing heavily to the current dullness of the market it was reported they are not bringing any conspicuous liquidation of securities. It was pointed out that to offset the heavy reverses caused by property damage and shutdown other concerns will have increased orders. It was observed a good deal of rebuilding will have to be done and repairs made which should stimulate sections of the building industry.

Farm implement shares led the upswing with chemical and oil shares fighting it out for the runnerup position. Case, Deere, International Harvester, and Oliver Farm Equipment were all active, each of them making gains of over 3 points.

Standard Oil of New Jersey was the star performer in the petroleum group, rising 1½ points to 69⅛, its best price since 1930.

Chemical Group Strong.

In the chemical group Columbia Carbon extended its gain since last week to almost 15 points. After reaching a new high of 118¼ it tapered off to 116, for a gain of over 2 points. Allied Chemical, du Pont, and Air Reduction registered gains of 2 points or more.

General Motors duplicated its best price since 1929 on an advance of almost 2 points. Chrysler also was up 2 points before it ran into selling that pared its gain to a major fraction.

National Lead spurted 10 points on a few sales, while National Supply preferred was another outstanding spot, crossing the 100 mark for the first time in five years.

American Telephone and Telegraph lost more than 3 points. The weakness was traced to the airing of the company's affairs in Washington.

Steels were little lower at the close and the same was true of the rails. Silver mining issues were buoyant, with American Smelters and Cerro de Pasco up 3½ and 3⅜ points, respectively. American Radiator and Kelvinator were among the most active performers.

Loft, Inc., Management Wins Proxy Control Struggle

Wilmington, Del., March 19—[Special.]—The management of Loft, Inc., today emerged victorious in the proxy battle for control which has been waged in recent weeks. The management, headed by James W. Carkner, president, nominated a slate of directors which received 420,500 votes. The opposition, led by Charles S. Guth, former president, offered no slate.

15 TIN PLATE PLANTS CHARGED WITH MONOPOLY

Price Boosting Alleged by Trade Commission.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—Charges that the Bethlehem Steel company, and 14 other large manufacturers of tin plate, including Inland Steel company of Chicago, have entered an agreement which has tended to create a monopoly in the manufacture of tin containers on the part of the American Can company and Continental Can company, which together consume approximately 65 per cent of the production of tin plate, were made in a complaint issued today by the federal trade commission.

The commission fixed April 17 as the date by which the 15 companies must show cause why an order to cease and desist from the alleged practices should not be issued.

Illegal Combination Charged.

The complaint states that the respondent companies produce three grades of tin plate, namely "production plate" made in accordance with customers' specifications and which represents the bulk of the tin plate manufacture; "stock plate" designated as "over-runs" and "seconds," accumulated in great quantities and for which the companies do not have specific orders, and "waste-waste," which contains defects that disqualify it as "seconds."

In October, 1934, the complaint alleges, the respondent companies entered into an "illegal combination" to eliminate competition in the sale of "stock plate" by agreeing not to quote prices on this grade nor to offer it for sale to jobbers and small can manufacturers who were unable to carry "production plate" in stock because of inadequate financial resources.

Forces Prices Higher.

As a result, the complaint stated, the respondent companies since January, 1935, have accumulated large quantities of "stock plate" and have cut it into such shape that it cannot be used by jobbers and small manufacturers of tin cans and is being classified now as "waste-waste" and sold as such for domestic consumption and for export.

These alleged acts, the commission charges, "tend to increase the prices of tin plates above the prices which prevailed in the past and which would have prevailed under normal and open competition among the respondents, and tend to force jobbers of tin plate out of business."

TRADING IN LARD EXPANDS; GAINS ARE 10 TO 17½ CENTS

Trade in lard futures broadened materially yesterday. There was active buying attributed to short covering, and purchasing of the September contract by a broker who frequently acts for a packer. Profit taking checked the upturn but the close was at the top with gains of 10 to 17½ cents. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally unchanged.

Owing to the decline of about 7 cents per pound in lard as compared with the high point of last summer, the statistical position of that commodity is attracting considerable attention. As the price of lard and compound lard is practically the same consumption of the former is said to be increasing. Normally lard brings a premium as compared with compound, last year such premium being as much as 6 cents per pound.

Cash lard closed at $10.77, loose $10.22, leaf $10.25, and clear bellies $14.77 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds:

EMPLOYES' ZEAL BLAMED IN PHONE PROBE DEMAND

Tried to Aid Company, Gifford Testifies.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—"Over-zealous" efforts of employés were blamed today by high officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company for conditions which led to a request for a justice department investigation of use of the utility's facilities by gamblers.

The communications commission made the request, basing its action on testimony developed so far in its own $750,000 inquiry into activities of the giant holding company for the Bell telephone system and its subsidiaries.

Walter S. Gifford, A. T. & T. president, on the witness stand this afternoon, testified he had been "unaware of this type of business." He referred to evidence concerning such actions as these: Reinstallation of teletypewriter equipment for a man convicted of gambling, fruitless protests of Miami, Fla., authorities against providing wires for racing news services, and assistance by a company attorney in preparing the defense for an operator of an alleged gambling establishment.

Don't Want Gamblers' Business.

"We certainly don't want to deal with people who are breaking the law—whether it is race horses or anything else," Gifford asserted. "I think the evidence here has merely shown that our employés were over-zealous in their efforts to get revenue and protect the company's property."

He emphasized the difficulties of deciding "which applicants for service should have it and which shouldn't" and said the company "can not discriminate" between customers. The company, he said, would like to formulate a rule to prevent illegal use of its equipment "without having to organize a spy or espionage system."

C. M. Bracelen, vice president and general counsel of A. T. & T., appraised the evidence as showing that "hard working and loyal employés" had "gone much too far" in their "zeal to protect the company's interests as they saw them."

Expect G-Men Investigation.

Although no word was immediately forthcoming from the justice department, authoritative FCC sources indicated it would look into the case. The request for the new inquiry was made by Commissioner Paul A. Walker, in charge of the FCC investigation.

Samuel Becker, FCC special counsel, concluded his examination of this case of A. T. & T. activities with the introduction of new evidence to support his contention that the telephone company is serving "gamblers and poolroom operators" through the wire facilities for racing news services.

The hearing was recessed until Tuesday after Becker had pictured the work of company agents in connection with raids on gambling houses in a dozen cities, particularly emphasizing their efforts to recover telephone equipment seized by police.

ALLIED PRODUCTS INCOME IN 1935 MOUNTS SHARPLY

The Allied Products corporation yesterday reported 1935 net profit of $238,714, or $1.68 a share on the common stock after class A stock dividends. This compared with $95,562 in 1934, or less than enough to cover class A stock dividends. The figures are based on 64,200 class A shares, entitled to $1.75 annually in dividends, and 75,050 common shares after recapitalization last November.

"Up to the present time 1936 prospects appear promising," said C. C. Richard, president. "There are still many national economic problems to be solved, however; increased taxes of all kinds, and the ever present threat of additional ones have a tendency to slow the return of confidence. We hope that no new obstacles may be presented to halt the progress being made."

A bonus program for officers and employés has been approved by the directors and will be presented to stockholders at the annual meeting.

Current assets of $1,413,636 included $558,386 cash and were 10.4 times current liabilities of $135,937. Working capital of $1,277,699 was $254,967 more than at the end of 1934.

PERSONAL LOAN RAISES DIVIDEND, PAYS 50C EXTRA

Directors of the Personal Loan and Savings bank yesterday increased the dividend rate by declaring a regular quarterly disbursement of $1.50 and also voted an extra of 50 cents, both payable April 1 to stock of record March 31.

In 1935 the bank paid $5 a share, or $3 in regular dividends and $2 in extras. The volume of business this quarter is approximately 20 per cent above the corresponding period of last year, the bank announced.

Twentieth Century-Fox Reports Larger Profit

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation, in its annual report for the year ended Dec. 28 released today, showed profit of $3,563,087, equivalent, after allowing for dividends on the preferred stock, to $1.24 a share on the common stock. This compared with a 1934 profit of $1,273,069, equivalent to 94 cents a share.

Central Maine Power Files 9 Million Mortgage Loan

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—Central Maine Power company of Augusta, Me., filed a registration statement today with the securities and exchange commission for the issuance of $9,000,000 of first and general mortgage bonds, series H, 4 per cent, due Feb. 1, 1966.

SEC Reveals Stock Sales, Purchases by Company Heads

Washington, D. C., March 19.—[Special.]—Officers, directors, and principal stockholders of several corporations reported substantial changes in holdings of securities in their own concerns during January, the securities and exchange commission disclosed today.

E. D. STAIR. [Acme Photo.]

The Cord corporation continued its purchase of Auburn Automobile stock, buying 11,300 shares to bring total holdings to 62,120.

Edward D. Stair, Detroit, a director of Graham-Paige Motors, sold 24,052 shares to cut his interest in the company to 36,763.

Edward G. Budd sold 5,700 common shares of Budd Wheel. A. A. Anderson, Grand Rapids, bought 6,000 common shares of Hayes Body corporation.

Only One Large Gift.

The only sizable gift made in January was 10,000 common shares of Sparks Withington by William Sparks of Jackson, Mich.

Among the late reports of December gifts was one of 10,000 shares of Eaton Manufacturing company common stock by E. C. Briggs of Cleveland, who retained only one share.

George A. Ball of Muncie, Ind., gave away 3,600 Intertype corporation common stock; Kenneth S. Parker of Janesville, Wis., gave 1,500 Parker Pen common shares, and Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Boston gave 4,700 Rown Durrell common shares.

Discolsure also was made of the sale of 6,500 common shares of Marshall Field & Co. by Harrison P. Shedd, who retired from active duty in the company last year during the internal reorganization.

Axton-Fisher Officials Sell.

Three Axton-Fisher Tobacco company officials sold class B common stock, including E. D. Axton, who reduced his holdings to 187 by sale of 19,813 shares. R. L. Axton sold his entire interest of 611 shares.

In aircraft companies, Edward K. Bishop of Aberdeen, Wash., bought 10,679 Consolidated Aircraft common. Newton Woodworth of Detroit sold 4,045 and Phil Huber of Detroit sold 800 shares of Excello Aircraft and Tool common. Randolph C. Walker of San Francisco added 500 shares to his Lockhead Aircraft holdings. Ross Sutherland of Los Angeles bought 9,000 Kinner Airplane common.

RAILS, EMPLOYES DEADLOCKED ON CONSOLIDATIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—The White House said this morning that President Roosevelt had been informally advised that negotiations between carriers and employés over the proposed rail consolidation plan had reached a virtual impasse. It was understood that the deadlock was reported by employé representatives.

The White House statement said: "The President has personally requested that both sides continue negotiations in an effort to reconcile their difficulties. In the meantime the President has indicated to congressional leaders that continuance of these negotiations should not interfere with consideration of pending legislation bearing on the subject of rail consolidation.

"He has received assurances from leaders that they will proceed with the consideration of the legislation. At the same time carriers and employés, in response to the President's request, have agreed to continue negotiations."

The assurance from congressional leaders was sought, it was explained, so that no time would be lost in holding hearings on pending proposals and drafting consolidation legislation in the event that the negotiations between the carriers and employés finally fail.

TRAFFIC LEAGUE CALLS SPECIAL SESSION MARCH 31

A special meeting of the National Industrial Traffic league has been called for March 31 at Washington, D. C., to consider a number of urgent transportation matters, E. F. Lacey, executive secretary of the organization, announced yesterday. Meetings of the league ordinarily are held in the autumn.

Lacey said that the three most important subjects to be considered are the following:

1. Important developments concerning highway transportation resulting from the new federal motor carrier act. Among these are regulation, administration, and shipping practices.

2. The application of the railroads to have the emergency freight rates granted last year made permanent. These rates expire on June 1, but the carriers are seeking to have them extended indefinitly.

3. Pending federal transportation legislation. Among the proposals now before congress, the league advocates approval of a bill to abolish the long and short haul clause and is opposed to other items, such as the six hour day bill and the train length bill.

DOLLAR CLIMBS ABOVE PARITY OF FRENCH FRANC

Dollars recorded further slight gain on leading foreign currencies yesterday. Attention centered largely on the easing in French francs.

The franc dipped ¾ point in the New York market to boost dollars above parity with the franc. The dollar closed at 100.01 cents, compared with 99.90 cents on Wednesday. Foreign exchange quarters displayed interest in the dispatches from Paris to the effect that the French government planned to ask parliament for authority to issue a five billion franc treasury loan. The weekly statement of the Bank of France also served to dampen enthusiasm over the franc by showing a loss of 277,000,000 francs in gold reserves.

The pound dipped ⅛ cent to $4.97⅛. Belgas eased 1 point, Swiss francs 2 points, Dutch guilders 4 points, and Canadian dollars 3⅛ points.

National Bellas Hess Has Profit Against Former Loss

National Bellas-Hess, Inc., mail order house of Kansas City, reported net income of $91,778 before federal and state income taxes and employés' stock participation for the six months ended Jan. 31. Included was a nonrecurring credit of $45,531. The profit compared with a loss of $58,364 in the corresponding six months a year ago. Net sales were $3,878,667, against $3,427,502 in the 1934-'35 period.

Canadian-U. S. Treaty Near Ratification by Canada

OTTAWA, March 19.—(AP)—The Canadian-American trade treaty passed through committee state in the house of commons today, leaving only one more step before it has the full force of law. A formal bill of ratification was introduced by Premier King as the final procedure and will be discussed and probably passed tomorrow.

WESTINGHOUSE BRAKE REPORTS RISE IN PROFIT LAST YEAR

The Westinghouse Air Brake company had a net profit of $922,076 in 1935 before extraordinary charges, compared with a net profit of $656,397 in 1934, according to the annual report sent to stockholders yesterday by A. L. Humphrey, chairman, and Charles A. Rowan, president. The 1935 profit was equal to 30 cents a share on the company's capital stock outstanding, compared with 21 cents a share in 1934.

Dividends of 50 cents a share and aggregating $1,553,852 were declared during 1935, the excess over earnings being derived from surplus. Gross sales of the company in 1935 totaled $11,739,328.

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1935, totaled $29,334,117, compared with $29,166,575 at the end of 1934. Current liabilities were $3,819,701, compared with $1,192,474.

ALL LIVE STOCK PRICES FIRMER; SHIPMENTS LOW

Floods and heavy snow in the east curtailed outside demand for live stock yesterday, but local demand was sufficient to hold prices for the small available receipts on a steady to slightly higher basis. Packing plants located in the flood areas were reported temporarily closed.

Trading in hogs progressed slowly at steady to 10 cents higher prices during the first half of the session, losing the strength later. Final quotations were barely steady with the average of Wednesday. Both the extreme top and average at $10.75 and $10.30, respectively, showed 5 cents gain.

Cattle receipts dropped to 5,000. The market was rather slow, but a stronger undertone existed, and in places prices were slightly higher considering quality.

No load lots of prime steers arrived, the best full load selling at $10.25 and the bulk of steers at $7.50 to $9.50. Hefers met good demand at steady to slightly higher prices.

A local fight for volume developed in the sheep barn yesterday, resulting in one of the liveliest sessions in many months, despite the lighter outside demand. Packers had no direct shipments from other points and were eager for numbers, giving 15 to 25 cents more than they paid at the close of the previous session.

One packer obtained 35 of the 47 carloads offered for sale. Five carloads to shippers and city butchers reached $10.40.

U. S. TAXES, BOND SALES CUT IDLE CASH IN BANKS

Treasury Boosts Deposits with Federal Reserve.

Reflection of income tax payments and recent government financing was seen in an increase of 678 million dollars in treasury cash and deposits with the federal reserve banks during the week ended March 18.

The weekly figures released last night by the reserve board also disclosed this sharp increase brought about a decline of 642 million dollars in reserve balances of the commercial banks and a decline of 620 millions in the vast store of idle bank funds.

Reserve balances of the member banks, standing at $5,144,000,000, still were estimated to be $2,390,000,000 in excess of legal requirements, although this figure is the lowest reported in many months. Treasury funds, aggregating $3,587,000,000 against $2,909,000,000 a week earlier and $3,220,000,000 at the corresponding period last year, were at an unusually high figure.

New York, Chicago Deposits Drop.

Tax payments and purchases of government bonds by individuals were reflected in decreases of 122 and 48 millions in demand deposits of New York and Chicago member banks, respectively. Buying of government bonds by banks and deposits of income taxes were indicated in increases of 67 and 37 millions in United States deposits with New York and Chicago commercial banks, respectively.

The member bank figures showed an increase of 63 millions in government securities held in Chicago banks, but a 56 million dollar decrease was reported by New York commercial banks.

The New York member banks reported a decline of 47 millions in total loans and investments, the decline in government bonds and a 79 million shrinkage in loans to brokers being partly offset by rises of 26 millions in government guaranteed obligations, 21 millions in other securities, 16 millions in loans to banks and 14 millions in other loans on securities.

Loans to Brokers Decline.

Loans by New York banks to brokers and dealers decreased from $1,027,000,000 to $946,000,000 during the week and compared with $609,000,000 a year ago. Brokers' loans outside New York by banks there stood at $64,000,000, compared with $62,000,000 a week ago and $54,000,000 a year ago. Brokers loans of Chicago banks were $34,000,000, compared with $37,000,000 a week ago and a year ago.

Total loans and investments of Chicago banks increased 56 millions, a rise of 7 millions in commercial loans being the principal change aside from the increase in government bond holdings.

For the entire reserve system, total reserve bank credit was up 12 millions to $2,485,000,000. The only other change of consequence in related items, other than in treasury funds and reserve balances of commercial banks, was a decrease of 22 millions in non-member deposits and other federal reserve accounts.

CHICAGO STOCKS SELL HIGHER AS TRADE REVIVES

Prices moved slightly higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as trading recovered somewhat from Wednesday's dullness to total 66,000 shares. Eight issues sold at their best prices of the year, with 55 advancing, 38 declining, and 21 remaining unchanged.

Cord was the most active stock on the list, rising ¼ in 7,000 share turnover. Second most active was Northwest Bancorporation which rose ⅞ in 4,400 share trade.

Lincoln Printing moved up to a new high of 9½ and eased ⅛ afterward to close ⅝ higher for the day. The preferred gained similarly.

Other market leaders to make new tops were Northwest Engineering, up 1⅝; Jarvis, up ⅜; and Zenith, unchanged at 18½ after a high of 19½.

EGGS DECLINE ⅛ TO ¼ CENT; BUTTER FUTURES STEADY

Increased receipts of fresh eggs, a tendency on the part of traders to discount prospective gains in production, and the unusually light storage movement resulted in declines of ⅛ to ¼ cent in egg futures on the Mercantile exchange yesterday. October contracts closed at 21⅝ cents per dozen. Sales aggregated 34 cars. Butter futures rallied from an early decline to close unchanged, March at 30½ cents per pound with 43 cars changing hands.

Storage reports were not received from Pittsburgh. Owing to the flood, the warehouse district was temporarily abandoned, and the situation there is expected to have some effect on the butter and egg markets. Prices follow:

COTTON PRICES UNSTEADY; NEARBY FUTURES ADVANCE

Cotton markets fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday with the March delivery in New York under pressure from brokers who frequently act for the pool. New crop deliveries advanced rather sharply after a small recession early. Chicago closed one hour ahead of New York and New Orleans with prices 4 points higher to 5 points lower, while the latter markets were 2 points lower to 9 points higher. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent.]

Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points higher with New Orleans and Houston at 11.40 cents, Galveston 11.35 cents, and New York 11.45 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound:

EASTERN ROADS PLAN FIGHT ON FARE REDUCTION

Seek Cut Smaller Than That Ordered by I. C. C.

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Eastern railroads took their first concerted action today toward agreeing upon a platform on which all can stand to fight against the passenger fare cuts ordered by the interstate commerce commission.

Heads of six of the most powerful eastern passenger carriers conferred several hours on the problem, but no plan of action resulted. Spokesmen declared the inability of the rail heads to agree did not mean they would permit the new low rates to go into effect without protest.

Want Smaller Reduction.

It was predicted they would demand of the I. C. C. a decrease in rates amounting to only half of the cut ordered by the commission. The order reduced coach fares to 2 cents a mile from 3.6 cents and lowered Pullman fares to 3 cents a mile through elimination of the surcharge. Presumably, it was stated by observers, the eastern roads will request a compromise rate of around 2.8 cents for coaches and 3.8 cents for Pullmans.

Those in Conference.

Those in today's conference were the following presidents: F. E. Williamson, New York Central, who was chairman of the conference; M. W. Clement, Pennsylvania; Daniel Willard, Baltimore & Ohio; Howard S. Palmer, New York, New Haven & Hartford; Charles E. Denney, Erie, and J. M. Davis, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western.

Daniel Willard has been the champion of lower fares, and his stand is backed by the experience of southern and western roads which reduced fares and added to their business. Several of those opposed to lower fares declare, however, the roads which cut were aided in building up revenues because of general business betterment and not because of more travel resulting from cheaper prices. This is denied by others.

COURT UPHOLDS POWER OF SEC TO CALL WITNESSES

New York, March 19.—(AP)—The power of the Securities and Exchange commission to require the appearance and testimony of witnesses "unconditionally" was sustained in an opinion today by Federal Judge Robert B. Patterson. The opinion was rendered in the case of four witnesses subpenaed to appear in an investigation of securities sales by Pernie, Simons and company.

The court noted there is a "plain and broad distinction between a 'hearing' and an 'investigation,'" and that in an investigation the witnesses could not rely upon the right of witnesses to receive copies of the minutes or have their own stenographers in attendance.

Such proceedings, Judge Patterson wrote, are "no more unfair than proceedings before a grand jury," and secrecy in preliminary inquiry is generally essential for protection of the innocent as well as prosecution of the guilty.

HOUSE TO DEBATE RAIL LONG HAUL MEASURE TODAY

Washington, D. C., March 19.—(AP)—The house agreed today to begin consideration tomorrow of the Pettengill [Dem., Ind.] long and short haul repeal bill, but a vote before next week was improbable.

The measure would permit railroads to charge less for a long haul than for a shorter one over the same route in the same direction.

Rail interests contend the bill's enactment is essential to enable them to meet transcontinental water competition. Water carriers insist that the rails merely are seeking freedom to run them out of business through low long haul rates to be made up at the expense of intermediate shipping points, and that the interstate commerce commission already has sufficient power to grant relief in meritorious cases.

Judicial Sale of Canadian Rail and Harbour Terminals Warehouse Premises

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF ONTARIO.

Between: THE TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS CORPORATION, Plaintiff, and CANADIAN RAIL AND HARBOUR TERMINALS, LIMITED, Defendant.

Pursuant to the Order of the Honourable Mr. Justice Makins made the 24th day of February, 1936, offers will be received by the plaintiff up to twelve o'clock noon on the 23rd day of April, 1936, for the purchase of all the right, title and interest of The Toronto General Trusts Corporation, as Trustee, and of Geoffrey Teignmouth Clarkson, Receiver and Manager, appointed by the Court in this action, in the mortgaged premises described in a First Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated as of March 1, 1926, made by Canadian Rail and Harbour Terminals, Limited (hereinafter called "the Company") in favor of The Toronto General Trusts Corporation, as Trustee, to secure an issue of First Mortgage 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of the Company of which there have been issued and are presently outstanding bonds of an aggregate principal amount of $3,500,000, and all other assets including cash in the possession or under the control of the said Geoffrey Teignmouth Clarkson as Receiver and Manager.

Upon the freehold lands forming part of the mortgaged premises described in the said First Mortgage and Deed of Trust is erected a reinforced concrete warehouse building of eight stories containing approximately 1,000,000 square feet of floor space, of which 225,000 square feet may be devoted to cold storage, and 700,000 square feet to general merchandise storage, office space, receiving rooms and shipping platforms. The said warehouse building is equipped with cold storage machinery, insulated compartments, elevators, power plant and other appurtenances necessary to conduct the business of warehousing goods and property. The freehold lands consist of approximately 14 acres situate on the water front at the foot of York Street and Queen's Quay, in the City of Toronto, Canada, within eight blocks of the business centre of the City, and of sufficient area to provide for future warehouse expansion. The first floor of the warehouse building is used for delivering and receiving freight to and from freight cars, boats and motor trucks with a small portion devoted to a waiting room and steamship offices. By means of sidings and rights secured from The Toronto Harbour Commissioners, connection is made with the lines of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway. Modern concrete docks surrounding the freehold lands on three sides and having a total frontage of 2,269 feet are leased from the Toronto Harbour Commissioners at $1.00 per year, plus taxes, for the term of 999 years from April 1, 1926, conditional upon the Company or its assigns owning the fee of the freehold lands herein mentioned.

Under the Judicature Amendment Act, 1935, of the Province of Ontario, a sale may be made for a consideration wholly or in part other than cash if sanctioned and approved by the holders of the said bonds at a meeting to be called and held under the direction of the Court.

The Supreme Court of Ontario has directed that a meeting of the holders of the said bonds of the Company be held on the 24th day of April, 1936, at the King Edward Hotel, in the City of Toronto, Ontario, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon for the purpose of considering offers to purchase.

Offers received by The Toronto General Trust Corporation at 253 Bay Street, Toronto, Canada, up to twelve o'clock noon on the 23rd day of April, 1936, will be submitted to the said meeting of bondholders and will be considered and dealt with at such meeting on the 24th day of April, 1936, or at any adjournment thereof unless otherwise stipulated in the offer. If any offer to purchase is approved by the holders of said bonds, at such meeting, or any adjournment thereof, such offer will thereupon be submitted to the Court for its approval, and if such approval be given the Court may order the transfer to and vesting in the purchaser or his or its assigns of the mortgaged premises so purchased, all as provided in the said statute.

Full particulars of the property and assets, the subject of the sale, and information as to matters which should be provided for in any offers to be submitted, may be obtained on application to the undersigned.

DATED at Toronto this 24th day of February, 1936.

Notice of Calling Meeting of Bondholders

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the Order of the Honourable Mr. Justice Makins, dated the 24th day of February, 1936, a meeting of the holders of the First Mortgage 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of Canadian Rail and Harbour Terminals, Limited, issued under a First Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated as of March 1, 1926, made between the said Company and The Toronto General Trusts Corporation, as Trustee, will be held at the King Edward Hotel, in the City of Toronto, on the 24th day of April, 1936, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon, for the purpose of considering any offers for the purchase of all the right, title and interest of The Toronto General Trusts Corporation as Trustee and Geoffrey Teignmouth Clarkson, Receiver and Manager appointed by the Court in this action, in the mortgaged premises described in the said First Mortgage and Deed of Trust, and all other assets including cash in the possession or under the control of the said Geoffrey Teignmouth Clarkson as Receiver and Manager, and if deemed advisable of sanctioning and approving the sale, transfer or exchange thereof for the consideration or considerations and upon the terms specified in any such offer as the bondholders present in person or represented by proxy at such meeting may deem expedient, and for the purpose of passing such other resolution or resolutions as may be incidental thereto, or as such meeting may see fit.

Under the Judicature Amendment Act, 1935, of the Province of Ontario, a sale may be made for a consideration wholly or in part other than cash, if sanctioned and approved by the holders of the bonds at such meeting or any adjournment thereof and if subsequently approved by the Court in this action.

Holders of registered bonds desiring to attend the meeting or any adjournment thereof without producing their bonds may attend in person or be represented by proxy, and ownership will be proved by the Registry Books.

Holders of bearer bonds may either exhibit their bonds at the meeting before voting or may deposit the same with any Bank, Trust Company or other financial institution approved of by the plaintiff, receiving in exchange a Voting Certificate entitling the person named therein to be present and vote at such meeting and any adjournment thereof, and to appoint a proxy to represent him in the same way as if the person so present or voting either personally or by proxy were the actual holder of the bonds and produced the same at such meeting or any adjournment thereof.

Instructions for depositing bonds and obtaining Voting Certificates, forms of proxies and other information can be obtained on application to the undersigned.

Dated at Toronto this 24th day of February, 1936.

New York, March 19.—[Special.]—The bond market maintained a firm tone in today's trading. Price changes in most instances were small, with moderate losses appearing in the obligations of a number of concerns whose properties were damaged by the prevailing floods.

A mild rally in the price of United States government bonds developed late in the session. A half dozen treasury issues were lifted from 2-32ds to 5-32ds on the late buying. A few government issues closed the day with slight net losses.

Industrial Issues Irregular.

Among the industrial bonds which closed the day with losses of around a point were New York Central 5s, American Water Works 6s, Pennsylvania-Dixie 6s, and Allis Chalmers 4s.

Gains of a point or so were registered by Anaconda 4½s, St. Paul 5s, which closed at 24⅛, Great Northern 4½s, which advanced to 102, and Studebaker 6s, which rose to 107¼.

Transactions amounted to $10,460,000, par value, compared with $11,917,000 traded on the preceding day. The turnover in government issues was $1,200,000.

Foreign Bonds Are Firmer.

In the foreign bond list Italian 7s were strong. Others closing at slightly higher prices were Belgium 6s, German 7s and Lombard Electric 7s.

The $55,830,000 issue of Consumers Power 3½ per cent bonds offered today met a ready market and the bonds sold at a premium over the offering price of 103½.

Royal Typewriter.

Investors' Guide: I am writing to inquire about Royal Typewriter. Thank you.—H. A. D.

Answer: Royal Typewriter company, Inc., Hartford, Conn., is one of the three largest manufacturers of typewriters. It has an annual capacity of 205,000 machines.

Earnings in 1935 responded well to increased business activity. They were the best since 1929. Net income was $1,677,000, which was 6.35 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to $5.26 per common share. In 1934 net income was $942,000, which was 3.57 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to $2.53 per common share. In 1933 the company earned $145,000, against loss of $424,000 in 1932.

On Jan. 1, 1936, E. C. Faustmann, president, said that more Royal typewriters were sold in 1935 than in any other year. He also said that the factory was running at capacity, with many departments operating both day and night.

On Dec. 31, 1935, current assets, including cash of $1,155,000, totaled $6,837,000 and current liabilities were $893,000. Funded debt was $800,000; since the close of the year $300,000 of bonds were retired.

On Dec. 17, 1935, a dividend of $3.50 a share was paid on the 37,697 shares of 7 per cent $100 par preferred, the first since Jan. 18, 1932. Arrears were $24.50 a share. There are 268,618 shares of no par common outstanding. The preferred is not callable.

Lost—A Stock Certificate.

Investors' Guide: We have a subscriber for our preferred stock who claims to have lost a thousand dollar stock certificate. Will you please let us know the usual procedure in instances of this kind?—T. S. J.

Answer: The usual procedure in issuing duplicate stock certificates, according to one of the leading transfer agents of the middle west, is to put the transfer agent on record as to the loss. Then a wait of six months elapses and, if the missing stock certificate is not found, the stockholder makes out an affidavit as to the loss.

Before a new stock certificate will be issued, however, the stockholder ordinarily must obtain bond from a reliable surety company protecting all transfer agents, registrars and the issuing corporation from loss [in the event the stock should find its way into the hands of a bona fide holder for value] of at least twice the current market price of the stock.

TRADE IN GRAINS GOES SMOOTHLY ON NEW HOURS

Wheat Prices Firmer as Selling Shrinks.

The change in trading hours on the Chicago Board of Trade to 9:30 a. m. to 1:15 p. m. eastern standard time, which became effective yesterday, failed to create confusion in the grain trade. The Kansas City and St. Louis markets synchronized their sessions with Chicago, while Minneapolis, Duluth, and Winnipeg opened and closed one hour later than the local market. Trading in northwestern markets came to a practical standstill after Chicago closed, and there were few price changes during the last hour of their sessions.

The wheat market developed a much better undertone yesterday, with a marked letup in the pressure from houses with eastern connections.

May Wheat Leads Advance.

Short covering and a somewhat better demand for cash wheat resulted in the May delivery leading the advance and gaining nearly 1 cent for the day. The new crop months were up fractionaly.

Closing prices on the May delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Wed.	Week Ago.
Wheat	$ .98⅝	$ .97⅞	$1.00⅝
Corn	.60⅜	.60⅛	.60⅝
Oats	.25⅝	.26⅛	.27⅞
Rye	.55⅝	.55⅝	.56⅝

Fluctuations in the corn market were confined to small fractions, with the close showing little change from Wednesday.

May and September oats dropped to new lows for the season yesterday as the result of further liquidation by holders of future contracts, while the July option equaled the low mark which had been established Wednesday. Cash interests bought May and sold July oats persistently to change over hedges.

New Hours for Cotton, Stocks.

Trading hours in cotton and securities on the Chicago Board of Trade, effective today, will be from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., under an emergency ruling made yesterday at a special meeting of directors. The new schedule conforms to the market sessions on the New York Stock exchange and the New York Cotton exchange. Trading will end at noon on Saturdays.

Yesterday's action does not affect the hours of trading in grain and provisions. The exchange yesterday resumed the same schedule for these commodities that was in effect prior to March 1, when Chicago went on eastern standard time. Trading in grains and provisions now opens at 9:30 a. m. and closes at 1:15 p. m. after a three weeks' trial of opening and closing an hour later.

PRODUCE - MARKETS

Demand for fresh eggs was somewhat less active yesterday and prices on graded lots declined ½c per doz. Arrivals were 17,967 cases. Butter was unchanged to ¼c per lb lower. Receipts aggregated 10,712 tubs. Live springs, broilers, and fryers were ½c per lb higher and other poultry sold at unchanged prices. Receipts were 21 trucks. Western potatoes were steady and other kinds easier. Receipts were reported at 122 cars with 260 cars on team track.

Re ROBERT SEDDON DECEASED

PURSUANT to an order of the Court of Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster Preston District dated the 29th day of October 1935 and made in THE MATTER of the Estate of Robert Seddon deceased [late of 6, Stanley Road, Ellesmere Port in the County of Chester, who died on the 2nd day of November 1933] and in an action by Alice Butler [widow] and William Seddon against Evangeline McNevin [married woman] [1935. S. No. 40.] whereby the following inquiry was directed viz:

AN INQUIRY whether Agnes Bruns [a niece of the Intestate and a daughter of his deceased sister Elizabeth Ellen Whitfield] is now living or dead and if dead when she died and if she died after the death of the Intestate who are her Personal Representatives and if she died before the Intestate whether she left any issue and if so what issue living at the death of the Intestate and if any such issue are now dead who are their personal representatives.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons claiming to be entitled under the said inquiry are by themselves or by their Solicitors on or before the 9th day of June 1936 to come in and prove their claims at the Chambers of the Registrar of the Preston District of the said Court situate at No. 10 Winckley Street Preston in the County of Lancaster and to enter their names and addresses and the particulars of their claims in the book kept there for that purpose or in default thereof they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the said Order. Wednesday the 17th day of June 1936 at 11:30 o'clock in the forenoon at the said Chambers is appointed for hearing and adjudicating upon the claims.

A claimant not residing in England or Wales must send with particulars of his claim the name and address of a person in England or Wales to whom notices to the claimant can be sent.

DATED this 6th day of March, 1936.
JOHN M. WROTHINGTON, Registrar.

NOTE: The said Agnes Bruns [nee Agnes Whitfield] was one of the three children of the late Elizabeth Ellen and Richard Whitfield and was born at St. Helens in the County of Lancaster. The said Agnes Bruns sailed from Liverpool England in 1890 and went to Ottawa Canada, where she was married to Christ Bruns in 1892 or 1893. Later she and her husband moved to Chicago, Illinois, U. S. A. where her mother the said Elizabeth Ellen Whitfield joined them in 1897.
Maurice Neville, of 390, Lytham Road, Blackpool, Solicitor for the Plaintiffs.

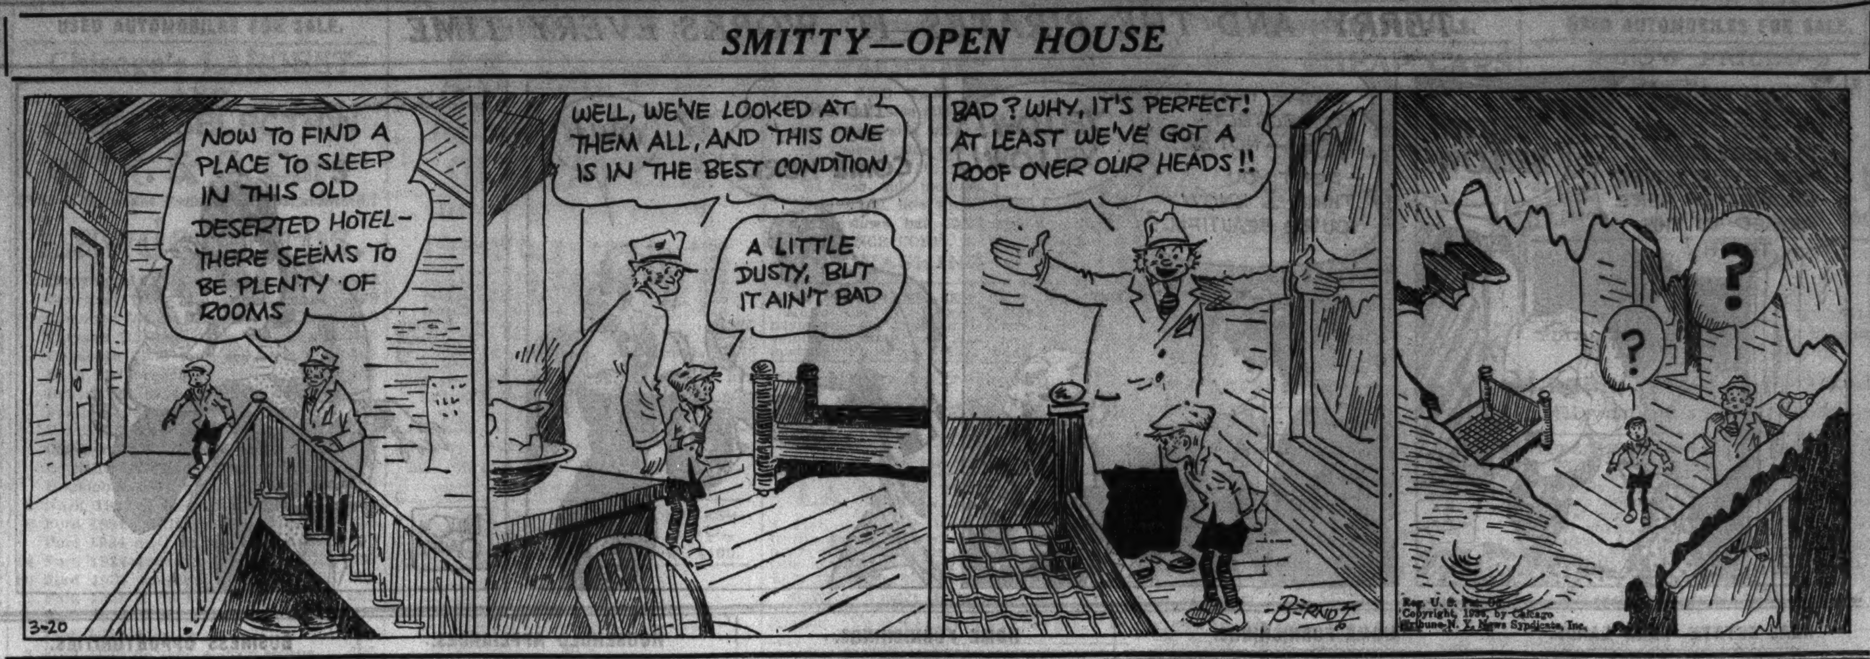
SMITTY—OPEN HOUSE



NOW TO FIND A PLACE TO SLEEP IN THIS OLD DESERTED HOTEL—THERE SEEMS TO BE PLENTY OF ROOMS
WELL, WE'VE LOOKED AT THEM ALL, AND THIS ONE IS IN THE BEST CONDITION
A LITTLE DUSTY, BUT IT AIN'T BAD
BAD? WHY, IT'S PERFECT! AT LEAST WE'VE GOT A ROOF OVER OUR HEADS!!

NOW
A Low Cost
Auto
Financing Plan

Why make a good deal on a car, new or used, only to be penalized by high financing charges?

We have broken down the barriers of tradition and have ushered in a new era of sensible rates for cars bought on time payments. These new rates apply on used car sales, new car sales, or a loan on your present car.

No mystery charges, no extra fees. You simply make a reasonable down payment when you buy, and we finance the balance. Here are typical examples of the low cost under our plan:

Balance to be financed.	Total yearly charge.	Total amount of note.	12 monthly deposits.
$100	$12.08	$112.08	$ 9.34
200	19.00	219.00	18.25
300	23.04	323.04	26.92
400	29.00	429.00	35.75
500	35.08	535.08	44.59

Only Fire and Theft Insurance Required.
Buy It Through Your Own Broker and Include the Premium in the Loan.

YOUR CAR IS THE ONLY SECURITY REQUIRED. NO OTHER COLLATERAL—NO CO-SIGNERS. NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.

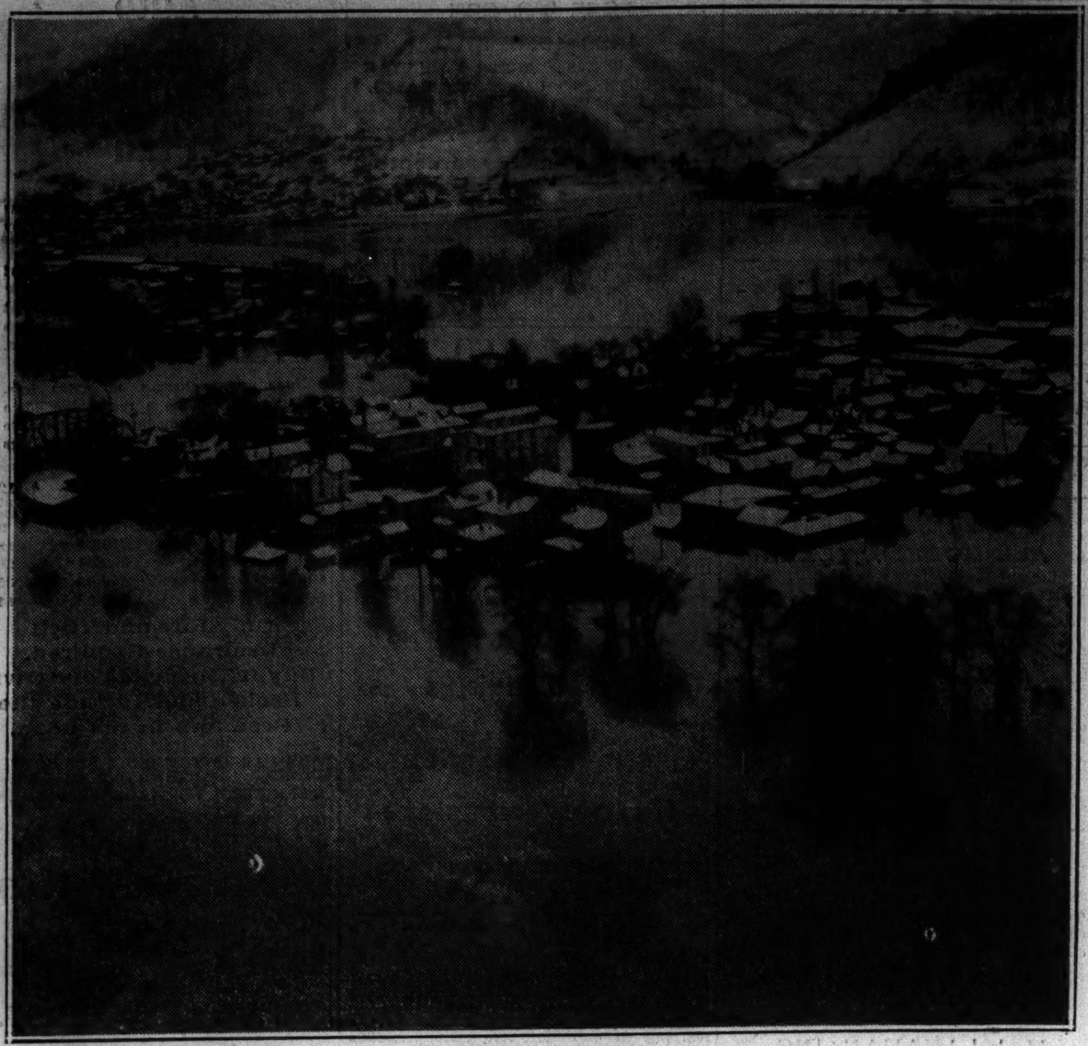
Floods in Four Great Rivers—150 Dead and 200,000 Homeless in East—Property Damage at 150 Million

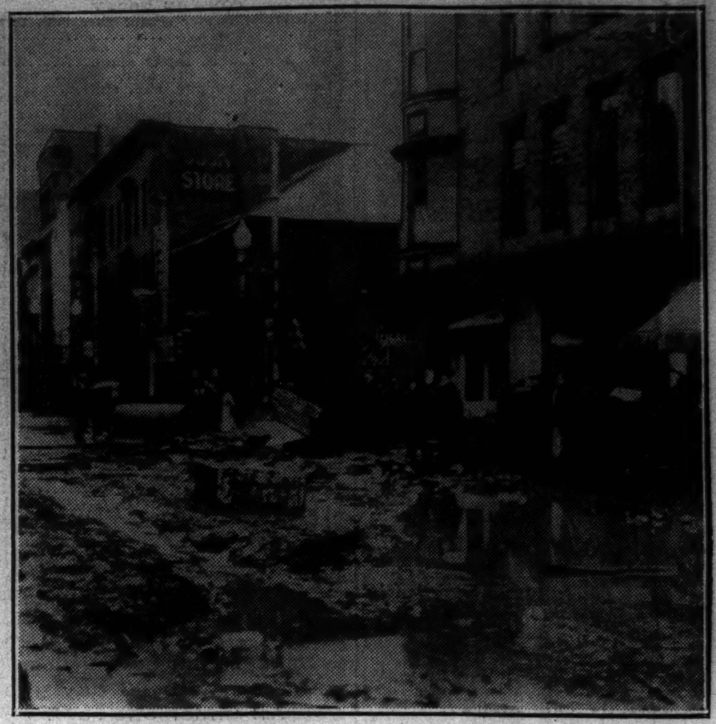


[Acme Photo.]

MANY TOWNS IN OHIO RIVER VALLEY OF WEST VIRGINIA FLOODED—Aerial view of New Martinsville, W. Va., as it appeared yesterday entirely under water. As the crest of the Ohio river advanced more towns were engulfed and their residents driven out. This is a typical scene along the Ohio.

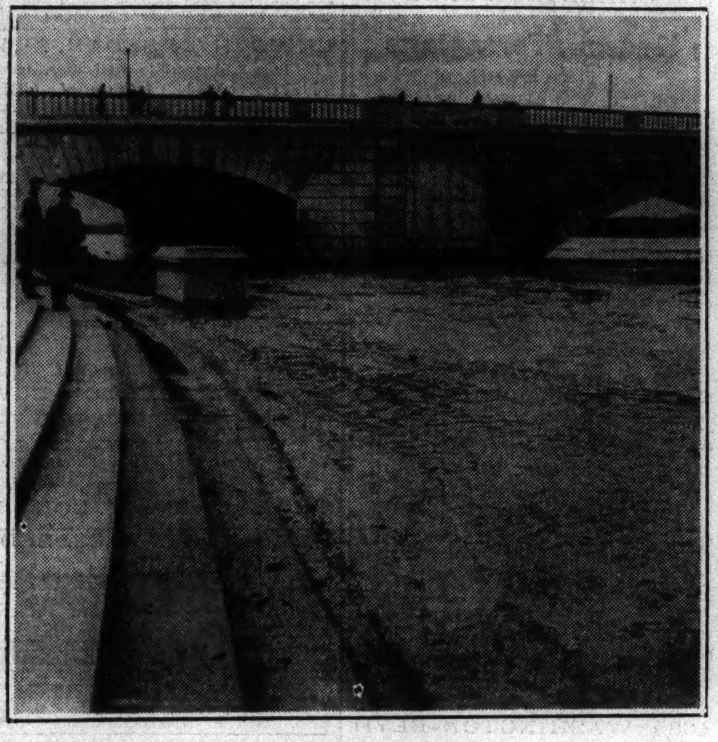
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

EXPLORE FLOODED BUSINESS SECTION OF PITTSBURGH AS WATERS RECEDE—Paddling small boats, Pittsburgh citizens yesterday began entering the downtown business district which had been under many feet of flood water. This picture, taken yesterday, shows the extent of the water and the resulting damage.



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MAIN STREET AFTER FLOOD—Cumberland, Md., residents inspecting damage to their city after flood waters receded yesterday as business men attempted to remove damaged goods and reopen their stores.



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

WATER CLIMBS LINCOLN MEMORIAL STEPS—The steps of the Lincoln memorial in Washington, D. C., yesterday with water covering roadway and some of steps. The memorial itself is about twenty steps higher.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

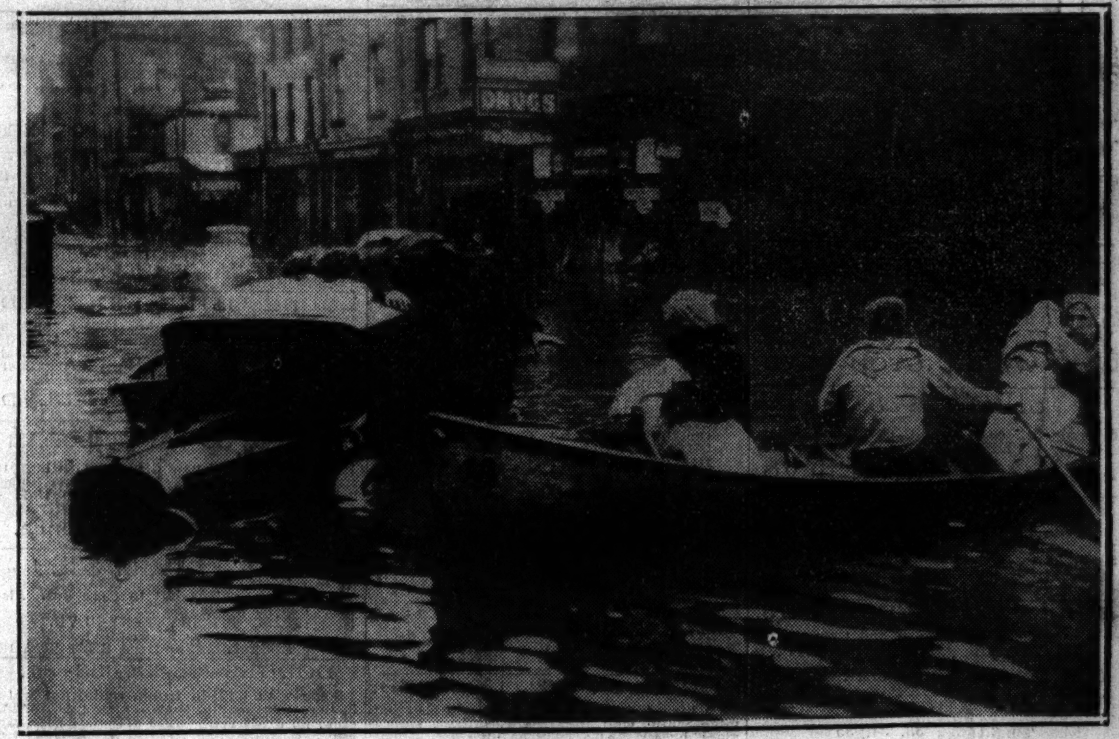
COAST GUARD TO RESCUE IN PENNSYLVANIA—After waiting hours while the flood took a heavy toll in lives, these refugees were rescued by a detachment of coast guardsmen who carried them to a bridge in Kingston, Pa., yesterday. Note the expression of the man on the left and the fellow with the pet dog.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

NATION'S CAPITAL THREATENED BY POTOMAC RIVER FLOOD WATERS—Official U. S. army air corps' picture of flood waters in the Georgetown section of Washington, D. C., yesterday after the Potomac had risen to high level. Sandbag dikes were thrown up in the capital to protect monuments and public buildings.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

AWAITING RESCUE IN KINGSTON, PA.—Flood scene yesterday in street of Kingston, Pa., across the Susquehanna river from Wilkes-Barre. Residents are in windows on second floors of homes awaiting rescue.



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MAROONED ON TOP OF HIS AUTOMOBILE—Rescue boat approaching a man stranded on top of his automobile in McKees Rock, Pa., south of Pittsburgh. He is reaching for the boat which already has picked up others stranded by the flood. Pennsylvania cities watched the water recede yesterday.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

RED CROSS AT WORK IN PENNSYLVANIA—Rescue workers distributing food and medical supplies to flood sufferers at Kingston, Pa. Yesterday the town had been flooded by the Susquehanna river for second time in ten days.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

BRIDGE GIVING WAY BEFORE RAGING WATERS OF THE POTOMAC—Graphic scene at historic Harpers Ferry, W. Va., yesterday as flood waters of the Potomac tore away steel bridge. The Potomac was at high level in Washington, D. C., with emergency workers building dikes to protect memorials.
